ISSUE OF SANITY RAISED

Judge Aldrich Finds No Precedent for Extradition of a Lunatic for Crime.

MAY OPEN THE CASE ANEW

Hearing to Await Proceedings Before Gov. Felker—Case May Reach United States Supreme Court.

Special to The New York Times.

LITTLETON, N. H., Sept. 16.—Harry K. Thaw won an important victory in the United States District Court here to-day when the matter of his writ of habeas corpus came up before Judge Edgar Aldrich.

The court not only sustained the application of Thaw for a suspension of the hearing on the writ, but also served notice that the writ could be held in abeyance to correct any injustice to Thaw resulting from the pending extradition proceedings. In addition, Judge Aldrich raised the question of Thaw's sanity and pointedly rebuked William Travers Jerome of counsel for New York State for his attitude toward Thaw and the latter's attorneys.

Counsel for Thaw to-night asserted that, as the result of the day's proceedings, they had laid the foundations for plans to carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary. When the Governor of New Hampshire passes on the matter of extradition to New York at the hearing to be held at Concord next Tuesday the findings, if adverse to Thaw, will be reviewed by the United States District Court, and, should a decision against him then be rendered, successive appeals will be taken until the case reaches the highest court in the land.

The hearing before Gov. Felker was put off until Tuesday by agreement of counsel.

Jerome Retires Defeated.

Mr. Jerome was mildly censured by the court when he attempted to have the writ dismissed on the ground that it was sued out not in good faith. Finally, Mr. Jerome, rebuked for referring to one of Thaw's attorneys as "loquacious," beat a complete retreat, and withdrew all of his objections to a suspension of the proceedings pending the hearing on extradition before Gov. Samuel D. Felker. He left to-night for New York City, satisfied that temporarily he had lost and that there was a long fight in prospect.

The importance of to-day's proceedings was best illustrated by Judge Aldrich's statement that he was not fully convinced as yet that New York State was within its rights in asking for Thaw's extradition. He raised the question, in a remarkable debate with Mr. Jerome, whether New York had the right to charge Thaw, adjudged insane, with the crime of conspiracy, and intimated that, unless very excellent reasons to the contrary were produced, the question of Thaw's sanity would play an important part in the court proceedings in New Hampshire.

The attitude taken by Judge Aldrich, which apparently placed Thaw in a position to wage a long legal battle, which could, if necessary, be carried to the United States Supreme Court, came as a hard blow to Mr. Jerome. He insisted that the question of sanity had nothing to do with the extradition of Thaw. Judge Aldrich in reply told him to produce ample precedents for such a contention and spoke of the possibility of Mr. Jerome desiring to file an amended answer to the claims of Thaw's counsel.

Thaw, who sat directly across the counsel table, not five feet from Mr. Jerome, smiled. Mr. Jerome caught his glance and turned away.

Thaw in Federal Custody.

As the case stands to-night, Thaw's counsel have obtained an indefinite suspension of the hearing on the habeas corpus writ, and it will not be reopened until a request is made by counsel for Thaw or for New York State. No step will be taken until after Gov. Felker has rendered his decision following the extradition hearing at Concord next Tuesday. In the meantime Thaw will remain in the joint custody of United States Marshal E. P. Nute and Sheriff Holman Drew of Colebrook, who were appointed keepers.

Thaw spent most of the day, when not in custody, at Thayer's Hotel here, with little restraint placed upon his actions. To-morrow morning probably he will be removed to Concord. Not only did Judge Aldrich rule in Thaw's favor on all legal points, but he also directed his keepers to treat him with consideration and permit him to consult freely with his counsel.

The people of Littleton turned out in great numbers to greet Thaw on his arrival here by train from Colebrook and fought for a chance to enter the little Federal courtroom. Not more than 200 gained admission. Two thousand waited outside during the eighty minutes consumed by the hearing. These gave a rousing cheer when the result was announced and Thaw appeared. He walked three blocks to the hotel, with the crowd surging after him.

There were perhaps a score of women in the courtroom, most of them, it was said, prominent in the social life of the town, and they seemed to take a deep interest in Thaw and in the proceedings. Thaw appeared in court fifteen minutes before the hour set, accompanied by his counsel—Moses Grossman, Louis Vorhaus, ex-Gov. Stone of Pennsylvania, Nathaniel E. Martin of Concord, George D. Morris, and other New Hampshire lawyers. Mr. Jerome, Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy, and Bernard Jacobs, the latter of New Hampshire, represented New York State.

Judge Aldrich, an elderly, white-haired man, entered the room at 11 o'clock. The spectators rose as the court crier announced the case of Harry K. Thaw.

The developments throughout the early arguments on the adjournment indicated the position which would be taken by the Judge, but, when the question of Thaw's sanity was raised,

FERRYBOAT HITS LINER.

14-Foot Hole in Former's Cabin—250 Passengers Badly Scared.

While the steamship Hamilton of the Old Dominion Line, in from Norfolk, was backing into her slip at the foot of Beach Street shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the ferryboat Philadelphia of the Pennsylvania Railroad was passing her bow, prepared to swing into one of the Pennsylvania slips at the foot of Desbrosses Street. There was sufficient room for passing, but the ferryboat had only passed the Hamilton by half its length when the tide carried her directly into the Hamilton's steel prow.

About 150 passengers on the ferryboat and 100 on the Hamilton were panic-stricken. The ferryboat's overhang gave way and the steel nose of the coastwise liner buried itself deep in the ferryboat's wood cabin. It ripped a hole about 14 feet wide and 10 feet high. The damage to the Philadelphia was all above the water line, however, and there was little real danger.

There was a grating of steel and wood when the two tugs, which were assisting in the landing of the Hamilton, pulled the liner's prow out of the Philadelphia's side. The ferryboat listed, and Capt Rose quickly steamed into the Desbrosses Street slip, a few blocks to the north, where the frightened passengers were safely landed. One woman who had been in the cabin which was demolished, had to be revived from a fainting spell.

Two steel plates in the Hamilton's bow, it was found, had been split in two by the impact. Five other plates were bent. A hole about a foot square was visible, but it was above the water line and no water leaked into the hold. The Hamilton was docked a half hour later and workmen immediately began to repair her in her slip. Officers of the company said that the damage would amount to $1,500. The ship would be ready for her scheduled sail to Norfolk at 3 o'clock this afternoon, it was said.

The ferryboat Philadelphia steamed to the Pennsylvania Company's repair docks at Hoboken under her own power, but will probably be out of commission for some time.

GORMAN WINS AND LOSES.

Beaten on Initiative in Maryland Convention, Defeats Suffrage.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—The principal contest in the Democratic State Convention here to-day was in the Committee on Platform, where ex-State Senator A. P. Gorman first won and then lost against United States Senator John Walter Smith.

Mr. Gorman favored the initiative, and referendum, and woman suffrage, while Senator Smith is opposed to them. Ex-Attorney General Straus worked with Mr. Gorman, and under their leadership the initiative and referendum was carried in the committee by the narrow margin of 14 to 13. Learning of this, the Smith forces brought about a reconsideration of the vote and managed to reverse the decision by 17 to 10.

Woman suffrage was defeated by the decisive vote of 21 to 6. Contrary to expectations, the Gorman forces did not carry the fight to the floor of the convention, and then the committee's platform was easily adopted.

No opposition materialized to Murray Vandiver for State Chairman, and he was elected without a contest. The Democratic candidates, nominated at the recent direct primaries, were ratified as the nominees of the convention.

State Senator Blair Lee of Montgomery County was unanimously accepted as the Democratic candidate in November for United States Senator to succeed Senator William P. Jackson, Republican, who was appointed to fill part of the unexpired term of the late Senator Rayner, who began his six-year term in 1911.

A constitutional amendment providing that only the buyer of a vote at elections should be punished was indorsed.

DIGGS PERJURY CASE FAILS.

Jury Acquits Him and C. B. Harris of Tampering with Witness.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—Maury I. Diggs, formerly State Architect, and Attorney Charles B. Harris of Sacramento were found not guilty, in the United States District Court to-day, of subornation of perjury in connection with the Diggs-Caminetti white slave cases. The jury was out an hour and thirty minutes.

To-day's acquittal closes the series of cases arising from the elopement from Sacramento, Cal., to Reno, Nev., of Maury I. Diggs, F. Drew Caminetti, Marsha Warrington, and Lola Norris, which resulted in the arrest and conviction of the two men for violation of the Mann White Slave act.

Charles B. Harris was the attorney in private matters of Diggs before the Reno escapade. After the arrest of Diggs and Caminetti, the Government alleged, Harris and Diggs attempted to induce Miss Warrington to give a version of the affair that would exonerate the two men.

Diggs and Caminetti will be sentenced to-day by Judge Van Fleet on the white slavery charge.

BOAT BEATEN, BUILDER SUED

Carl Schultz Wants $1,000 Because Racing Craft Lacked Speed.

Special to The New York Times.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Sept. 16.—Because the speed of the racing motor boat So Long II. failed to meet the expectations of Carl R. Schultz of New York, of carbonated water fame, Mr. Schultz was the plaintiff in a lawsuit which went to trial in the County Court here this afternoon. Fritz Hunt of Alexandria Bay, builder of the boat, was the defendant.

Schultz asked $1,000 to recompense him for the boat's alleged lack of speed. When the craft was slipped into the water two or three years ago she was expected to defeat the speeders owned by other members of the aristocratic Summer colony, but instead the So Long II. became a trailer, and the twenty-three miles, alleged to have been guaranteed per hour, dwindled to nineteen.

The suit is being tried before County Judge Reeves, himself a yachtsman of international repute along the great lakes. The So Long II. is well known to many persons who yearly visit the Thousand Islands.

FIND SULZER'S TRAIL AS BIG BORROWER

Reilly Says He Lent $10,000 to Him Personally—Can't Get It Back.

PLANS FOR IMPEACHMENT

Judges Put First on Roll Call—Sulzer's Friends Fear Influence on Senators.

According to testimony given yesterday before the Assembly Board of Managers which is to conduct the trial of the impeachment proceedings against William Sulzer, which begins in the Senate Chamber of the Capitol to-morrow, Mr. Sulzer is in debt to the amount of $26,500 to Hugh J. Reilly of 149 Broadway, the railroad contractor, whose claims against the Cuban Government were handled by Mr. Sulzer when the latter was Chairman of the House Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Reilly gave the testimony himself. He said that he gave Mr. Sulzer $10,000 of the amount a few days after Mr. Sulzer was nominated for Governor. The Board of Managers tried hard to show that this was a campaign contribution from Mr. Reilly, and that Mr. Sulzer had made no report of it. Mr. Reilly, however, insisted that the money, with previous amounts making a total of $26,500, was simply a loan which he—Reilly—had been trying unsuccessfully to get back. Mr. Reilly said he has "kissed the money goodby."

At the trial of Mr. Sulzer, Mr. Reilly will be asked to explain why he did not take Mr. Sulzer's note for the $10,000. The lawyers for the Board of Managers think it strange that Mr. Reilly should loan this large sum of money to a Gubernatorial candidate and not take any security in return. They think it looks very much like a campaign contribution.

Mr. Reilly said yesterday, however, that he did not take Mr. Sulzer's note for the loan because he had had "experience with Sulzer before." Mr. Sulzer, he said, had told him that he was "hard up" and in debt, and that he needed the money to clear up certain matters. He said that on last Thursday, when Mr. Sulzer was in the city, he had called upon him and tried to get his money back, but that instead of getting it Mr. Sulzer had tried to borrow $40,000 or $50,000 more.

Mr. Reilly was called before the Board of Managers three times, and it is likely that he will be called before them at 37 Wall Street again to-day. Counsel for the Board of Managers would not make public Mr. Reilly's testimony, but Mr. Reilly himself had no hesitation in telling all about his relations with Mr. Sulzer. Mr. Sulzer, he thought, would be acquitted. He said frankly that he thought Mr. Sulzer had acted foolishly, and that his enemies had done no better.

Reilly Tells About the Loan.

Regarding the $10,000 loan to Mr. Sulzer Mr. Reilly said:

"Three or four days after his nomination in October last he came to me while I was at breakfast with my wife at the Prince George Hotel, and taking me aside told me that he had to have $10,000 at once. He promised to pay it back in February. He said he was hard up and in debt, and that he wanted to clear certain matters up.

"I went to my wife and said: 'What do you think? This fellow wants to borrow $10,000.' She told me not to give it to him, but I didn't take her advice, and that's where I made a mistake. Previous to that time and covering a considerable period I had given him $16,500. I have known the Governor for twenty-five years, and I was not unaccustomed to loaning him money."

Mr. Reilly was not positive whether he gave Mr. Sulzer the money in ten one-thousand-dollar bills or in five-hundred-dollar bills. The Board of Managers was much interested in this point because testimony was given before the Frawley Investigating Committee that Mr. Sulzer shortly after his election had paid to Harris & Fuller on his stock-trading account $10,000 in one-thousand-dollar bills. Mr. Reilly will be asked more particularly about this to-day.

When Mr Reilly was asked if he had loaned Mr. Sulzer the money on notes he said:

Repaid Before in "Driblets."

"Notes? I had had experience with his notes previously. He repaid me for previous loans in driblets, coming to me at different times with $1,000 worth of stock. I gave him the $10,000 with only his word for security. He told me that claims were pressing him and that he had to clear his skirts."

The Board of Managers questioned Mr. Reilly sharply. The contractor was positive that the money was not meant as a campaign contribution.

"I made no campaign contributions," he said. "The money was purely a personal transaction. I have threatened to sue him for its recovery."

Mr. Reilly added that the only contribution he made to the campaign last Fall was $1,000, which he had given to George Van Valkenburg, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee of Greene County. Mr. Reilly said that he went to Mr. Sulzer in February last and asked him for the money, but that Mr. Sulzer told him he couldn't pay. Reilly said that last week A. E. Spriggs, who was once Mr. Sulzer's partner, told him over the telephone that Mr. Sulzer was in the city.

"I went down to Mr. Sulzer's office at 115 Broadway last Thursday and met Mr. Sulzer," continued Mr. Reilly. "I asked him to repay the loan, but he said he had only $11,000 in the bank, and that he needed it for the expenses of his trial. He then asked me to loan him some more. I asked him how much, and he replied, 'Forty or fifty thousand dollars.' He said he wanted it for his trial expenses."

Wouldn't Lend Him 40 Cents Now.

"Did you let him have it?" Mr. Reilly was asked.

"Why," he replied with emphasis, "I wouldn't let him have forty or fifty cents."

The Board of Managers wanted to know if Mr. Reilly had made campaign contributions in other years, and he said that he always had contributed, but that all he gave last year was the $1,000 in Greene County. He was asked if any of the money he had loaned Mr. Sulzer was in consideration of Mr. Sulzer's service while in Congress, and he replied it was not, that all his loans were personal transactions.

"I don't see how they are going to convict Mr. Sulzer," said Mr. Reilly, after he had testified before the Board of Managers. "They haven't got anything on him. If they do convict him he will be considered a martyr, and if they turn him loose he will be a great man, so there you are. I didn't vote for him. I voted for Roosevelt."

Mr. Reilly said that Mr. Sulzer did not own any stock in the Guatemala Improvement Company or any other concern in which A. E. Spriggs, who

BOMB SENT BY MAIL ENDANGERS GEN. OTIS

Dynamite Explodes When Package, Suspected by Japanese Boy, Is Examined.

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.—For the second time within three years an attempt on the life of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, owner of The Los Angeles Times, was made to-day, when a machine filled with a high explosive was sent through the post. This forenoon, when the General's mail was delivered at his home at Wilshire Boulevard and Parkview Avenue, it was opened by the Japanese servant, who stripped the paper wrapping from a peculiar box.

The package was so suspicious in appearance that the boy called Gen. Otis and showed it to him. He closely examined the box and turned it over to the police. Chief Sebastian decided to have Capt. Felts, the powder expert of the Police Department, examine it and determine whether it really contained dynamite or was merely a hoax. Capt. Felts opened the package from the side and pronounced the contents dynamite.

"There was sufficient dynamite in that box," said Capt. Felts, "to have killed half a regiment. The explosive was of a high power, of the kind generally described as 80 per cent. glycerine.

"It was undoubtedly controlled by some mechanism that would explode the dynamite had it been opened in the usual way. The top of the box was loose, and would readily have opened to the touch of the finger, sliding back in a groove. The under part of the lid contained a rough substance that would have passed over the head of a match or a fulminating cap and caused an explosion."

"I sent detectives with the infernal machine to a place in the river bed, and there they buried it and then set it off."

Detectives Burgess and Shy, who this afternoon exploded the dynamite, said it tore a great hole in the river bed.

The infernal machine was mailed last night in this city. The police have absolutely no clue to its sender, not even the box itself, as it was found the dynamite could not be removed and the box saved. Gen. Otis asserted that the motive was unmistakable.

"It is merely another attempt," he said, "by certain dynamite miscreants to accomplish what they failed to do three years ago, namely, to destroy life through a cowardly, stealthy, and deadly process. The inspiration of the attempt is plainly attributable to malice, caused and emphasized by the former failure.

"I have no fear that the leaders, cohorts, and adherents of lawless organized labor—I never oppose lawfully organized labor or law observing union labor—can subvert the spirit of industrial liberty, which has so strong a hold upon our city. Los Angeles is industrially free, and with the aid of her law-respecting and liberty-loving citizens under the blessing of God, she will remain free."

Chief of Police Sebastian, however, inclined to the theory that the bomb had been sent by some person violently opposed to Gen. Otis's newspaper policy with regard to the Huerto administration in Mexico.

Mexican residents of Los Angeles celebrated to-day the one hundred and third anniversary of Mexican independence, and partisan feeling ran high, according to Sebastian.

"It is possible," he said, "that some of the disgruntled Mexicans sought to kill the newspaper man, whom they believed to be supporting Huerta."

Gen. Otis, who was a close friend of former President Porfirio Diaz of Mexico, owns much land in the southern republic. He is largely interested in the California and Mexico Ranch and Cattle Company, which owns great tracts in Lower California and Sonora, where, two years ago, the Industrial Workers of the World joined the "direct action" element of the Mexicans in trying to set up a socialistic commonwealth.

Reports from Yuma, Ariz., to-day were to the effect that the insurrectos recently had declared their intention to "clean up" all the California and Mexico Ranch and Cattle Company's holdings. A few weeks ago there was an outbreak, caused, according to report, by the employment of Chinese in the places of Mexican laborers by ranchers in Lower California. Gen. Otis asserted at the time that there were no Chinese employed by him.

The first infernal machine sent to Gen. Otis was found at his residence a few hours after his newspaper plant had been destroyed by the McNamara conspirators at the cost of twenty-one lives.

The plant of The Los Angeles Times was totally destroyed by an explosion at 1 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 1, 1910. Within five minutes after the crash, twenty-one of the workmen lay dead, their bodies either mangled by falling wreckage or burned in the fire that followed the explosion.

The same night bombs were placed against the home of Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, proprietor and publisher of The Los Angeles Times, and of F. J. Zeehaandelaar, Secretary of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. Neither of the bombs exploded.

It was suspected at once that the outrages had been committed by supporters of the unions, first because Los Angeles had been the scene of one of the fiercest contests between labor and capital in the country, in which Gen. Otis had taken a determined part, and, secondly, because an investigation showed that the explosion was caused by methods similar to those used in scores of outrages in the five years' war between the National Erectors' Association and the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Gen. Otis had been an antagonist of the labor movement for twenty years before the explosion, and had always stood for the principle of employing any man he chose without regard to trade union rules. He had given all his energy to the fight for what he termed "industrial freedom against closed shop tyranny." The Los Angeles Times was dynamited not only because of the principle of its owners, but because its employes were non-union men.

On Dec. 1, 1911, James B. McNamara confessed that he had dynamited The Los Angeles Times Building, and his brother, John J. McNamara, Secretary-Treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, confessed that he had wrecked the plant of the Llewellyn Iron Works in that city on Dec. 25, 1910. James B. McNamara was sentenced to life imprisonment and John J. McNamara to fifteen years' imprisonment.

BLACK HAND BAND THREATENED KLAW

All Caught and Held in Sicily for Attempt to Extort $50,000 from Theatrical Man.

It was reported last night that a band of Black Handers who several months ago attempted to blackmail Marc Klaw, the theatrical manager, by threatening him with personal violence unless he turned over $50,000 to them, had been rounded up by the Italian police in Sicily, and that the Black Handers were being kept in custody by the authorities pending the receipt of affidavits from Mr. Klaw by the Italian Government.

Several months ago, according to the story, Mr. Klaw, whose home is in New Rochelle, received a threatening letter from the "Black Hand." The letter was postmarked Palermo, Sicily, and, it is said, ordered Mr. Klaw to pay over $50,000 to the agents of the Black Hand in this city under threats of personal violence.

Mr. Klaw went to the police, who immediately got in touch with the Italian Government, through the good offices of the Italian Consulate at Lafayette and Spring Streets. Following these representations, the Italian Government took an active interest in the case, and yesterday the Consul here heard from his Government by cable that the entire Black Hand band, which is alleged to have attempted to blackmail the theatrical manager, had been apprehended, and that its members were being held under arrest.

As a result of this cable the acting Italian Consul summoned Mr. Klaw to his office yesterday, and Mr. Klaw spent some time there making affidavits on the alleged attempt to extort $50,000 from him.

When an attempt was made to communicate with the theatrical manager at his home in Rochelle Park, New Rochelle, over the telephone, at 10 o'clock last night, word was brought back that Mr. Klaw had retired, and was not to be disturbed.

AFTER BARTHOLDT'S PLACE.

St. Louis Republicans Would Oust Him Because of Mulhall's Tales.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16.—Many delegations of Republicans from the Tenth Congressional District have called upon William T. Findly, Secretary of the State Committee, recently, and asked him to move into that district and make the race for the nomination for Congress against Richard Bartholdt next year.

Several Republican organizations have also been in communication with Findly in reference to the matter. Bartholdt, in the Mulhall revelations before Congress investigating committees, was shown to have had intimate relations with the National Association of Manufacturers. He barely escaped defeat in last Fall's election, and Republican leaders are said to have reached the conclusion that it would be wise to nominate a new candidate next year. Congressman Bartholdt has served ten consecutive terms in Washington.

Findly made the race for Congress in the Eleventh District several years ago, but was defeated by a narrow majority by Patrick F. Gill. He said to-day he had not determined definitely whether he would establish a residence in the Tenth District or remain in the Eleventh District and again make the race there.

GILLEN MAKES TWO RAIDS.

Descends First on Hotel Arthur and Then Invades Poolroom.

Inspector Gillen and a squad of men last night made two raids within a few minutes of each other, and arrested the alleged proprietors of both places. One was charged with maintaining a public nuisance and the other with running a gambling resort.

The first raid was on the Hotel Arthur, 252 West Thirty-eighth Street. The Inspector and his men rushed into the place armed with a warrant, and while the alleged proprietor, Samuel Krauss, 25 years old, was being questioned, other detectives went through the hotel. They were unable to turn out the guests, as all in the hotel were able to prove that they had lived there for at least several weeks past.

Leaving a policeman inside the front door Gillen went to 632 Eighth Avenue, where he descended into the basement and arrested Jack Martin, known in the Tenderloin as "Jocke" Martin. He charged that Martin, a negro, was running a gambling resort, although no gambling was going on among the patrons, who were playing pool. All were driven to the street. Martin gave his address as 350 West Forty-first Street. Magistrate Herbert issued the warrant for both raids.

JAPAN FEARS CHANG-HSUN.

Demands His Dismissal and Sends More Warships to Nanking.

TOKIO, Sept. 16.—A flotilla of torpedo boat destroyers was dispatched by the Admiralty to-day to reinforce the war vessels ordered to Nanking yesterday in anticipation of further anti-Japanese activities on the part of Gen. Chang-Hsun, Commander of the Chinese Government forces there.

The dismissal of Chang-Hsun is regarded by the Japanese Government as an indispensable condition for the settlement of the international incident brought about by the recent killing of Japanese subjects in the streets of Nanking.

U. S. AGENTS SEARCH SCHMIDT EVIDENCE

Expect New Clues in Materials at Counterfeiting Plant of Priest and "Dr." Muret.

LATTER NOW UNDER FIRE

Detectives Seek a Link Between Him and River Murder—Schmidt Admits All Charges.

Complaints were drawn yesterday by Capt. John J. Henry of the New York district of the United States Secret Service, charging Hans Schmidt, the priest who killed and dismembered Anna Aumuller, and his friend, Ernest Arthur Muret, a pseudo dentist of 301 St. Nicholas Avenue, with having possession of the means of making counterfeit money. The entire counterfeiting plant in the apartment at 516 West 134th Street was seized and carried off by the police and Secret Service men.

Muret insisted yesterday that he was an innocent man. He said that he knew nothing of the coining, except that the priest, whom he blamed for all his troubles, was a man of a great deal of mechanical skill, combined with criminal instincts that might readily lead him into making imitation money.

The pseudo dentist denied that there were any printing presses, engraving plates, or bond paper in the apartment in 134th Street when he visited it. The new prisoner was willing to admit, however, that he was interested in photography, and he visited the apartment often to do fine camera work.

Schmidt was willing to let Muret's plea of innocence stand. The priest in his cell yesterday told Father Evers that the guilt rested alone with him for the counterfeiting as well as for the murder of the girl.

Inspector Faurot, however, gave little attention to Muret's statement or Schmidt's indorsement of it. Word was received yesterday from Meriden, Conn., that Muret, under the name of George Miller, had bought a small press there on July 3 of this year and ordered it shipped by express to 516 West 134th Street. No type was purchased with the press. When Muret was arrested a letter was found in his pocket, addressed to Dr. George Muret by the Chelsea Press, notifying him that the price of ink rollers for the Excelsior press was $1.25.

The Secret Service agents were unable to learn yesterday whether any counterfeit bills had been finished and put into circulation. Chief William Flynn of the United States Secret Service, who was on a visit here from Washington yesterday, said that several ten and twenty dollar counterfeit "yellowbacks" had been discovered recently, and that it would be known to-day whether they could have come off the press in the apartment in 134th Street.

Thinks Two Are Related.

Inspector Faurot, who noted the strong resemblance in face and build between Schmidt and Muret at the time of Muret's arrest early yesterday morning, made a detailed comparison to-day of the features of the two men, and asserted confidently that the two men were cousins or brothers.

"I have questioned Muret," said Inspector Faurot, "at length regarding his remarkable resemblance to Father Schmidt. He would have me believe that this is a mere coincidence. I have devoted much of my life to the study of methods of identification. I went abroad last year to study identification by the facial features, as it is practiced by the police in France. This is the most perfect method in the world. It is as certain as the taking of finger prints.

"When I first saw Dr. Muret I observed that the resemblance was more than a coincidence. I have a firm belief, fixed deep in my mind, that these men are related. There is, unquestionably, some blood connection. I have a strong suspicion that Father Schmidt and Muret are brothers. I am convinced that it will be established very soon that they are closely related—cousins, at least."

A circumstance that supports this theory was the possession both by Schmidt and by Muret of business cards introducing "Dr. Moliere." In the course of the long questioning of Schmidt on the night of his arrest he told Inspector Faurot that his mother had been Gertrude Moliere.

Muret told the police that he was born in Chicago and educated in this country until he went to Berlin in 1903 to study medicine. Muret's German accent in speaking English, according to the police, is too strong to have been acquired by a short residence abroad. Little is known of Muret's past, but it was learned yesterday that he had said he was born in Hamburg. A few weeks ago Muret, who was suffering from earache, was treated by Dr. Alfred Michaelis of 5 West Ninety-first Street. His German accent was noticed by Mrs. Michaelis, and in reply to a question from her he said: "Yes, I was born in Hamburg."

Would Testify Against Schmidt.

Muret denied emphatically that he was related to Schmidt, and the priest, with equal vehemence, disclaimed kin with Muret. Muret denied that he had ever seen the murdered girl, Anna Aumuller. He said he believed that Schmidt had killed her in cold blood and that he would be pleased to testify against Schmidt, if called upon to express his opinion on the priest's sanity.

"Schmidt was one of the cleverest men I ever knew and one of the shrewdest," said Muret to Inspector Faurot.

Schmidt admitted yesterday to Father Evers, the Tombs chaplain, that he had had a part in setting up the counterfeiting plant. The prisoner nodded affirmatively.

"Yes," he said. "God gave me the plates. I acted under inspiration."

"Why did you do such a thing?"

"There are so many poor people in the world," replied Schmidt. "There are so many who are sick and in dire need. I was going to help them. I

CAUGHT BY BALLOON, DROPS

Boy, Whose Arm Got Tngled in Guy Rope, Falls 500 Feet.

WOODSTOCK, Conn., Sept. 16.—George Bernier, 13 years old, who was holding a guy rope of a balloon while it was being inflated preparatory to an ascension at a local fair this afternoon, was suddenly carried 500 feet in the air and then dropped to instant death in front of the grandstand, where 5,000 people were assembled.

In order to secure a better hold on the guy rope, the boy had wound the rope about his wrist several times. When the balloonist, Harold Gates of Newburyport, Mass., started his ascension, the boy did not have time to unwind the rope, and he was carried swiftly upward, dangling by one hand. Gates was not aware of the boy's predicament, until the rope had unwound itself, and the boy was dashed to death.

BRYAN IGNORES CRITICS.

Is Biggest Attraction at Staunton, Va.—Friends Little Pleased.

Special to The New York Times.

STAUNTON, Va., Sept. 16.—With the weather near the frost point to-night about 1,500 persons heard William Jennings Bryan deliver his lecture, "Signs of the Times," under the auspices of the Swarthmore Chautauqua Circuit. Bryan was the chief drawing card of the week, the rest of the features attracting little attention.

While the birthplace of Woodrow Wilson is as ardent a Bryan community as could be found, his admirers as a rule mildly criticise his appearance as the chief attraction of a tented amusement enterprise with miscellaneous performers.

Mr. Bryan, when asked to-night if he contemplated an answer to those who criticised his course, responded with an emphatic "No."

J. J. HILL 75 YEARS OLD.

Great Northern Veterans Give Him Roses in Glacier Park.

GLACIER PARK, Mon., Sept. 16.—James J. Hill, founder of the Great Northern Railway, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday here to-day. More than 300 members of the Veterans' Association of the Great Northern attended the first annual session of the organization.

Twenty-five years of service is required for membership. The veterans presented to Mr. Hill a huge bunch of American Beauty roses.

DR. HANLEY SURRENDERS.

Released on $300 Bail Pending Trial of "Spanking" Case.

Special to The New York Times.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 16.—Elijah A. Hanley, President of Franklin College, indicted for assault and battery on his father, surrendered to Sheriff Shea to-day. He was released on bond of $300 signed by a local business man.

The date for the hearing was not set.

HEINZE WINS $600,000 SUIT.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Reviewing a decision by the lower court, the Supreme Court of Massachusetts to-day gave F. Augustus Heinze, the Montana copper king, sixty days to redeem or file an intention to redeem securities valued at nearly $600,000, which he pledged five years ago with A. D. F. Adams for loans amounting to $300,000. Adams is now serving a prison sentence for rehypothecating these securities.

The court finds that, with the exception of W. A. Gove and Charles F. Gove of Boston, fifteen defendants who loaned Adams money on the Heinze stocks knew that the securities pledged by Adams were Heinze's property.

The case has been in the courts nearly four years.

MRS. CLARK NOT AFRAID.

Speaker's Wife Plans to Climb Ship's Ladder to Greet Daughter.

Mrs. Champ Clark, wife of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon on the 3:03 o'clock train from Washington. She was recognized by other passengers, among whom were several Senators and Congressmen. To these Mrs. Clark explained that she was on her way to New York to meet her daughter, Miss Genevieve Clark, who was returning from Europe.

Mrs. Clark said that she would go down the bay this morning on a revenue cutter to meet the vessel. She said she hoped to be able to board the ship before it reached its pier, and asserted that she was not afraid to climb the ladder. She said that once she had expressed a wish to make a flight in an aeroplane, and had only been dissuaded from doing so by the earnest entreaties of Mr. Clark.

FRANCE IS STORM-SWEPT.

Loss of Life and Much Damage to Property—Marseilles Flooded.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Thunderstorms of exceptional violence have swept over France, doing great damage.

At Marseilles the streets were transformed into torrents; hundreds of cellars were flooded, and quantities of merchandise on the quays were ruined or washed into the sea. All the traffic in the city was suspended for a time.

A boat containing a fishing party of six was capsized in Marseilles harbor and five persons were drowned.

At St. Agrève, in the Department of Ardèche, and other places houses were struck by lightning, with some loss of life.

LOOKS INTO WOMAN'S DEATH

State Attorney Investigates Death of ex-Gov. Warfield's Relative.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16.—State Attorney E. O. Weant of Carroll County is investigating the death of Miss Ella Warfield, a relative of ex-Gov. Edwin Warfield. Miss Warfield, who was 60 years old, died in the middle of the night on her farm near Sykesville about seven weeks ago.

It developed recently that an empty bottle, said to have contained poison, was found on her bed. Dr. Daniel B. Sprecher signed a certificate giving acute indigestion as the cause of death, and this was issued, Dr. Sprecher has since explained, at the suggestion of Coroner Ora Miller. Miller was a first cousin of the dead woman.

Mr. Weant, who has said that he would have the body exhumed if necessary, to-day refused to say anything further on that point, merely stating that his investigation would be continued until the case had been cleared up. He would not disclose the contents of a note found beside the body.

RIVAL REPEATERS FIGHT AUTO DUELS

Sirocco Gangsters and 'Hudson Dusters' Exchange Shots on Crowded Broadway.

THREE DROP IN FIRST FIGHT

FOUR CAUGHT IN ONE CAR

Had a List of 408 Names to be Voted On Where Hot Contests Waged.

NO SURPRISES AT THE POLLS

A Few Republicans Vote for Willcox and Kline, but Most Accept Fusion Choice.

Two big touring cars loaded with guerrillas from the Jack Sirocco Chinatown gang, the "Hudson Dusters," and the Rose gangs from the lower west side, and others from the San Juan Hill district, cruised through the city yesterday afternoon with typewritten lists of names they were to vote under in the most hotly contested fights in the primaries, first held here under the new law, the results of which are told below.

The two cars, after an encounter and gun-fight at Sixty-ninth Street and West End Avenue, clashed again in a revolver battle at Broadway and Sixty-sixth Street just after 5 o'clock, scattering in panic the throngs that poured from the Subway kiosks and theatres at that point.

It was there, in the Fifteenth Assembly District, that the primary fight raged hottest yesterday. James J. Hagan, the Tammany leader, was fighting for his political life and leadership against George F. Form, formerly Third Vice President of Hagan's Amsterdam Democratic Club at 131 Amsterdam Avenue.

Six months ago Hagan and Form had a falling out, and Form set up a rival club of his own, the Progressive Democratic Club, at 371 Amsterdam Avenue, taking along with him many of Hagan's men. When that happened the police and politicians of the district knew that on Primary Day there would be fighting a-plenty.

For several days the West Sixty-eighth Street Police Station had heard rumors that the Hagan faction would have the full strength of Jack Sirocco's Chinatown gang to count upon on the day of the primaries, and that the Form faction would meet them with all the brawn and gun strength of the "Hudson Dusters" of Greenwich Village, the Rose gang and the Eleventh Avenue gang. Accordingly, Capt. William Duggan made arrangements to get the reserves of the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-ninth, and Thirty-first Precincts at a few moments' notice if he needed them. He needed all of them yesterday.

Three Wounded in First Fight.

As foreshadowing the trouble, it was reported early that Jack Sirocco himself had been seen loitering near the Sherman Square Hotel at Seventy-first Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the same two cars that clashed in the fierce revolver battle on Broadway later in the day drove up to the polling place at 267 West Sixty-ninth Street, and in a moment there was a hot exchange of shots between them. From each car armed guerillas leaped to the street, and, hiding now behind this car, now behind that, pumped bullets at the gangsters opposed to them. Three of them, it was said in the neighborhood, fell to the street wounded. Then suddenly the firing ceased. The gangsters picked up their wounded friends, carried them into the cars, and drove away in opposite directions.

Neither the police nor the hospitals had any report of the shooting or of the injured. Later the police heard that two of the wounded gangsters had been called O'Donnell and Rohr, but they could get no further clue to them.

It was after this that the reserves of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station were called out. Ten of the police were stationed in hiding in a garage nearby. They rushed out in time to frighten away another automobile loaded with gangsters that seemed inclined to stop at the polling place. A little later, the police were called again to the polling place by a report that several men had rushed it and were trying to stuff the ballot boxes.

They arrested one man, who said he was Peter Shevlin of 200 West Eighty-third Street, and who, according to Alexander George, secretary for Form, was trying to vote under the name of Patrick Shoevlin, a registered voter, of 200 West Eighty-fourth Street. Shevlin was captured after a hot automobile chase by Form himself. Several others who were with him when he entered the polling place escaped.

Then Came Running Fight.

Throughout the day there was fighting at the various polling places in the district, and all of the 175 men whom Capt. Duggan called from the reserves of the four neighboring precincts, as well as the 75 patrolmen he had stationed in the polls, themselves, and the 40 men regularly on post, had their hands full all the time.

The "natives," as the residents of the districts called themselves, were afraid to come out and vote, they told the police, lest they be attacked by the foreign guerrillas known tobe watching and sweeping the neighborhood. An automobile trip through the section by police from the West Sixty-eighth Street Station failed to reassure the natives.

And then, at 5:15 o'clock in the afternoon, just as the crowds were pouring out into Broadway from two Subway kiosks at Sixty-sixth Street and Broadway and from the Lincoln Square Theatre near by, came the battle of the day.

A large black automobile containing six or eight men with caps drawn far down on their heads came whizzing south on Broadway. In front of it, at a slower gait, was another dark touring car, containing the chauffeur and two men, also southward bound. Suddenly the men in the rear car leaped to their feet, and poured a volley of revolver shots into the other car close ahead.

The three men in that car stopped it abruptly, leaped to their feet, and returned the fire. To passers-by it seemed that some ten or twelve shots had been fired.

The rear car kept on, whizzed past the other, and a little further south whizzed past Policeman Neary of the Traffic Squad, on post at Sixty-fifth Street. Several of its occupants jumped from the speeding car and disappeared, running west on Sixty-fifth and Sixty-fourth Streets.

Neary, who had seen the exchange of shots, commandeered a passing taxicab and ordered the chauffeur to overtake the touring car ahead. The chauffeur obeyed, driving close outside the big car and forcing it toward the curb. Then, revolver in hand, Neary ordered the four men now left in it to stop and get out. They obeyed.

Meanwhile Policeman Cocks, also on post at Sixty-fifth Street, had given chase to the other automobile, containing three men. He reached Sixty-sixth Street just in time to see it disappear, turning north on West End Avenue. From witnesses of the affray, however, he learned that the number of the escaped car was 21,492.

Neary, with his four prisoners in the other car, ordered the chauffeur to drive to the West Sixty-eighth Street Station, only two blocks from the scene of the shooting.

There a single 38 calibre Iver Johnson revolver, with none of its bullets discharged, was found on the floor of the car. The four men were locked up on charges of violating the Sullivan law. They said they were Frank Martin, a printer of 8 Kenmare Street; Frank Hart, a driver of 150 William Street; Vito Marchutta, a driver of 213 West Tenth Street, and Ike Sobel, chauffeur of the car, of 1 Willett Street. Sobel told the police the car belonged to Frank Bell, who could be reached by telephoning to 3851 Orchard. None of the prisoners would talk.

Had Lists of Names to Vote.

A search of the car revealed, stuffed beneath the carpet of its floor, a bundle of neatly typewritten slips, bound together with rubber bands. Each slip contained the name, address, floor of residence, and age and birthplace of some voter of the Eighth Assembly District, together with the election district in which he was supposedly registered. Here is a typical slip:

5. E. D.—Nicholas De Stefano, 175 Lafayette Street; 39 years old. Room 4. Born in Italy.

Altogether, there were over 400 of these slips, covering names in the First, Second, Third, Fourth, and Fifth Election Districts. In the First there were 25 names on Baxter Street from No. 40 to 102; 2 on Centre Street at No. 118, 3 on Worth Street from No. 123 to 155, 4 on Franklin Street from No. 1 to 12, 1 at 101 Walker Street, 7 on White Street from No 122 to 134, 4 on Mott Street from No. 57 to 73, 10 on Leonard Street from No. 130 to 166, 7 on Bayard Street from No. 82 to 104, and 22 on Mulberry Street from No. 75 to 89.

There were 85 names in the First Election District, 53 in the Second, 31 in the Third, 108 in the Fourth, 96 in the Fifth, and 35 in the Sixth. In each case the names were spread over almost every street in the district, with the same items of information concerning each. The slips looked like records from the files of some political organization interested in the interparty fight in this, the late "Big Tim" Sullivan's district. None of the slips recovered in the captured car referred to names in any other district.

The number of the captured touring car was 43682 N. Y., and this, the police said, was owned by Costabello Florio, of 1,771 Broadway, Brooklyn. Costabello could not be found last night. Sobel, however, said the car belonged to Frank Bell, who could be reached by telephoning to 3851 Orchard.

There Bell was found. He admitted at first that the car was his, but later explained that it was owned by him and his "partner," Florio. He didn't know to whom Florio had loaned it that day, he said, but took it for granted that it had been loaned to friends. He said he didn't know where Florio lived in Brooklyn, and supposed that those who had taken the car got it for nothing. He also said he did not know Jack Sirocco. Describing himself, he said he was a painter by trade, though not now in business, and lived at 173 Bowery.

Looking up the number of the automobile that escaped, as told to them by citizens, the police said Car No. 21492 New York was owned by the Lowe Motor Supply Company of 1,727 Broadway. That place, however, was closed for the day, and it was impossible to learn who had taken out the car or what had become of it. Till late in the night the police, warned by a special alarm, watched for the car throughout the city and kept a close tab on all hospitals for possible injuries to its occupants. They learned nothing further about it.

Bailed by Republican Leader March

Although the four prisoners taken from the captured automobile refused to tell anything about themselves and would send out to no one in search of bail, they had not been locked up ten minutes when several inquiries came to the station concerning them. One man, who asked for the names of the prisoners, said he was a "counsellor." The police refused to give him any information concerning them. The prisoners themselves, beyond asking in what part of the city they were and in what precinct, and whether they would be taken to the Night Court, seemed without interest what became of them. They will be taken into court this morning.

Late last night James E. March, Republican leader in the Third Assembly District, and William Long of Tammany Hall called at the West Sixty-eighth Street Station, and after getting a transcript of the charges against the four men went to the men's Night Court to bail them out.

In the Night Court March gave bail for the four men, giving his home at 182 Mulberry Street for security, the men being held in $500 each.

March and his companion then returned to the station house, and, presenting the bail papers signed by Magistrate Deuel, left with the four men.

The police believe the occupants of the captured car to have been members of the Jack Sirocco gang, who drove north to the Fifteenth Assembly District after carrying out the instructions of those who hired them as "repeaters" in the Eighth Assembly District to fulfill a contract for a similar job in the Fifteenth Assembly District. The men they clashed with in the two gun fights in this district, according to the police, were members of the three gangs friendly to Form—the "Hudson Dusters" from Greenwich Village, the Rose gang, and the Eleventh Avenue gang of the San Juan Hill district. Of these three gangs no one was arrested, despite a thoroughgoing police search in all their haunts.

There were other instances of violence at the polls, not only in the Fifteenth, but in other Assembly districts as well. Early in the afternoon a man who had just left Hagan's club at 131 Amsterdam Avenue was pounced upon by ten guerrillas at Sixty-fourth Street and Amsterdam Avenue and badly beaten. The police learned of it, but could gather no further particulars about the case. Three or four arrests were made in the district for illegal voting.

Charles B. Largy, Republican leader of the Twenty-eighth Assembly District, was arrested in the polling place at 2,212 Second Avenue last night. Lawrence Cioffi, who was contesting the Aldermanic designation of Frederick Thau, the organization nominee, ordered Largy's arrest on a charge of disorderly conduct. Cioffi said he had found a man who owns a saloon in the Bronx about to vote at the polling place, and that he had insisted that the man be sworn. When he went to the street to call a policeman, Cioffi said, he learned that Largy had told the Bronx man to "beat it."

Magistrate Krotel in the Harlem Court dismissed the complaint against Largy on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Several men are said to have tried to stuff ballot boxes in the polling place at 213 Columbus Avenue, and word was sent to Form's headquarters. A gang of "strong-arm men" arrived in short order in an auto, and, pushing past two policemen at the door, started to "clean up shop." The leader of the intruders, said to be an ex-convict and all-round "bad man," was struck by a policeman and knocked to the floor. That ended the battle, his companions picking him up and escaping with him in their machine.

Max S. Grifenhagen, Register and candidate for Sheriff on the Fusion slate in Manhattan, said late last night:

"I heard the report this morning that an attempt would be made to write the name of my principal opponent in the Independence League column in place of my name, and I am keenly interested in the disclosure that more than 300 slips of paper containing what purports to be names of voters in some of the downtown districts have been recovered by the police. I shall cause an investigation to be made to-day, with a view to learning, if possible, just what use was made of these slips. If there is any connection between the rumor of this morning and the appearance of these slips in the possession of gangsters, I think it will be a simple matter to determine this fact."

NO SURPRISES AT PRIMARIES

Hagan Easily Retains His Leadership—All Designees Are Nominated

The result of yesterday's primary election, the first to be held under the Blauvelt law which caused the open break between Sulzer and Tammany which was enacted over the Governor's veto, brought forth no surprises, for all the candidates designated by the six parties for municipal, borough, and county offices, Assemblymen and Aldermen, were nominated by the enrolled voters of the various parties. Even in the few contests for district leadership, the present leaders won over their opponents without trouble.

The early voting was very light, but it became heavier during the evening. The results were not received at the Board o Elections until early this morning.

In only two Assembly districts in Manhattan was there any trouble, the Fifteenth, where the contest for Tammany leadership was between James J. Hagan, the present leader, and George F. Form, and in the Twenty-eighth, where there was a bitter contest between the Republican Aldermanic candidates, Frederick Trau and Lawrence Cioffi.

In the Fifteenth District Hagan easily defeated Form, the estimated vote being: Hagan, 1,315, and Form, 346. Forty-four blank ballots were cast. Hagan has been the Tammany leader for twelve years.

Until six months ago Form was Vice Chairman of Hagan's club, the Amsterdam Democratic Club. When Form left Hagan and began a campaign of his own, both men said the disagreement was over personal matters. Form opened headquarters at the Progressive Democratic Club at 371 Amsterdam Avenue.

When Hagan learned that he had defeated his rival overwhelmingly, he said:

"Where in the world did he get his 346 votes?"

Mr. Form had this to say last night:

If the cleaner element had been permitted to have its choice, I would have been elected. This district has been flooded with 'floaters' and with strangers. They were not appearing in my support."

In the Twenty-eighth Assembly District the contest between Trau and Cioffi became so bitter that Cioffi caused the arrest of Charles B. Largy, the Republican leader, on the charge of disorderly conduct. Largy was arraigned in the Harlem Court and was discharged by Magistrate Krotel on the ground of insufficient evidence.

The only other interesting contest among the Republicans was in the Seventeenth Assembly District, where Abraham Gruber is leader. Willis B. Davis, who has fought Gruber before, tried unsuccessfully again yesterday to get the leadership from him. There was some excitement early in the afternoon, but interest died out when it became apparent that Gruber was sweeping the district. When the polls closed at 9 o'clock the result showed that Gruber had received 1,005 votes, against 199 for Davis.

The Republicans took special interest in the result in the Thirty-first Assembly District. There Leader John J. Lyons had sent out postal cards to all enrolled Republicans, asking them to name their choice as between Mayor Gaynor and John Purroy Mitchel. The result showed an overwhelming sentiment in favor of Mayor Gaynor, but when he died Lyons went back into the Republican fold and said that he would work for Mitchel.

The vote at the polls yesterday showed that the majority of Republicans in the district were for the Fusion ticket. Of the total vote, 480 was cast for Mitchel, 95 for the Progressive ticket, and 45 for the Independence League. This district cast 6,500 votes for the Progressive candidate for Governor last year.

In the Twenty-sixth District there was a Republican contest between Charles Sanders and Samuel Krulewitch, the present leader. Krulewitch got 658 votes to 191 cast for Sanders.

In the Third Assembly District Jamse E. March, the present Republican leader, easily won by 370 to 60 over J. B. J. Rinehart.

It was explained at the Progressive headquarters last night that their light vote throughout the city was due to the small enrollment of the Bull Moose forces.

In some of the Republican primaries a few votes were cast for William R. Willcox and Ardolph L. Kline for nomination as Mayor, but the majority voted the regular ticket.

Tammany took little interest in the primaries yesterday, apparently, for Tammany Hall closed its doors shortly after 8 o'clock last night and everybody went home.

Local Fights in Kings.

In Brooklyn the primaries produced no surprises, so far as the general result went. The vote was light and all the candidates designated by the various parties were nominated without opposition. The Democrats apparently voted solidly for Edward E. McCall for Mayor, hardly any votes being cast for anybody else. At the Republican primaries a few Republicans voted for William R. Willcox, former Public Service Commissioner, in place of John Purroy Mitchel, for Mayor.

At the eleventh hour an attempt was made by friends of Frank Mann, Deputy Tenement House Commissioner, who is the regular candidate of the Democrats for Borough President, to have the Progressives write in his name on the ballots in place of that of the Fusion nominee, Borough President Lewis H. Pounds. The attempt met with indifferent success, however, the Progressives remaining true to Pounds.

There were contests in only five districts—four Democrats and one Republican—and as the issues there were purely local they did not affect the general result. The hottest fight was among the Democrats in the Fifteenth Assembly District, which takes in Greenpoint. There John W. Carpenter won over James A. McQuade by 666 votes.

In the Fourth Assembly District John J. Bridges, the present Democrat leader, had no trouble in retaining his leadership. In the Sixteenth District Frederick Lundy, former Register, defeated the two candidates arrayed against him, John J. Donohue and Joseph Byrne. In the Twenty-third James P. Monahan retained his leadership despite the fight put up by James M. Power.

The only Republican contest for District leader was waged in the Fourth Assembly District between Alfred T. Hobley, the present leader, and John C. White. Hobley won easily.

A feature of the Brooklyn primaries was the light vote polled by the Progressives. In several election districts the Bull Moose polled only one vote, apparently the election district Captain alone went to the polls.

At the Democratic primaries in Queens yesterday the voting was very heavy. Out of a Democratic enrollment of 30,000, more than 14,000 votes were cast. The large vote was taken as a compliment to Borough President Maurice E. Connolly, who is running on the Democratic ticket for re-election.

PROGRESSIVES LOSE VOTES.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Sept. 16.—The Progressives did not come out very strong in the Albany County primaries to-day. The vote last Fall was 3,045, while that of to-day was less than 150.

The only serious strife at the primaries was between the followers of Daniel J. Dugan, Democratic State Committeeman, and Patrick E. McCabe, ex-State Committeeman and clerk of the State Senate, for County Committeeman. The contest in many wards and towns was very bitter and to-night both Dugan and McCabe are claiming a victory.

BUFFALO, Sept. 16.—The primaries here to-day resulted in the defeat of George J. Meyer, the regular Democratic candidate for Mayor, by Mayor Louis P. Fuhrmann, who made an independent contest. William J. Conners, former State Chairman, lined up with Mr. Fuhrmann against Fitzpatrick, the County Chairman.

SCHMIDT AMAZES HIS NATIVE TOWN

Visit to Aschaffenburg Shows People Thinking and Talking of Little Else.

CONSIDERED RESPONSIBLE

Under Serious Charges When He Fled — Trafficked In Forged Documents as Teacher.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ASCHAFFENBURG, Sept. 16.—This little mediaeval Roman Catholic city of 30,000 souls is plunged into a state of wholly unwonted excitement through the unwelcome fame suddenly brought upon it by the arrest of "Chaplain Johann Schmidt," as he is known here, on the charge of a brutal murder in his adopted country. The murderer's parents, three brothers, and one sister are highly respected middle-class people living in neighboring towns and villages.

The special correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES, who has come here to glean something of the priest's early life, finds men, women, and children of Schmidt's native town talking and thinking of little else.

When Schmidt was born in 1881 his father was conductor on the Hessian State railways. Between the years 1889-91 young Schmidt attended public schools in the suburb of Damm, outside Aschaffenburg. THE TIMES correspondent had an opportunity today to interview his boyhood teacher. Schmidt, he said, was an intelligent and ambitious lad of whom his teachers were fond. Both his application and conduct were faultless. Asked if he thought that Schmidt was mentally responsible, the teacher answered emphatically, "Yes."

After four years in the public schools Schmidt's father sent him to the Aschaffenburg Gymnasium, where he applied himself with conspicuous ardor. A few years later the father was transferred to Mayence, where the lad resumed his gymnasium studies.

Shortly before graduating, Schmidt for the first time strayed from the straight and narrow path he had hitherto trod, though nothing especially grave came to light. He himself wished to adopt a wordly occupation, but his parents, especially his mother, who is accustomed even now to visit church for prayer several times daily and goes to confession and communion every Sunday with unfailing regularity, influenced the son to enter the priesthood.

Led a Dissolute Life.

Schmidt's moral conduct as he grew older deteriorated perceptibly. He nevertheless matriculated at the Mayence seminary for priests, where he studied several years. It is common talk among his old frinds in Aschaffenburg that he led a notoriously dissolute life while at the seminary.

About the time Schmidt was ready to be ordained to the priesthood he hankered for the coveted title of "Doctor," and to this end he forged the required credentials. In 1905, at the age of 24, he was formally ordained and shortly afterward was made "Doctor." The priest's father, in the meantime having been pensioned, bought a little home in Schweinheim, near Aschaffenburg.

Young Schmidt never occupied a permanent parish position, but acted as substitute chaplain at various places. For a while he was connected with the English girls' seminary at Mayence, where he was instructor in Christian doctrine. He would have remained permanently in the service of this school had not reports of his forgeries become notorious. He was now accustomed to assist other corrupt young priests to acquire the title of "Doctor," receiving for his services cash rewards which he is believed to have squandered in riotous living. His trafficking in forged documents was known to only a few persons, but Schmidt failed to obtain the much desired good salaried and permanent position in the English seminary.

In 1907 he was confined several months at the home of his parents at Schweinheim with a serious illness. His friends wondered that he wore a full beard in those days, but he said that illness permitted him to grow a beard which could not be worn as a priest. When he had recovered, Schmidt frequently celebrated mass at Schweinheim and performed other priestly offices. Shortly afterward his superiors deprived him of his rights as a priest and he disappeared. Later he attempted to celebrate mass at Aschaffenburg, but the authorities of the diocese disavowed him.

Grave Charges When He Fled.

In 1909, the prosecuting authorities having learned of Schmidt's forgeries as well as certain moral misdemeanors, he decided on the advice of his father to emigrate to the United States. The circumstances under which their son was compelled to flee Germany turned his parents' hair gray. People hereabouts then lost sight of Schmidt entirely.

Not until a few weeks ago was anybody aware of his whereabouts. He had sent word that he hoped to revisit Germany this year. One report in circulation says he proclaimed his intention of remaining here, and a young niece living at Schweinheim is understood to have made arrangements to give the priest a home in her house, and even planned to go to Hamburg or Bremen and meet his steamer.

Schmidt's longing to return to Germany is now thought to be due to the hope at this safe distance of escaping detection of murder. Nothing whatever was known here of his relations with his victim. The fact that his parents recently came into a considerable inheritance is also thought to have had something to do with Schmidt's wish to return. One of his brothers is a junior railway official, another owns the railway station restaurant, the youngest is a tradesman, and his only sister married a groceryman.

ASCHAFFENBURG, Sept. 16.—The parents of the Rev. Johannes Schmidt, the confessed murderer of Anna Aumuller, say the young priest is hereditarily abnormal. Several members of the family are confined in asylums for the demented, and there have been four suicides in the family within the last five years

The letters sent home by the young priest are said by his relatives to be written in a confused and hazy style.

Local physicians consider that the murderer's perverted instincts were accentuated by forced study.

SENT SUICIDE WARNING.

Defevre Wrote Parents That He Intended to End His Life.

At their home at 315 West 120th Street late Monday evening, the parents of George D. Defevre received a letter from him telling them of his plan to take his life. They appealed to the family physician, Dr. T. W. Embley of 32 West Eighty-fourth Street, and in the early hours of yesterday morning he started for the young man's lodgings at 506 West 145th Street, picking up a patrolman on the way, but reaching the house too late. When they broke down the door of the room they found young Defevre lying dead on the bed, with a tube leading from the gas jet to his lips. Close beside him lay an empty bottle which had contained carbolic acid. He had been dead for several hours.

Those seeking to learn his motive were referred by his father and mother to the home of Mabel Gross of 163 West 145th Street, a young woman on whom he had been in the habit of calling. The letter which carried the suicide warning to the Defevres had been given by the young man to Mrs. Gross on Sunday night, and she had mailed it Monday morning. Mrs. Gross said yesterday that she had not known the contents of the letter, that young Defevre had seemed in the best of spirits, and that there had been nothing closer than friendship between her daughter and Defevre. He was only 20 years old.

wanted to better their condition. Half the money I was going to devote to the poor people of the United States and the other half to the poor people of Germany."

Schmidt then said that it was he, not Muret, who had posed as Dr. Emil Moliere. He explained to Father Evers that he had acted under inspiration in pretending to be a physician.

"There are so many poor and miserable people in the world," said Schmidt. "It would be better if fewer were born. My mission was to prevent children from being born to a life of misery."

Father Evers said yesterday that he still believed that Schmidt was not a priest, in spite of the evidence that he had been ordained in Germany and suspended from the priesthood.

Imposition Possible.

"Many instances have occurred in Germany and other European countries," said Father Evers, "of the impersonation of a priest after his death. Sometimes, when a priest has died in an obscure village, his credentials are stolen. The news of his death does not travel far, and the imposter succeeds with the dead man's credentials in obtaining a connection with a church. I think that something of this kind has occurred in this instance. I do not believe this man in the Tombs is the Hans Schmidt who was ordained a priest.

"I am going to send a photograph of this man to the parents of Hans Schmidt in Aschaffenburg, Germany. If they say it is a photograph of their son, then I will believe it. In the meantime I remain in doubt."

Schmidt has at different times given the first name of Hans, John, and Johannes. John Schmidt is signed on his marriage license, Johannes Schmidt is the name given him in the papers acquitting him of fraud on the ground of insanity in a court in Munich, and Hans Schmidt is the name he has signed to his letters and other papers while a priest in this city.

Dispatches from Aschaffenburg yesterday said that Schmidt's criminal career had begun in his early manhood when he resorted to forged certificates to get a degree. He was arrested for that offense, but discharged as weak-minded and irresponsible. Schmidt's propensity to forge led Inspector Faurot to believe that the plan of equipping a counterfeiting plant might have originated with him.

When the warrants charging the priest and Muret with counterfeiting are issued to-day by United States Commissioner Hitchcock, they will be served on the Warden of the Tombs, who has the custody of the two men. Muret is at present held only on the charge of violating the Sullivan law in keeping a revolver on his premises.

Mass of Evidence Found.

Capt. Henry of the Secret Service said yesterday that four detectives were on the case for the Government, and that they had seized a large quantity of evidence in trunks and bureau drawers in the flat of Muret and Schmidt on West 134th Street. Capt. Henry himself will go over this to-day. He said last night that a great deal of evidence of importance had been found, and that the Government owed the New York police a debt of gratitude for raiding the plant. Both Capt. Henry and Inspector Faurot refused to say yesterday whether it was suspected that Schmidt and Muret had confederates, or whether additional arrests were expected.

A representative of the Grand Paper Company of Dalton, Mass., called yesterday at Police Headquarters and saw pieces of the paper on which the counterfeit bills were printed in the apartment on 134th Street. He said the paper was "Strathmore parchment," manufactured in 1911, as the trademark showed, and distributed in this city by J. Linde & Co., in Beekman Street.

In the Harlem flat Inspector Faurot found a score of negatives, showing that the counterfeiters had taken photographs of $5, $10, and $20 bills. The Inspector, who is an expert photographer himself, said that the camera was of unusual workmanship and was capable of taking a picture of United States currency without losing the slightest detail. On the other hand, he said that the engraving tools were of the type which an amateur, rather than an expert engraver, would work with.

According to Chief of the Secret Service William Flynn, Schmidt and Muret resemble and nearly answer the description of two men who have recently passed counterfeit $20 bills in Boston and New Haven and smaller places in the vicinity of those two cities. The Government agents have in their possession thirty-five of the bills passed in Massachusetts and Connecticut. In the majority of cases the counterfeits were given to the bartenders of saloons.

"The bills of which I speak," said Chief Flynn, "were made by a photo-mechanical process. Two pieces of paper, printed separately, were pasted together after silk threads had been distributed between them. The work was not done entirely on the printing press. The bills were finished in pen and ink. The job was deftly done, but nevertheless the bills were not the kind that would deceive persons expert in handling currency. In the cases of bartenders and other uninitiated in detecting bad paper, they passed muster easily. Only men who have acquired the 'feel for bogus paper would detect these counterfeits.

"These bills may have been run off in the Harlem flat. That question will be determined finally to-morrow."

Capt. Henry said yesterday that the indications were that no counterfeits had been completed in the Harlem flat. Creditors of Muret said yesterday that the pseudo dentist had appeared to be short of funds for some time.

Muret's Telephone Calls.

The report of Muret's arrest for counterfeiting was of great interest to Dr. Alfred Michaelis of 5 West Ninety-first Street. Muret owed a bill to Dr. Michaelis for treating him for ear trouble. This ran on for several weeks. About two weeks ago, however, Muret began to ring up Dr. Michaelis and to promise payment in a day or two.

"I have been embarrassed temporarily," said Muret over the telephone to Dr. Michaelis, "but I am expecting to get a good deal of money in very soon now, and you won't be kept waiting more than a day or two for your money."

The call sheet at the Alpha, 301 St. Nicholas Avenue, where Muret carried on his illegal dental practice, showed that he had telephoned several times to 1582 Morningside, the number of the rectory of St. Joseph's Church on West 125th Street, to which Hans Schmidt was attached as a curate. The last time Muret called up Schmidt on this telephone was Sept. 6, the day when the finding of the upper part of the torso of a woman in the Hudson River was published for the first time. He had not used that telephone before in calling up Schmidt since Aug. 1.

The detectives believe this goes strongly to show that Muret knew of the murder and dismemberment of the girl, and that he telephoned to warn Schmidt of his danger. It throws light also, according to the detectives, on the hurried destruction by fire of most of the half-completed bills, which was evidently the work of a man who scented the danger that the police might soon be on his trail.

Inspector Faurot said that he would be in a better position this afternoon to say whether Muret had a part in killing or performing a criminal operation on Anna Aumuller.

"A twelve-year-old boy," said Inspector Faurot, "saw a woman and a tall man walk out of the apartment at 68 Bradhurst Avenue, where Schmidt murdered the woman. The boy said the man was taller than Schmidt. To-day he will be taken to the Tombs to see Muret, who is several inches taller than Schmidt. The boy will also be asked whether Bertha Zech, the servant of Dr. Muret, was the woman he saw visiting the apartment."

A number of obstetrical instruments and books on gynecology and other medical subjects not connected with dentistry, were found by the police yesterday in Muret's dental office. Secret Service Agents P. A. Rubano and Morris Manasse, who searched Muret's effects yesterday, found a postal card dated May 23 bearing a picture of Napoleon with the printed inscription: "Impossible is a word only found in a fool's dictionary."

On the other side in ink was the message: "Let us hope that our children may have rich parents." It was signed "Hans."

Emerick Becha, the janitor of the West 134th Street apartment, said that Muret entertained woman in his office at late hours, and that on one occasion a young girl, who was having dental work done, ran out of Muret's office and said that he had put his arms around her.

Assistant District Attorney Murphy was interested yesterday to learn that the call sheet at the apartment house showed that on Aug. 11, Muret had telephoned to Franklin 2304, the District Attorney's office. An unsuccessful effort was made yesterday to learn what business the pseudo-dentist had in the Criminal Court building.

Defines Schmidt's Insanity.

Alphonse G. Koelble of 29 Broadway, counsel for Schmidt, said yesterday that the specific form of insanity his client was suffering from was dementia praecox.

"We have no money to employ alienists," said Mr. Koelble, "but I am certain that any competent commission will agree upon Schmidt's mental disease. My talk with him yesterday convinced me that this was the case. That was before I knew his history. After learning of his acquittal in Germany on the ground of insanity, and after reading that he had at various times been considered weak minded by the church authorities, I do not see how any one can contend that he is in his right mind.

"I tried to learn from Schmidt what he had done during the three months from the time he left St. Boniface's till he received a position at St. Joseph's. He said he could not remember, but thought he was over in New Jersey most of the time. I got a sharp denial when I asked him if the report was true that he had been a real estate speculator."

Muret was held in $5,000 bail in the Harlem Court when he was arraigned before Magistrate Krotel for violating the Sullivan law. The bail was not furnished, and if it had been, Muret would have been immediately rearrested by Secret Service men on the charge of counterfeiting. Muret, who had been studying law with a correspondence school in Chicago, showed in answering questions that he knew what was best for a man in his situation.

"Muret knew just what questions to answer and what not to answer," said Inspector Faurot yesterday. "I asked him a number of questions which almost any other prisoner would have answered. He was remarkably shifty for a correspondence school lawyer."

Warden Fallon of the Tombs yesterday ordered that Thomas J. Messmer, the wife-murderer, who has been Schmidt's cellmate, should be transferred to another cell, and that Schmidt, who is regarded as dangerous, should remain by himself. Messmer told the authorities yesterday morning that he had spent the night in terror of his life. He became frightened Monday night at Schmidt's answer to the question why he had killed Anna Aumuller.

"I killed her," said Schmidt, "because I loved her."

Then he caught Messmer by the hands and added: "I love you, too."

Messmer freed himself and jumped to the far end of the cell, drawing the conclusion from these words that his own life was in danger. During the night he begged guards to remain within call if Schmidt became violent.

On the recommendation of Inspector Faurot, Commissioner Waldo late yesterday afternoon conferred honorable mentions and commendations on four detectives and a traffic patrolman who were active in clearing up the murder mystery. These were Detectives James O'Neil, Frank L. Cassassa, Richard M. McKenna, and John J. O'Connell, and Policeman Thomas J. Horgan of Traffic Squad A.

REFUSED TO MEET PRIEST.

Boyhood Friend Writes of His Efforts to See Schmidt.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—The Rev. F. Markert of the Society of the Divine Word at Techny, Ill., has sent a letter to the Chicago newspapers in which he says:

"The writer is a friend of Schmidt since early boyhood. Even as a boy he showed unbounded zeal to study, and, contrary to his parents' wishes, carried it to excess. It is literally true that for years he studied ceaselessly from early morn till late at night. Later he was one of the foremost scholars of his class at the classical course of Mayence. Even then he displayed certain eccentricities which puzzled his intimates and caused scruples on the part of those in charge about receiving him into a theological seminary.

"However, once he was accepted, he seemed to maintain his equilibrium. Later he left and studied philosophy at Munich, attaining to the doctorate. Then, contrary to the expectation of all who knew him, he resumed his theological studies, and in 1904 was ordained to the priesthood.

"He filled several positions as chaplain, his overzeal causing a protracted illness, which finally necessitated his entering a sanitarium. In 1908 or 1909 he came to America. For some years he did not write to his parents, but only to his brothers and sisters, giving as a reason then that he feared he would cause his parents pain by writing.

"Three years ago the writer was requested while visiting Schmidt's parents to make inquiries concerning him. He was then at Trenton, N. J. He ignored my request to meet me in New York City. Later I sent him another card, in reply receiving June 28, 1910, a letter of which an excerpt follows: 'Both cards received. They were a pleasant reminder of your old friendship for me. Nevertheless, dear friend, would I ask you urgently not to write me again. My soul is still too sore to bear the wounds of happier times, recollection of which you awaken. My care of the near future must rather be to forget, lest I lose my reason entirely. When you receive this letter I will probably be aboard the Pacific express on my way Westward. Do not try to ascertain my address. My best wishes are with you. Accept best regards from your unhappy friend, J. S.'

"These facts show that he was undoubtedly in several respects not well. I am convinced that otherwise he could not be capable of such an ill deed. He comes from an excellent family. A cousin of his some time ago committed suicide while in a fit of melancholy due to brain disease."

ARGENTINE WARSHIP MAKES 22.56 KNOTS

Dreadnought Rivadavia, Built at Fore River, Sets a New Record for Battleships.

ENDURANCE TEST TO-DAY

United States Navy Officers Much Interested in Trial, but Deny Rumored Offer to Buy Ship.

ROCKLAND, Me., Sept. 16.—The flag of the Argentine Republic went fluttering up the foremast of that country's new super-dreadnought Rivadavia when she spurted the last mile of her five-mile standardization trial over the United States Government's measured mile course to-day at a rate of 22.567 knots an hour. This was the fastest mile of the five which enabled the "largest warship afloat" to meet her contract requirements of 22.50 knots an hour.

The great ship took four tuning-up runs over the course, and then, swinging around on to the line, surged over the first mile of the five at the rate of 22.551 knots an hour. Forcing her vast bulk against the tide on her second run the speed dropped to 22.486. But she was now getting into her stride, and on her third run she pushed her record up to 22.556, only to be set back by the tide on her next run to 22.388. On the homestretch the big warship found herself, and amid the acclaim of those on board she set her mark up to 22.567.

The average horse power developed was 40,000 with her present displacement of 27,666 tons.

Upon coming ashore, Admiral O. Bethbeder of the Argentine Navy sent a cablegram to his Government, in which he said: "The boilers supplied ample steam and the screws proved very efficient. The maximum speed was produced with less horse power and a smaller number of propeller revolutions than had been estimated."

President Francis T. Bowles of the Fore River Shipbuilding Corporation, which built the Rivadavia, said: "It is certainly a good speed record for a battleship, exceeding by more than half a knot anything that has been shown by a ship of the battleship's type in this country."

To-morrow morning the Rivadavia will go out for her thirty-hour endurance run, during which she must average 20 knots an hour. She will then proceed on another thirty-hour run to test fuel economy at 15 knots an hour, concluding with an eight-hour run at full speed, during which her contract calls for a speed of 22½ knots.

Somewhere in the vicinity of Boston Harbor she will test her guns, firing one of her 12-inch turret weapons and one or more of her six-inch guns.

An official of the Fore River Company said to-night that the Argentine Government had already received several offers to dispose of the ship, including one from the United States.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Navy officers here were greatly interested to-night in the report of the speed trial of the Argentine dreadnought Rivadavia. The mark set by the Rivadavia of 22.567 knots is slightly over records of American battleships on their trial runs. The fastest of American dreadnoughts was the Delaware with 21.56 knots. The Utah came next with 21.01, the North Dakota following with 21.01, then the New York and the Txas with 21. The Florida made 20.75, and the Arkansas, Wyoming, Nevada, and Oklahoma each made 20.5.

The report that this Government has made an offer for the Rivadavia is not credited here. Navy officers, who would certainly have been consulted if any such proposition was under consideration, deny the report positively.

SCHILDKNECHT GAVE JEWELS

Effie McMinn in Bankruptcy Suit Tells of His Presents to Her.

Effie McMinn of 425 West 114th Street, who, with her colored maid, spent the Summer with John C. Schildknecht, the defaulting Cashier of the Washburn-Crosby Company of 17 Battery Place, at the Garden City Hotel, where they were registered as Mr. and Mrs. Schildknecht and maid, was examined yesterday in bankruptcy proceedings before Commissioner Gilchrist. It was hoped to get from her some clue as to the whereabouts of Schildknecht, but Miss McMinn asserted that she did not know where he was now, although he had promised to telephone to her.

She said that the flat in which she lived was rented by Nicholas Vacarelli in the name of William J. Taylor, but that Schildknecht paid the rent. Vacarelli, she said, ran a billiard parlor, but she did not know where it was. If she had need to speak to him she used to call him up on the telephone at the Stag Garage, in Forty-first Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues.

William Esser, counsel for the receiver, Marshall S. Hagan, questioned Miss McMinn closely as to the presents which Schildknecht had given to her. Since December he had paid for her clothing at a cost of $2,500, and had given her diamond drop earrings and a bar pin and a pianola worth $700. At the Garden City Hotel their expenses were $140 a week, and Schildknecht kept two automobiles and a chauffeur. They also made automobile tours through Connecticut, and took a trip to Saratoga, where they stayed at the Grand Union Hotel. During their long stay at Garden City Schildknecht continued to pay for the 114th Street flat.

In answer to questions as to the last time she saw Schildknecht, Miss McMinn said that on Aug. 29 he telephoned her at Garden City to meet him at the Atlantic Avenue Subway station. There he told her that a friend of his had met with an accident and that he must go away. She, he said, must return to 114th Street. Later she sent him $500, which she had withdrawn from the Commercial Trust Company.

The examination will continue to-day.

Whitlock Off Toledo Ticket.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 16.—Immediately upon his return to-day from a six weeks' vacation in Wequetonsing, Mich., Mayor Brand Whitlock resigned from the Toledo ticket upon which, in his absence, he had been nominated for a fourth term for Mayor. The Toledo ticket was nominated by petition after the Independents, who had nominated Whitlock three times, nominated City Solicitor Cornell Schreiber for Mayor. Whitlock had refused a fourth term. He is being urged for Minister to Belgium.

PRAISE ELLIS ISLAND FOOD.

Immigration Employes Heard—One Inspector Has Old Grievance.

The special commission investigating the immigrant commissary went to Ellis Island yesterday to resume the inquiry there. Although some thirty witnesses were examined, nothing of importance was brought out in the mass of testimony to indicate that the contractors or the Government had failed to provide good food for the immigrants. Those called as witnesses were chiefly employes of the immigration station, including matrons, inspectors, interpreters, watchmen, laborers, cooks, the pilot of the Ellis Island launch, and the Postmistress of the Immigrant Sub-Post Office Station. Nearly all of them said the food supplied to the immigrants was good.

Only one witness, William Bock, who has been an Inspector at the island twenty years, differed with the majority of witnesses, but his complaint to the commission appeared to be more of a personal one, that had its inception ten years ago, long before the present commissary contractors had the privilege, and his testimony had very little bearing on present conditions. Bock said he made a report on bad food ten years ago, and had not made any reports since because he was "pounded" for the first one.

"I'll bring letters which, I think, will show that I am being pounded," he told the commission. He was ordered to produce them.

Bock testified that ex-Commissioner of Immigration Williams had him transferred to another division after he had made his report, and that his salary thereafter had been reduced from $1,800 to $1,620 per year. In the last four years, on four or five occasions, he thought, food which he would not care to eat had been served to 2,000 immigrants daily. Ex-Congressman Bennet, attorney for the defense, when Bock said he was afraid to report this, put this question to him:

"Your testimony is that you were willing to permit food which you thought was not good to be served to 2,000 people rather than take the chance of being shifted yourself from one division to another?"

"I thought if I made complaint I would get more pounding," answered Bock.

Miss Grace M. Butler, the Postmistress, denied testimony of previous witnesses to the effect that she had complained of the way immigrants were "herded" and made to buy food, and thus kept from patronizing the Post Office. Miss Butler said her salary did not depend upon the amount of business transacted at the Post Office. Elizabeth A. Fitzgerald, chief matron, and her assistant, Marie Arbeely, said the food was good and the women immigrants made no complaints. The inquiry will be continued to-day.

Murphy Brings His Checks.

Another witness examined privately yesterday was Joseph J. Murphy, Democratic leader of Rensselaer County, son of the late United States Senator Edward Murphy, Jr. Mr. Murphy came to the city from Troy, where he was subpoenaed.

"I was instructed to bring along my checks and stubs for the months of October and November," he said. "That I have done, and the impeachment managers will find that they are all proper. At first the story was that I had contributed $20,000 to the Sulzer campaign. Then somebody narrowed it down to $5,000. As a matter of fact I didn't give a cent, although I did subscribe moderately to our local organization."

Isidor Kresel of counsel to the Board of Managers, replying to the statement of D Cady Herrick of counsel for Mr. Sulzer regarding the disappearance of Frederick L. Colwell, who is wanted as a witness, said:

The counsel to the managers do not desire to make any personal issue between Judge Herrick and Mr. Levy. The fact is that the managers have been unable to locate Mr. Colwell or to serve any process upon him. Judge Herrick's statement does not answer the inquiry of the managers. The question still remains, where is Colwell, and why has he left his home and his office and remained out of the jurisdiction where no process can be served upon him?

If it be true that Mr. Colwell is a witness for the Governor, so much more reason is it for there being no occasion for any secrecy as to his whereabouts. What the managers are anxious for is to serve a subpoena on Mr. Colwell so as to insure his presence at the trial. Will the Governor or his counsel kindly let the managers or their counsel know where Mr. Colwell is, and that without any personal issue between Judge Herrick and Mr. Levy?

Melville Fuller, head of the brokerage firm of Harris & Fuller, had another conference with Mr. Kresel yesterday.

It was said last night that Mr. Reilly's son-in-law, Capt. J. C. Costigan, of the Sixty-ninth Regiment, was appointed by Mr. Sulzer as a member of his military staff in January last.

JUDGES FIRST IN SULZER VOTE

His Friends Think Their Opinion May Influence Senators' Verdict.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The finishing touches are being put to the stage on which for the first time in New York State a High Court of Impeachment will try a Governor for high crimes and misdemeanors.

To-day the roll call of the court was made up by Patrick E. McCabe, Clerk of the Senate, his arrangement stands, and out of it the Sulzer men may not get even the little advantage that they had expected from the arrangement of the names of the Judges and Senators in alphabetical order. If that had been decreed, on Senator George F. Argetsinger of Rochester, a Republican, would have rested the responsibility of being the first to vote, and Judge Frederick Collin of Elmira, a Democrat, would have been the first Judge of the Court of Appeals to go on record. Chief Judge Cullen would have been the second Judge to express his opinion.

Now, however, according to Clerk McCabe, Chief Judge Edgar M. Cullen will be the first to vote, and he will be followed by Judge Collin, and their opinions are expected to have a great effect on the Senators. Chief Judge Cullen told Mr. McCabe to-night that he thought it should be the prerogative of the High Court itself to pass on this proposed order of voting.

When the Court of Impeachment meets on Thursday various questions of procedure will have to be determined. The right of the three Judges of the Court of Appeals designated by the Governor to assist in clearing the court calendar—Judges Hiscock, Chase, and Miller—to sit with the elective Judges is one of the points to be considered. Chief Judge Cullen said to-night that the Court of Impeachment itself must pass on this matter.

The Court of Appeals will meet for the regular Fall term on Sept. 29. If the three designated Judges do not sit with the Court of Impeachment they will continue to work on cases already argued, but no new cases will be heard until the impeachment proceedings have been concluded.

Acting Governor Glynn felt free to say to-night that there would be in attendance at to-morrow night's session of the Legislature the three-fifth membership necessary to pass the financial and direct tax bills.

As a parting shot the Sulzer crowd will hold a mass meeting in Odd Fellows Hall to-morrow night "to stand by Sulzer." George Foster Peabody and other local speakers, including three clergymen, will make the addresses.

How to accommodate the reporters from all parts of the country who are planning to "cover" the Sulzer trial is a problem seriously vexing Senate Clerk Patrick E. McCabe. Forty-one seats have been reserved for them on the main floor and possibly as many more in the galleries.

One gallery and a portion of another has been reserved for the public, but Mr. McCabe said to-day if the journalistic applications continued to pour in even this small allotment would have to be curtailed. Photographers will not be allowed at the sessions of the court. Admission to the galleries, he added, would be on the "first come first served" plan.

Workmen labored well into the night putting the final touches to the transformed Senate chamber. The heavy velour draperies arrived late in the afternoon and during the evening were suspended behind the chair of Presiding Judge Cullen.

FIRE DRILLS UNDER NEW LAW

Control Board Warns Cloak and Other Industries to Obey.

The Joint Board of Sanitary Control in the cloak, suit, skirt, dress, and waist industries has decided that in view of the coming into effect of the law compelling manufacturers to have fire drills, the board will grant no new sanitary certificates to those manufacturers who have not instituted these drills, and will revoke all certificates for failure to institute fire drills prior to Nov. 1.

The board has also decided to establish and maintain a bureau of fire drills, to engage experts, and, with the co-operation of the Fire Department, to begin the work of installing fire drills at cost price to the manufacturers. This bureau will be ready for service by the first of the month, and its programme is pointed to as an indication that the manufacturers recognize the wisdom of the new law and are ready to begin work under it before being compelled to do so by the forces of the Police and Fire Departments.

HUERTA PROMISES HONEST ELECTION

Speaks of His Successor in a Message to Mexican Congress Holding Out Peace Hope.

WOULD BAR OUR WARSHIPS

Blames Washington for Delaying Pacification of Republic—Still Treating with Lind.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16.—Provisional President Huerta, in his message read to the Mexican Congress to-night, promised to hold an honest election for President and Vice President of the republic next month. He made a remark in the message that was taken by some persons as meaning he would not be a candidate, for he said that to turn over his office to his successor would be the greatest triumph of his public service.

The President blamed the Washington Administration for the delay in restoring peace to Mexico, laying the tardiness to the strained relations between the Governments, but he said he hoped those conditions soon would be adjusted. He exculpated the American people from responsibility for their Government's course.

A suggestion which was regarded in certain quarters as significant came from Gen. Huerta when he said he thought the special permission granted by Mexico's Congress for the prolonged stay of United States battleships in Mexican waters should not be renewed on its expiration in October. However, he qualified that by adding that there was no objection to visits by war vessels bent on showing courtesy rather than on exercising supervision.

The Provisional President did not disclose the diplomatic notes that had passed between John Lind, President Wilson's confidential agent, and Federico Gamboa, Mexican Minister of Foreign Relations, in regard to the United States Government's plan for the restoration of peace. He made it plain that he considered the negotiations still were on.

Enthusiastic Independence Day.

The celebration of Mexico's Independence Day was the most enthusiastic since the centennial of 1910. President Huerta was received wherever he went with applause. Despite the drizzling rain last night and to-day, many thousands of persons turned out to witness the civic ceremony last evening and the parade of this morning. The volunteer troops made an excellent showing, and the best of spirits prevailed, both among the troops and the spectators.

There was no sign of anti-American or other anti-foreign feeling. Foreigners moved freely among the crowds, generally attracting no attention. When they were noticed by Mexicans, they were greeted as on the best of terms.

As Gen. Huerta passed through the streets on his way to and from the National Palace, his carriage was showered with flowers and confetti. He was greeted with spontaneous and hearty cheers. Although rumors were abundant regarding possible trouble and many persons remained in their homes, no disagreeable incident was reported. Agitators attempted last night to circulate seditious literature calling on the people to act, but no disorder resulted.

Huerta Cheered in the Streets.

When President Huerta went to the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon to deliver his message to Congress, he was cheered. The streets were thronged for many blocks by persons eager to see him. He purposely went by a roundabout way, passing through the principal thoroughfares. The streets were lined with infantry distributed ten paces apart to keep the roads clear. The crowd was good-humored and did not attempt to invade the cleared passage.

Important developments are expected in the next few days. Persons coming from the north state that the rebels were watching the celebrations here closely, expecting trouble. Failing disagreeable demonstrations in the capital, many rebel leaders were planning to leave the field.

Conditions throughout the northeast are regarded optimistically. The report that Gov. Carranza was preparing to move to the provisional capital, Hermosillo, is taken here as indicating an admission of the failure of his campaign in Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, and Tamaulipas.

Carranza's Influence Doubted.

It is not believed here that the Sonora rebel leaders will be willing to subordinate themselves to Gov. Carranza, who has been unable to comply with their orders to capture and hold Torreon and Saltillo and even has been unable to retain Monclova, which he had occupied for many months.

The capture of the Mexican smugglers in Texas is regarded in this city as indicating that the United States really intends to enforce the neutrality laws, and thus prevent the rebels from obtaining arms or ammunition. The rebels are extremely short of ammunition and are avoiding engagements whenever possible.

Government officials state that the United States Government can end the revolt in this country by cutting off the rebels' ammunition supply. The Huerta Government is not worried by the Washington order, as its national cartridge factory is producing more than 200,000 cartridges daily and machinery is being installed to increase that production.

A feature of the arrival of diplomats in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon was that only the Japanese Minister was greeted with cheers.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 16.—Provisional President Victoriano Huerta delivered his semi-annual message to-night at the opening of the second session of the twenty-seventh Mexican Congress. In it he promised to spare no effort to bring about the unrestricted election of President and Vice President of the Mexican republic next month, asserting it would be the greatest triumph of his career to turn over the office to his successor with the country at peace, as he hoped to do.

The Provisional President drew a distinction between the attitude of the Government of the United States and that of the people of that nation, saying "the tenseness of our diplomatic relations with the Government of the United States of America, although luckily not with that people," had put Mexico into a state of apprehension.

The period of six months allowed for American warships to remain in Mexican waters, by special permission of Congress, will expire next month. In the opinion of the Provision President a renewal of such permission should not be granted.

In his peroration Provisional President Huerta said:

"The Mexican Government regards the pacification of the country as an urgent necessity in order to restore the public services to their normal state, to re-establish the political, social, and economic equilibrium, and to make possible a programme of reforms which will satisfy the national aspiration.

"I will spare no effort and no sacrifice to obtain the coveted peace and to guarantee fully in the coming election the free casting of the ballot.

Talks of His Successor.

"You may be sure it will constitute the greatest possible triumph for the interim Government to surrender office to its successor if the latter, as is to be expected, enters upon its functions with public peace and order an accomplished fact."

President Huerta's message follows in part:

Criticism for Washington.

Besides the fratricidal strife which exhausts us, the tenseness of our diplomatic relations with the Government of the United States, although luckily not with that people, has put us in a state of apprehension, has made us suffer more than one affliction which was not merited, and retarded the complete pacification of the republic.

As this affair is of so delicate a nature and as the permanennt commission of Congress has already been informed of the state of the negotiations, which as yet have not been broken off, I have only to indicate that the Government hopes, with good grounds, to see quickly solved the differences which day by day keep in suspense that good friendship which of old united, and for an indefinite future should unite us, to our powerful civilized neighbor.

Upon taking charge, by virtue of the law, of the Presidency of the republic, complying with the established international practices, I communicated the fact of my having taken possession to all the foreign Governments with which Mexico cultivates relations of friendship. Of these, there hastened to answer by autograph letter the following: Germany, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, Colombia, Costa Rica, China, Denmark, Ecuador, Spain, France, Guatemala, Haiti, Holland, Honduras, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Montenegro, Norway, Portugal, Russia, Salvador, Servia, Switzerland, Turkey, and Uruguay.

There have been sent to our ports various foreign war vessels, with the object, it is said, of extending protection, if that should be necessary, to the lives and interests of the citizens or subjects of the powers in question by reason of the state of insecurity, it is presumed, growing out of the revolution. In view of this departure in foreign relations, I entered into correspondence with certain foreign diplomats, calling attention to the action of their respective Governments, and upon receiving due explanations dictated orders toward the fulfillment of the law in such case.

Objection to Our Warships.

Since the law prohibited warships from remaining for more than a month in territorial waters, the Senate authorized the said ships to remain, but with the understanding that those remaining should not entail an attack upon the dignity and sovereignty of Mexico. Such authorization limited them to the period of six months, dating from April 25 last, and it was not thought advisable to renew this authorization upon its approaching expiration. Other ships, which made visits of courtesy and not of vigilance, have been received by the Mexican authorities according to international laws and customs.

On the subject of the approaching election, the President said he had promulgated the law enacted by Congress, complementary to the electoral law, under which the Government would hold an election next month.

Following the reading of the Presidential message, the session of Congress was adjourned to to-morrow.

Big Parade in Capital.

The biggest parade held in Mexico City in years began forming early today in celebration of the nation's independence Day. The cold, drizling rain caused the flags and bunting, with which the city was aflame, to droop and made marching dreary, but it did not quench the holiday spirit. Soldiers, cadets, students and volunteers made their way toward Chapultepec, where the day's celebration was begun with speech-making and music, and where patriotic utterances by orators stirred enthusiasm.

Gen. Victoriano Huerta, Provisional President of Mexico, in uniform, surrounded by his staff and accompanied by many Government officials and foreign diplomats, made a short address, applauding the patriotic ardor of the younger element of the population and calling them the "hope of the nation" and "worthy sons of loyal fathers."

At the hour appointed for the opening of the civic observances at Chapultepec, the Presidential salute boomed from guns at the Arsenal. At the end of the ceremonies, the Presidential party rode through the streets, which were lined with holidaymakers showering confetti and flowers, to the National Palace, where Gen. Huerta prepared to review the parade.

Armed Students a Feature.

A feature of the procession was the presence in line of upward of 1,500 students in uniform, marching like veterans. Since the last celebration of Independence Day many schools have been placed under the military organization. The students are dressed in a uniform of dark green and wear round hats with cockades of various colors, each hue designating a school. Next to the ordinary students in winning the plaudits of the throngs were the cadets of the military schools, many of whom appeared scarcely able for lack of years to bear the rifles they carried.

Not since the centenary parade in the final days of Gen. Porfirio Diaz as President has there been seen in the capital a larger number of men of the regular army in line. The artillery, cavalry, and foot soldiers numbered thousands and stretched for miles through the streets. Hours were consumed while they passed in review.

For hours rows of chairs extending several city blocks along Juarez Avenue were occupied by patient women of the richer class sitting under umbrellas, awaiting the start of the parade. The avenue was filled with thousands of persons.

There was no sign of anti-American feeling among the crowds.

AMERICAN SHIPS WILL STAY.

Washington, It Is Said, Will Ignore a Mexican Order to Quit.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Although the higher officials of the Administration decline to comment for publication on the message of President Huerta sent to the opening session of the Mexican Congress to-day, they are disappointed keenly over the failure of Gen. Huerta to indicate that he would not be a candidate for President in the promised constitutional election set for Oct. 26. If any satisfaction has been obtained from the attitude of the Mexican Provisional President as disclosed in his communication it is found in the opportunity presented to prove Huerta a bluffer in his practical invitation to this Government to withdraw its warships from Mexican waters.

No authoritative statement on that phase of the Huerta message is forthcoming either from the White House or the State Department, but it seems to be taken for granted that the American warships sent to Vera Cruz, Tampico and other Mexican ports will remain there, even in the face of a direct order from the Mexican Government for their withdrawal.

A summary of President Huerta's message was telegraphed to the State Department to-day by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American Chargé d'Affairs in Mexico City.

Prior to leaving Washington to give a Chautauqua lecture in Staunton, Va., Secretary Bryan had a conference with President Wilson, at which the terms of the message were discussed. Mr. Bryan said afterward that he did not care to comment on the message.

It is suspected here that advance intimation of what would be said by President Huerta in his message concerning the virtual threat to rescind the permission for American warships to remain in Mexican waters had been given to the State Department, and formed the basis for Secretary Bryan's statement in letters to Representative Underwood and Senator Martin that "there are political reasons which render it of the highest importance that the work which is being carried on (of taking Americans out of Mexico) should not be brought to a sudden stop."

A refusal on the part of this Government to withdraw its warships from Mexican waters after a demand for their removal had been made following the expiration of the six-month period might be regarded by Mexico as an overt act.

In response to inquiries, the State Department has notified Americans having interests in Mexico that the Mexican Government could not be held responsible for damages on account of injury done to the property of aliens by revolutionists.

Warships at Vera Cruz All Fire Independence Day Salutes.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VERA CRUZ, Sept. 16.—The independence night and day celebration passed without a noteworthy incident.

John Lind, President Wilson's representative, watched interestedly the military and civil parade.

American warships fired salutes and were decorated. The illuminations of the battleships Louisiana and South Carolina were artistic and excited favorable comment.

FELIX DIAZ GOING TO PARIS.

Candidate for President Holds Himself at Huerta's Disposal.

BIARRITZ, France, Sept. 16.—Gen. Felix Diaz, who is to be a candidate for the Presidency of Mexico at the next election, said to-day that he did not know when he would leave here for the Mexican capital, but that in response to orders from Mexico he would return to Paris next Friday to await further instructions.

The General declined to make any statement regarding Mexican affairs, of which he was cognizant only through the newspaper dispatches. Nor would he express any personal opinion, as he desired to hold himself at the disposition of the Government.

Gen. Porfirio Diaz, the ex-President, received in his villa to-day many friends who had come to congratulate him on his birthday.

PICK LOEB TO RUN MITCHEL'S CAMPAIGN

Place Will Be Offered to Him To-day—Hedges Will Not Take the Job.

ECLIPSE DUE FOR HAPGOOD

Candidate's Personal Friends Hereafter to be More in Evidence in Fusion Plan Making.

After a conference yesterday with the Executive Committee of the Fusion Committee of 107 regarding his campaign, John Purroy Mitchel, the Fusion candidate for Mayor, agreed that a Committee of Seven should select some prominent man to take full charge. The Committee of Seven is made up of Mr. Mitchel, Borough President McAneny, Controller Prendergast, Norman Hapgood, Frank L. Polk, Arthur H. Woods, and Joseph M. Price.

William Loeb, Jr., former Collector of the Port, will be asked to-day by the Mitchel forces to take the place.

Job E. Hedges, who was asked while he was in Europe to be campaign manager, refused to undertake the work yesterday on the ground that his health would not permit him to do so. It was said that after the campaign gets under way Mr. Mitchel, Mr. McAneny, and Mr. Prendergast would drop out of the committee and allow the others, headed probably by Mr. Loeb, to do the work.

Although it was denied yesterday that Mr. Mitchel was dissatisfied with the work up to the present time of Mr. Hapgood and Mr. Price in the management of the Mitchel campaign, Mr. Mitchel's friends said that they felt that there had been "too much Hapgood," and that from now on Mr. Mitchel's personal friends would have more to say.

The Fusionists are anxious to obtain the services of Mr. Loeb, for it was pointed out that he would keep the Republicans in line, and at the same time be satisfactory to the Progressives, as Mr Loeb has never been actively opposed to them. He is considered a Roosevelt Republican.

The Committee of Seven appointed yesterday is to be the nucleus of a larger committee, which will be made of the various organizations represented in the Fusion Committee. It will appoint sub-committees to raise money and do other work.

Chairman Price of the Executive Committee said yesterday that the question of finances was not worrying the committee. Within a few days, he said, the committee would begin systematically to canvass every district for contributions.

"We are not worried over money matters," said Mr. Price, "We will have plenty of it. Already contributions are coming in."

Mr. Mitchel said yesterday that, until after the funeral of Mayor Gaynor, the Fusion campaign merely would drag along, but that next week all the plans would be agreed upon the various issues outlined.

Mr. Mitchel was asked yesterday why the flags on the Custom House were not at half-mast because of the death of Mayor Gaynor.

"The Federal authorities," he said, "do not permit me to lower the flags unless an important Federal officer is dead, and then only when I receive permission from Washington. I have just sent a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury asking permission to half-mast the flags."

GAYNOR TICKET IS DEAD.

Backers Give Up the Fight on McAneny's Refusal to Run.

The final knell of the Gaynor movement in the present municipal political campaign was sounded yesterday, when Fire Commissioner Joseph Johnson, the Gaynor manager, made public a telegram he had received from Jacob H. Schiff, in which Mr. Schiff told of the impossibility of persuading Borough President McAneny to accept the nomination for Mayor. It was Mr. Schiff who presided at the City Hall gathering at which a popular nomination was offered to Mayor Gaynor, and to him the Gaynor Nominating and Fusion League looked for much of its financial support. Now that he has given up the fight, even Commissioner Johnson acknowledges that the Gaynor movement is no more. Here is the telegram which Mr. Schiff sent yesterday to the Fire Commissioner:

McAneny writes me appreciatively but firmly that he cannot accept. Under these circumstances we can do naught but leave it to those who could have prevented this by co-operating with us to shoulder the responsibility for Tammany's return to power. You may use this if you desire.
JACOB H. SCHIFF.

On receipt of this telegram, Mr Johnson made public a statement justifying his action, hitting at William Lustgarten, Chairman of the Committee of 1,000, and saying farewell to the Gaynor cause. Here it is:

I had determined to wait thus long to observe the effect of our effort to get Mr. McAneny to run. That question rested solely with Mr. McAneny. He has felt in honor bound to Mr. Mitchel and has declined under any circumstances to lead the anti-Tammany fight.

This I believe to be a mistake. I had hoped to have him agree with us that loyalty to the whole city stood above loyalty to Mr. Mitchel. But Mr. McAneny was the only available leader. We never had a serious thought of any other. Since he has finally stated his position, our efforts to crystallize the Gaynor sentiment around him now ceases. Of course, the Gaynor Fusion and Nominating League goes out of existence with the failure of this effort. All of us are now left free to make our individual fusion, and few of us will have any trouble in making it.

As far as I am concerned, I hope the enemies of the late Mayor will not force me personally to any further activity. If I am permitted a personal word, it is this: I have done by the Mayor as he did by us, his Commissioners, and I am happy that I stuck to the last ditch.

The afternoon of our open-air City Hall meeting he wrote and sent me the following note, which I shall keep and cherish:

"City of New York, Office of the Mayor,
"Sept. 3, 1913.
"Joseph Johnson, Esq., 157 East Sixty-seventh Street, Manhattan,
"My dear Johnson: I cannot refrain from saying how much I appreciate you before starting for my two weeks' rest on the ocean. I hope you will never have occasion to regret your fidelity.
"Sincerely yours,
"WILLIAM J. GAYNOR, Mayor."

What now happens to me personally or officially is of the smallest consequence. If, in my zeal for him and my contempt of quitters, I have offended any one, I apologize. Otherwise, I glory in what I have attempted to do for the wisest and bravest soul that has come among us in our generation.

Mr. Lustgarten, Chairman of the Committee of 1,000, who was one of the supporters of Mayor Gaynor, said yesterday that sixty of the sixty-four organizations which made up the Gaynor League had decided to work together for the Fusion ticket and Collector Mitchel. They will open headquarters next week at 501 Fifth Avenue under the name of the United Gaynor Committees. William W. Barker, Secretary of the Municipal Democracy, will be in charge of the rooms, and a campaign will be carried on subsidiary to that of the Fusion Committee.

ASKS R. A. C. SMITH TO STAY.

Mayor Kline Refuses to Accept Dock Commissioner's Resignation.

Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith, in a letter to Mayor Ardolph L. Kline, which the Mayor made public yesterday, offered his resignation. The Mayor declined yesterday to accept the resignation, and expressed the hope that Commissioner Smith would continue in office to the end of his term. This is Mr. Smith's letter:

Department of Docks and Ferries,
City of New York, Sept. 12, 1913.
To the Honorable the Mayor Ardolph L. Kline.

Sir: As a citizen interested in all that concerns the welfare of New York City, I am profoundly impressed with the loss we have sustained in the untimely death of Mr. Gaynor. As an individual admirer of the man and the recipient of many confidentially expressed thoughts, I am more than grieved by the loss.

After conferences with him, which began early in his administration, I always left him with the conviction that he had no other thoughts than those directed to the solution of the problems attending the hugeness of the administration of the city, for which he was as ambitious as any man I know.

When he thought it necessary to ask me to take the place I now occupy as a city official, he gave me little opportunity to show my reluctance to do by saying: "If men who are capable of doing the things to be done will not take the responsibility, how can they expect anything better? I am only one man even though I am Mayor."

He meant to do the things that must be done now if the city is to hold its commercial prestige, and there has been a recompense for loss in personal matters while doing this work in the knowledge that I was helping a man who was doing in a large way what was so necessary and requiring patience and force to convince the citizens that the supremacy of New York lies in its ability to care for all the trade that may be brought to its doors.

Mayor Gaynor made great progress in port improvement, and expected to do much more, and would not listen to any break in the continuity of it. He gave personal attention to the work which has reached a stage where it should not be permitted to lag. However, I herewith tender you, to take effect at your convenience, my resignation as Commissioner of Docks and Ferries.

Let me assure you that the only thought that inspires this is consideration that you may be quite free, so far as this department is concerned, to plan your administration on your own lines.

Let me also assure you that in any event you will have my entire support so far as I am able to give it to you, and I want you to know that you have my earnest wishes for success in meeting the exactions of your high office. Very respectfully yours,
R. A. C. SMITH, Commissioner.

In reply to Commissioner Smith Mayor Kline wrote:

City of New York.
Office of the Mayor.
Sept. 16, 1913.

Sir: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of Sept. 12 tendering your resignation as Commissioner of Docks and Ferries to take effect at my convenience. I appreciate fully the delicate sense of official propriety which constrains you to take this course, and I thank you for the courtesy you pay me.

The City of New York is fortunate to be able to have you as Commissioner of Docks and Ferries—indeed, it would be fortunate to have you occupy any office in the city government. It is my hope that as long as I am Mayor you will continue to occupy your present position, and I hereby request that you do so.

The thorough and comprehensive plans for dock improvements to which Mayor Gaynor gave so much thought and effort I desire to be continued, and I know that no one in the city is more familiar with our late Mayor's plans in this respect than you. If, during the short time I am to fill the office of Mayor, I can do anything to advance the fulfillment of these plans it will be a cause of great gratification to me. Sincerely yours,
A. L. KLINE, Mayor.
R. A. C. Smith, Esq., Commissioner of Docks and Ferries New York City.

Commissioner Smith's resignation, it was said at the City Hall, was the first one that Mayor Kline had received.

EAST SIDE CLEAN-UP CREDITED TO GAYNOR

Committee of Citizens Tell of His Wise Counsel and Orders for Police Co-operation.

VICE AND CRIME CHECKED

First Inspection District Now Compares with Any Similarly Congested.

For more than a year prior to his death, Mayor Gaynor had been giving his moral support, coupled with wise counsel, to a committee of citizens engaged in the task of rooting out vice and crime in the lower east side, but so silently did the Mayor and the committee work, that the general public would probably have continued in ignorance of the Mayor's service, had not the committee felt it their duty in justice to Mayor Gaynor's memory to make some of the facts known now in the form of a statement.

The field chosen by the committee was the district extending from the Battery to Fourteenth Street, bounded on the west by Broadway, Park Row, and the Bowery, and on the east by the East River. The members of the committee readily enlisted Mayor Gaynor's sympathy in their undertaking, and in the course of several conferences, he gave them the benefit of his counsel, and put the Police Department in co-operation with them.

As a result of the Mayor's assistance, according to the committee, gambling, pocket picking, and vice and crime generally had been greatly reduced in the First Inspection District.

This is the statement:

We feel that the death of Mayor Gaynor imposes upon us the duty of acquainting the public with his great service in helping free the city of vice and crime.

For over a year, a committee, of which we are the representatives, has silently and effectively co-operated with the Police Department in ridding the First Inspection District, which covers much of the so-called "lower east side," of vice and crime. As a result of this work, gambling, prostitution, pocket picking, has been greatly reduced, gangs broken up, and in general, the vice and crime that infested the district for many years, in large measure done away with. So effectively has the Police Department done this work, that we make bold to declare that the First Inspection District is now at least as clean and wholesome a place to live in, and is at least as free of vice and crime, as any other congested section of the city.

This is due to the wise guidance and sympathy of Mayor Gaynor more than to anything else. From the first to the last he lent a listening ear, gave intelligent counsel, and encouraged the Police Department and the citizens represented in our committee to proceed without fear or favor. He was of one mind with us, that what was thus accomplished by the sincere co-operation of citizens in one district could be accomplished by the same means throughout the city; and it was one of the questions his untimely death left unanswered, as to how the citizenship of the various districts could be persuaded themselves to clean house.

We have heretofore scrupulously avoided giving any publicity to this work, but we feel it to be simple justice to Mayor Gaynor's memory to call this phase of his activity to the attention of the citizenship.

We are determined that the work thus hopefully and effectively carried on with Mayor Gaynor's unfailing co-operation shall be continued. We are confident that the authorities will be glad to profit by Mayor Gaynor's wise example, and that all citizens interested in improving moral conditions in this city will continue to receive encouragement and counsel similar to that which we now so gratefully acknowledge as having come to us from Mayor Gaynor.

Rabbi Magnes, at his home last night, said that the statement spoke for itself, and that the committee had always consistently avoided giving publicity to its work, making an exception only in this case in justice to Mayor Gaynor.

PLANS FOR THE FUNERAL.

Ex-President Taft to be a Pallbearer—Tickets for Church Service.

Memorial services in honor of William J. Gaynor will be held in every public school in the city on the day of his funeral. Thomas W. Churchill, President of the Board of Education, decided upon this plan yesterday, and announced that a delegation of school children would also attend the funeral services in Trinity Church at 11 o'clock on Monday morning.

Robert Adamson, the Mayor's Secretary, made public the names of the twelve men selected by Mrs. Gaynor to serve as honorary pall bearers. This is the list:

William H. Taft,	R. A. C. Smith,
Ardolph L. Kline,	James Creelman,
Justice M. J. Keogh,	A. R. Watson,
Herman Ridder,	Edward M. Grout,
Jacob H. Schiff,	Rhinelander Waldo,
Robert Adamson,	John D. Crimmins.

Mr. Adamson said he had received a personal letter from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo stating that orders had been given to the officials of the Treasury Department to expedite the landing of the body of Mr. Gaynor and that all port regulations had been waived.

The Board of Aldermen at a special session yesterday adopted resolutions upon the death of the Mayor. Deputy City Clerk Joseph Prendergast called the meeting to order, and Alderman Walsh was made temporary Chairman. Alderman Frank Dowling, leader of the Democrats in the board, offered the resolutions, which read:

A CITY MOURNS A CITY'S LOSS.

William J. Gaynor, Mayor of the City of New York, is no more. Divine Providence has called him from his earthly career, leaving behind a record of integrity, devotion to duty, and faithfulness to all the claims which public life made upon him.

A foremost citizen, great public character, constructive jurist, and, in the public life of the City of New York, a leading force, he will be missed.

During his extended period of service he took a most useful and active part in the affair sof the city, State, and nation, to each of which he gave uninterruptedly and unstintingly of the talent and genious with which nature had freely endowed him.

No longer will his supple and trenchant pen, blent with grim humor and homely philosophy, find its way into the heat and glare of official and political life with which he had been identified for nearly half a century.

"He was a man, take him for all in all. I shall not look upon his like again."

Resolved, That in the death of the Hon. William J. Gaynor the City of New York, the State, and the nation have suffered an especial and very great loss. In him was recognized one of the country's greatest and most conscientious public servants;

Resolved, further, That the Board of Aldermen of the City of New York extend to the sorrowing widow and children sincere and heartfelt sympathy on the sad bereavement they have sustained, and that a copy hereof, suitably engrossed and duly authenticated by the Mayor and City Clerk, be transmitted to the family; and be it further

Resolved, That the Board of Aldermen attend the funeral of Mayor Gaynor in a body, and, as an additional mark of respect, do now adjourn.

The board appointed this committee to take charge of funeral arrangements: John A. Bolles, James A. Hamilton, Charles A. Post, John Diemer, Max S. Levine, and John F. Walsh.

Street Cleaning Commissioner William H. Edwards directed yesterday that the department do no work between the hours of 10 A. M. and 1:30 P. M. on Monday, except where special details of sweepers are made. In his order the Commissioner said:

Too much respect cannot be shown Mayor Gaynor, who has gone, and let me call the attention of the officers and men in the Department of Street Cleaning to a portion of what the Mayor said at the Pension Day exercises at Stable A, Borough of Manhattan, on Feb. 14 of this year:

I am certainly glad to look into the faces of these 222 men who to-day go out of the city's employment without a single anxiety for the future. They are to be taken care of, and what the city is doing for them to-day the city will do for all the rest of the men in the Department of Street Cleaning from year to year, hereafter and forever.

This is an evidence of his care for one of his large city departments. This is only one of the many kind things he said about this department, and in memory of him let us always hold these words sacred.

There will be no tickets issued for admittance to the rotunda of the City Hall while the body of the Mayor is lying in state, but tickets will be issued for admission to the funeral services in Trinity Church. Requests for tickets to the funeral have been received from all the foreign Consuls in the city, and seats will be reserved for them. The Mayor was President of the Sons of Oneida, the Oneida County association in New York, and the association has notified the committee in charge of the funeral arrangements that a delegation of twenty-five members will attend the funeral services.

Requests for tickets have been received from hundreds of organizations that wish to send representatives to the funeral, and as many of them as possible will be accommodated. Secretary Adamson said that by putting extra benches in Trinity Church the seating capacity had been raised to 826, but that the twenty vestrymen of the church would have to be accommodated.

All the city Magistrates will attend the funeral, as well as all the attendants of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn who were in the service when the Mayor was a Justice. The Public Service Commission and all the Mayor's commissions will go in a body.

The mourning decorations at the City Hall were further added to yesterday when a three-quarter size painting of Mayor Gaynor was placed in the rotunda. The portrait is by J. Campbell Phillips, and was painted last February.

The Chamber of Commerce will be represented at the funeral by John Claflin, Seth Low, A. Barton Hepburn, and Jacob H. Schiff.

The New York Stock Exchange has appointed this committee to attend the funeral: James B. Mabon, President; Charles M. Newcombe, Henry C. Swords, R. T. H. Halsey, and William H. Remick.

Closing for Mayor Gaynor.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art will be closed next Monday until 1 P. M. out of respect for Mayor Gaynor.

TWO DIE IN DUEL OF AXE AND PISTOL

Mississippi Lumberman Shoots State Senator, Who Had Just Dealt Fatal Stroke.

THEY FALL DEAD TOGETHER

Dr. H. F. Broyles and H. F. Hendricks Had Been Engaged in Feud Over Timber Deal.

Special to The New York Times.

ABERDEEN, Miss., Sept. 16.—Dr. H. F. Broyles, a State Senator, and H. F. Hendricks, a wealthy timberman of Selmer, Tenn., killed each other near Greenwood Springs this morning in a duel which lasted but a few moments.

Hendricks fought with a revolver, and his opponent used a sharpened axe. Hendricks fired one shot and Broyles struck one blow. The men fell at the same time, and both were instantly killed.

Greenwood Springs is near Aberdeen in this county. According to reports received by county officials, Dr. Broyles had started to repair a dam this morning when Hendricks approached and tried to stop him from working. The men had been enemies for a long time, and they did not waste words in quarrel. Hendricks's hand went to his back pocket for his revolver. Broyles, who held a sharp axe in his hand, shouted, "You weren't quite quick enough," and with a swift stroke his axe whizzed through the air. The blade struck Hendricks on the head and sank to the handle in his brain.

Witnesses said that it was hardly conceivable that a man could retain a purpose or think after receiving such a blow, yet Hendricks did so, and he fired once while falling, sending a bullet into Broyles's heart. The men fell at about the same time and lay, without movement, side by side.

Broyles sold some timber to Hendricks about a year ago, and it is said the two had been unfriendly since then.

When Broyles left his wife and three children this morning at the hotel he had no thought of trouble and no weapons were found on his body. He represented the Thirty-eighth District, composed of the Counties of Monroe, Lee, and Ittawamba, in the Legislature. His home was at Greenwood Springs, Miss., where he had practiced medicine and conducted a Summer hotel for eighteen years.

When Broyles was in the lower house of the Legislature he was one of the leaders of the Vardaman side during the memorable Senatorial caucus fight of 1910. He was elected to the State Senate in 1911, and was Chairman of the Committee on Penitentiary and also Public Health and Quarantine.

Senator Broyles was a graduate of the Agricultural and Mechanical College at Starkville. He began the study of medicine at Vanderbilt University and completed his medical education at Tulane University in 1889.

SENATORS' POOR RECORD.

Citizens' Union Has Little Praise for State's Upper House.

The Citizens' Union made public yesterday its report upon the work of the State Senators from New York City. The individual records are as follows:

CULLEN, THOMAS H., (Democrat, Third District, Kings.) Experienced, and as Chairman of important Cities Committee very influential. Voted to whitewash Stilwell, and also in other respects made bad record of votes.

SULLIVAN, CHRISTOPHER D., (Democrat, Eleventh District, New York.) Active in whitewashing Stilwell. Made thoroughly bad record.

FITZGERALD, JOHN C., (Democrat, Twelfth District, New York.) Very active in whitewashing Stilwell. Record of votes and other activities prove him undesirable.

McCLELLAND, JAMES D., (Democrat, Thirteenth District, New York.) Eulogized Stilwell and "gloried in the opportunity" to clear him of charge of official misconduct. Afterward became Stilwell's counsel in criminal prosecution.

FOLEY, JAMES A., (Democrat, Fourteenth District, New York.)—Voted to sustain Stilwell charges and made on the whole good record of votes except that he followed machine on direct primaries. Record greatly improved over previous years.

BOYLAN, JOHN J., (Democrat, Fifteenth District, New York.)—Voted to whitewash Stilwell.

WAGNER, ROBERT F., (Democrat, Sixteenth District, New York.)—Voted to sustain Stilwell charges. As majority leader, executed orders of machine, but in respect to a number of important issues showed good judgment and public spirit.

HERRICK, WALTER R., (Democrat, Seventeenth District, New York.)—Spoke and voted to whitewash Stilwell. On other issues also made bad record. Introduced Massachusetts ballot bill, but made no appreciable effort to obtain its passage.

POLOCK, HENRY W., (Democrat, Eighteenth District, New York.)—Voted to sustain Stilwell charges and rendered valuable service in advocating condemnation reform. Made on the whole a fair record.

SALANT, HENRY, (Progressive, Nineteenth District, New York.)—New member. Lost his seat on recount. Voted to sustain Stilwell charges. Made good record of votes.

SIMPSON, GEORGE W., (Democrat, Nineteenth District, New York.)—Elected on recount. In brief service followed machine.

FRAWLEY, JAMES J., (Democrat, Twentieth District, New York.)—Chairman of powerful Finance Committee. Voted to whitewash Stilwell. Used his influence in support of vicious bill to exempt lobbyists for local assessment bills from provisions of lobbyist law; also introduced bad salary and patronage measures. Followed machine.

STILWELL, STEPHEN J., (Democrat, Twenty-first District, Bronx.)—Convicted of bribery.

GRIFFIN, ANTHONY J., (Democrat, Twenty-second District, Bronx.)—Voted to whitewash Stilwell and also made bad record of votes on other issues.

BLAUVELT, GEORGE A., (Democrat, Twenty-third District, Richmond and Rockland.)—Active and influential member. Voted to sustain Stilwell charges. Otherwise made poor record of votes.

State Senators are not up for re-election this year. Each member had an opportunity to examine the report and have his criticisms and suggestions considered.

Mr. Jerome and the other New York State attorneys were taken completely by surprise.

Jerome's First Setback.

Thaw's chief extradition lawyers, Moses Grossman and L. J. Vorhaus of New York City, did not address the court. They were reserved for the last, and were not needed, as events transpired. Merrill Shurtleff, one of Thaw's New Hampshire counsel, opened the proceedings, setting forth that, in view of the impending hearing before the Governor, the petitioner did not care to urge his Constitutional rights, but desired continuance.

Jerome was on his feet in an instant.

"I desire to interpose objection to any delay," he said. "I move that this hearing proceed forthwith and that the writ be quashed. Examination of the return will show that the questions raised in the application are frivolous and raise no new question of law or fact. There is no Federal issue involved, and I feel constrained to say that this writ was obtained under circumstances which approach very near trifling with the court. I have here an affidavit of Lindsay Dennison, based on statements made by loquacious counsel for the other side."

"You need not use that term loquacious, Mr. Jerome," said the court severely.

"I withdraw the remark," said Mr. Jerome.

"I will say now," continued the court, "that unless you have a pretty strong case I advise you to save the trouble of raising the issue of bad faith."

Mr. Jerome sat down.

George Morris, one of Thaw's New Hampshire lawyers, addressed the court. He said in brief that the writ in Thaw's behalf had been obtained because, under the New Hampshire statutes, there was no recourse to the courts in case the Governor honored the extradition warrant and the New York authorities cared to remove the fugitive instantly.

"We will agree," said Mr. Jerome, rising, "that we will use no undue haste in removing Thaw should his extradition be granted. We are willing and anxious to proceed in a legal and eminently fair manner."

"Do you wish to press this question of bad faith?" inquired the court. Mr. Jerome paused a moment, then said that in view of the assurances from the other side he would let the matter drop.

Judge Aldrich's Decision.

"Then," said Judge Aldrich, "the only question to be decided is whether this hearing shall go on or be suspended." With this he began reading his rescript, in part as follows:

This proceeding does not expressly involve the proposed extradition hearing before the State Executive, yet it concerns it indirectly in the sense that, if this hearing should go forward, and if it should be determined here that the process under which the petitioner is held is not a constitutionally due process, and that the restraint is therefore illegal, it would doubtless be contended that the result should be accepted as conclusive of the question of the right of extradition under the existing State process.

The rights of the State of New York are not of such urgency as to justify summary and precipitate action here in advance of the usual and proper course of interstate extradition proceedings, and the petitioner, having invoked Federal protection for the purpose of saving his Federal rights, yields to the idea of a postponement of this hearing to the end that extradition proceedings may go forward before the State Executive in the ordinary and usual way. This is a perfectly proper course for counsel to pursue. It is in perfect harmony with our system of Federal and State interrelations.

It is perfectly obvious that some findings of the Executive of the State might be accepted as conclusive and binding upon both State and Federal courts, and it is equally obvious that questions might arise before the Executive, where its action would not be binding upon either. Upon the question as to what findings would be conclusive and what not conclusive I make no intimation whatever.

Holding pendency and control of this proceedings under suspension menaces neither the rights of the parties concerned nor of the State authorities. Such considerations make it justifiable that the hearing under the writ before us be suspended to the end that the Executive of the State shall have a free hand in respect to the extradition investigation.

It must be understood that it is open to the petitioner, at any time, to press his alleged constitutional right of an immediate hearing. It is likewise open to the parties representing the State of New York or the State of New Hampshire to move at any time for a hearing or for a dismissal of the writ.

In conclusion the court said that Thaw was subject to recommitment to State authority, to be held to bail or placed in the custody of suitable keepers. He recommended Marshal Nute and Holman A. Drew, Sheriff of Coos County, as custodians, and they were selected. He then began his colloquy with Jerome. He said that counsel would have opportunity to amend their answer.

Raises Insanity Issue.

"I don't wish it to be understood that I have suggested the propriety or the necessity of your enlarging your answer at all, Mr. Jerome," said the Judge. "I merely throw out the suggestion that you may consider it; and then it is probably open to counsel for the petitioner to raise the question whether this New York process under which Thaw was held as an insane person should become a part of the proceedings at issue.

"The novelty of the situation, as everybody must see, results from the fact that he was held in an institution in New York under process against him as an insane person; and the offense or crime upon which it is sought to have him extradited consists, according to their own account of it and their own description of it, in his escape from that institution. Now, whether that is a crime, whether the State of New York, holding a person as an insane person, is in a position to set up his escape as a crime within the meaning of the Federal Constitution and of the State statutes—if you have found anything in the books, Mr. Jerome, on that question, you have done better than I have. It seems to me that it involves a novel proposition."

Mr. Jerome—If I understand your Honor aright, the proposition would seem to look at the point of whether a person of unsound mind could be charged with criminal responsibility.

The Court—Well, I am not making any—

Mr. Jerome—But since the rule in Norton's case, which we have practically enacted into a statute, and which I understand to be the rule in insane cases in Federal jurisdiction, the rule laid down in the Czolgosz case and the Guiteau case, that if a person knew the nature and quality of the act, and that it was wrong, it didn't matter whether he was sane or not.

Questions Not Entirely Clear.

The Court—There results the novelty. The question comes whether it is not open to the petitioner here to raise that question of fact in the courts of New Hampshire.

Mr. Jerome—Well, I submit—

The Court—I don't intimate anything one way or the other about it, but you seemed to assume at the outset that the questions were entirely clear. I don't think they are.

Mr. Jerome—They are not clear, if those questions are open, but I think on the argument I will be able to show to your Honor decisions of the Federal courts in extradition cases that the door is closed to your Honor's investigation of those questions.

The Court—But if you stand upon the question that extradition is justifiable provided Thaw was of sufficient mind to commit a criminal act at the time he escaped from Matteawan, you put a qualification upon your proposition at once. Now, where is that question of mental condition within the meaning and scope of the extradition law to be determined—in New York or in New Hampshire?

Mr. Jerome: "We shall probably—"

The Court: "In New York or in New Hampshire, the State which you are asking to forcibly extradite him?"

Mr. Jerome: "We shall probably contend before Your Honor this—that there are three questions, there being no contention that the statutes, as I understand it, either of New York or New Hampshire, are unconstitutional; that the door is closed to Your Honor's investigation except on three questions."

The Court: "Well, is it closed?"

Mr. Jerome: "That is what we shall contend."

The Court: "Is it closed when one sovereign State asks another sovereign State to forcibly seize a man and carry him across the line to another jurisdiction? Is any question closed?"

Mr. Jerome: "If we understand the decision, the Supreme Court of the United States, in the Pierce case—in the 207 U. S. we think it is—we think all that will be open for Your Honor's investigation will be 'Is he charged with crime?' 'Was he in the State at the time of the commission of the crime' and 'Is he the person mentioned?'"

Court Asks for Precedents.

The Court—I think you are perfectly correct in that proposition as a general one, but when the papers show that one is charged with a criminal act and that that act is involved in and solely grounded on the escape from a warrant which holds him as an insane person, have you cases which hold that he would be extradited as a criminal?

Mr. Jerome—We have cases that hold, as you have in the Federal jurisdiction, that an insane man is held to criminal responsibility.

The Court—Well, the papers show that he was held under insane process. I don't use the exact words, but that is the idea. It is in the record somewhere, if it isn't (I think it is) in the petition. Now, there is really no question for further discussion, except as it may arise as to what further should be done. But I will say that counsel on both sides had better examine cases which involve indictments and trials of issues of mental capacity and see how far they apply to similar questions involved in extradition proceedings where one State is asking another to exercise its authority for removal to another jurisdiction.

Thaw, in the joint custody of Marshal Nute and Sheriff Drew, arrived here shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, having left Colebrook at 6:18. Thaw remained in the smoking car throughout the trip. Crowds greeted him at every station. Sitting by an open window, he made it a point to lean out and talk with the idlers.

About 800 persons, including a musical comedy company, in town for the night, swarmed around Thaw at the station here. Some one shouted "Hooray for Thaw!" but the cry was not taken up.

Ex-Gov. Stone remains here with Thaw, but all of the other attorneys have left, realizing that no new move can be made until after the extradition hearing at Concord.

MOTHER TO BE WITH THAW.

Rooms for Her and Carnegies Reserved for Concord Hearing.

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 16.—Mrs. William C. Thaw, mother of Harry K. Thaw, had reserved a suite of rooms at a local hotel for use to-morrow and on succeeding days, but on account of the postponement to Sept. 23 of the extradition hearing before Gov. Felker it was understood to-night that Mrs. Thaw would not arrive until next week. She will be accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Carnegie, and the latter's husband.

Gov. Felker was very willing to change the date of the hearing to-day when the suggestion was made by counsel for Thaw and for the State of New York, as the Governor is busy at present trying cases as an attorney in the courts of Strafford County. His desk here continues to pile up with correspondence on the Thaw case, largely from sympathizers with Thaw. Much of it must go unanswered, the Governor's secretary said to-day.

TO DROP THOMPSON CASE.

Canada Won't Prosecute Chauffeur Who Helped Thaw Escape.

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—Lawyers interested in the prosecution of "Gentleman" Roger Thompson, the chauffeur who drove the big black touring car in which Thaw escaped from Matteawan, announced to-day that it had been practically agreed to drop the charges against him. Thompson's case comes up in Sherbrooke next Thursday, and it is believed that he will be discharged.

The charge against Thompson is that of aiding an insane person to enter Canada by stealth. With Thaw out of the country there is little interest in the case of the chauffeur.

WIDE CAMPAIGN FOR THAW.

Petitions Sent Broadcast Asking President to "Liberate" Him.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—A Bostonian whose identity is concealed to-day began the circulation in every State in the Union of a petition to President Wilson urging freedom for Harry K. Thaw. A detective agency is acting as agent for the mysterious friend of Thaw.

A thousand petitions are being sent out as the opening of the campaign. They read that the petitioners, "knowing in a general way the circumstances relating to Harry K. Thaw, do respectfully petition you as the Chief Executive of our nation to give him his liberty and overrule law technicalities whereby he would be imprisoned any longer. As you are well aware, 90 per cent. of our citizens seem to be favorable toward his liberation, and think that the punishment that he has already received is ample for the crime that he committed."

This petition first will be presented to the Governors of the States, who in turn will present it to the President.

$650,000 NECKLACE FOUND BY WORKMAN

ONLY FOUR PEARLS MISSING

Finder Saw Parcel Thrown Away—Thought Contents Marbles, and Offered to Sell Them for 4 Cents.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—In circumstances even more remarkable than its loss, the famous pearl necklace was recovered to-day. The pearls, worth $650,000, were found lying in the gutter in a road in Highbury, North London, by a workingman named Augustus G. Horne. He picked them up on his way to work this morning. A reward of $50,000 was offered for the recovery of the pearls last July.

To-day's incidents are so extraordinary as to be almost incredible. The accounts of Horne and the police are that Horne thought he saw a man put something in the gutter near a lamppost. The man walked away, and Horne picked up a parcel which contained the pearls.

At first, it is stated, he did not realize the nature of his find, and, calling at a neighboring saloon, offered to dispose of what he had decided to be "marbles" for 2 or 3d. He told how he had become possessed of the "marbles," and was urged to take them to a police station.

Horne even then did not realize his good fortune. After giving the police his name and address he went about his business.

A police official on opening the parcel found fifty-eight pearls, some strung on white silk and others loose. An examination showed that they corresponded to the official list of those forming the famous necklace.

In order that there should be no mistake regarding the genuineness of the pearls an officer was dispatched to a local jeweler with three or four of the gems. The jeweler immediately pronounced them genuine.

Scotland Yard was then communicated with, and the pearls, carefully wrapped in cotton-wool, were sent there. A hurried message was sent to Max Mayer, the owner of the pearls, but for some time he could not be found. Another expert was called in and subjected each pearl to a minute scrutiny, pronouncing all of them to be of the finest quality and in every way identical with those which formed the stolen necklace.

In the meantime Mayer had arrived. The most cursory examination on his part left no doubt that the pearl necklace had been recovered almost entirely. Sixty-four pearls were stolen—sixty-one in the necklace and three loose. Of those found, fifty-seven belonged to the necklace and the other was one of the loose pearls.

Two of the stolen pearls have been produced at the Bow Street Court in connection with the proceedings against the men now in custody—four, therefore, are still missing.

When the real value of the pearls became known efforts were made to find Horne, but not until after some time were the police successful in their quest. It is understood that Horne is able to give certain valuable information respecting the person whom he saw near a lamppost a few moments before he found the parcel.

The pearls are in no way damaged. They are in as good condition as when they were dispatched to London from Paris.

The police had for some weeks been confident of the ultimate recovery of the necklace in its entirety, but to-day's discovery, it is stated, was totally unexpected. Their investigations, however, had reached such a stage that at any moment a successful coup might have been made.

It is thought that the persons in possession of the necklace realized that the police net was slowly but surely closing around them, and in order to stave off arrest as long as possible, determined on the desperate course of "losing" the pearls which they had taken so much trouble to procure. The method of their "loss" was calculated for their rapid discovery.

The official account of the discovery of the pearls in the gutter does not tally with a statement by ex-Supt. Leach, who has been engaged in inquiries on behalf of the underwriters. Asked how the pearls were found, he declined to say, but remarked that it might be taken as incorrect that they were picked up in a gutter.

There was wild excitement at Lloyd's when the announcement was made that the pearls had been found. For the first time in history the famous Lutine Bell, which is tolled to announce the safety of a missing ship, was rung to indicate the finding of such an object as a necklace. The members raised a mighty cheer, and many men danced in sheer joyousness of spirit. It was as exciting a scene as had been witnessed at Lloyd's for many a year.

It is said that the necklace was insured for £130,000, ($650,000,) spread over most of the non-marine underwriters in the building.

The question how much Horne will receive of the $50,000 reward is arousing speculation. According to the notice issued by Scotland Yard the reward would be paid "to such person who gives information which will lead to the conviction of the thief or thieves and the recovery of the stolen property." The point, therefore, arises whether the payment of the reward is dependent upon the conviction of the arrested persons. Should the reward be paid in proportion to the number of pearls recovered the finder is entitled to about $40,000.

It is understood that no claim was made to-day by the finder of the necklace for the reward, but the attitude of the underwriters was that they would certainly stand by the terms of the offer.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—A. G. Horne is a workman in a piano factory.

He informed the police that the pearls that he found to-day were carelessly wrapped in a piece of tissue paper. He said he first passed them by, as he thought the package was merely a ball of crumpled waste paper. He kicked it with his foot, and felt something inside, and then decided to take a closer look, with the result that he found that the package contained the pearls.

The famous $650,000 pearl necklace, pronounced by an expert to be the finest he had ever seen, was composed of graduated pearls weighing 1,250 grains, the middle pearl alone weighing forty-seven grains. The string was fastened together by a small diamond snap.

It was shipped from Paris by registered mail on July 18 to Max Mayer, a London dealer, and was reported to be destined ultimately for a rich American then at his London residence. The packet was packed by Henri Salamons, Mr. Mayer's representative in Paris, and when it was delivered to the London dealer appeared to be intact. Even the postal seals appeared not to have been disturbed, but when Mr. Mayer opened it he found the necklace gone and in its place some pieces of loaf sugar.

At noon on July 17 Mr. Salamons received a telegram from Mr. Mayer reading: "Box arrived but no necklace." He at once telephoned to London, but the wires were working badly, and Mr. Salamons rushed to the Gare du Nord and caught the afternoon train for London.

From the fact that the pieces of lump sugar were cut in the way usual in France it was at first deduced by the police that the pearls had been extracted from the packet before leaving that country, but later it occurred to the detectives working on the case that the thieves might purposely have resorted to that subterfuge.

It was known that a band of international diamond stealers was in Paris during the week in which the necklace was mailed, and the police, who were notified of their presence, kept a sharp watch upon their movements. Two of them suddenly left Paris.

In addition to the necklace the case contained two drop pearls of 94¼ grains and a round pearl of 27 grains. The contents of the packet were insured for more than $600,000 at Lloyd's under what is known as a "block" policy, often issued in the case of jewelry, the underwriters accepting all the risks of fire, burglary, or theft, and also the risks of transit. After the loss was discovered a reward of $50,000 was offered by the underwriters for the recovery of the gems.

On Aug. 28 a statement was made that the robbery was the work of a gang of thieves who were holding the necklace for ransom. The story was at first discredited, but was tested in various ways, and as a result, Mr. Price, assessor to the Lloyd underwriters, left London for Berlin with power to negotiate for the recovery of the pearls, the thieves or their representatives being supposed to be in the German capital.

All the while a merry dispute had been waging between the French and English police, Scotland Yard informing the French police that the English authorities were convinced that the robbery had taken place in France, while the French police informed Scotland Yard that they were equally certain the theft had been perpetrated in England.

On Sept. 2 five men were arrested in London in connection with the theft. Three were arrested at the British Museum "tube" station and the others in Hatton Garden, the centre of the London diamond trade. Evidence gathered by the police indicated that the men arrested were members of a criminal organization with wide ramifications.

ANOTHER RAILWAY STRIKE IN ENGLAND

3,500 Men in Liverpool and 4,000 in Birmingham Have Quit Work.

FREIGHT TIE-UP EXPECTED

London Omnibus and Tube Men to Strike Unless Their Union Is Recognized.

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The country is again threatened with a great railway strike, and Liverpool, as before, will be the storm centre.

The trouble began with the refusal of the Liverpool dockers to handle freight from Dublin, where the transport workers are on strike. Men to the number of 3,500 employed in the freight yards of the various railways went out this afternoon, and were joined later by 4,000 at Birmingham.

That a complete freight tie-up is expected on the London & North Western Railway Company's lines is indicated by a warning issued by the Cunard officials to homeward-bound Americans to carry all their baggage with them on the boat trains.

The Liverpool workers struck without the sanction of the railway unions, and lack of support may prevent a national strike on the railways, but, as other big centres are involved, the outlook is ominous. The only hopeful feature is the appointment of a committee of strikers to negotiate with the companies.

At Dublin the deadlock continues. Vast crowds gathered in the streets to-night, but there was only one riot, which resulted in the smashing of the windows of street cars.

The Omnibus Drivers' Union here adopted a resolution to-night calling out all the employes of the transport combine, which includes practically all the motor 'bus line and tube railways, unless drivers discharged for wearing the union badge are immediately reinstated and the union is recognized.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 16.—Thirty-five hundred workers at the docks and at the various railway stations here struck work to-day in sympathy with several of their comrades, who were discharged yesterday for refusing to handle Irish goods.

All the railway stations and the Northern docks were thus made idle, and great piles of goods, including large amounts of provisions, which are badly needed in Dublin and other parts of Southern Ireland, have accumulated in the yards.

In the other sections of the docks the men continued at work, urging that a strike had not been ordered by their leaders.

DUBLIN, Sept. 16.—Over 10,000 men have joined in the strike movement started by the transport workers here, and the building and other trades are greatly affected.

It is estimated by the men's leaders that unless peace between the men and the employers is soon reached, 6,000 more men will be thrown out of work, as their labor depends on that of the men who have struck already.

There is considerable suffering among the poorer classes both here and in other towns of the south of Ireland, owing to the rise in the prices of foodstuffs brought about by the lack of transport facilities.

A number of vessels laden with commodities are lying here, unable to discharge their cargoes.

JUSSERAND AIDING FAIR.

Ambassador Expects a Fine French Exhibit at San Francisco.

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Much attention to the question of French participation in the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915 is being paid by Jean J. Jusserand, French Ambassador to the United States, during his vacation in France. He has called on a number of important persons and possible exhibitors in half a dozen of the largest French provincial cities.

The Ambassador is convinced that the French exhibit will be representative of the best that France can show. It is intended that everything shall be distinctive either for its great value or its cheapness, its artistic quality, or its novelty, so that nothing shall be commonplace.

One of the historic buildings in France is to be reproduced in the exposition grounds and will serve to house the exhibit. It has not yet been decided which of these will be chosen. Several are under consideration, any of which would be unique and interesting.

M. Jusserand intends to sail for America on Oct. 4 on board the Savoie. He is now in Paris on business connected with his embassy.

SOO LINE GAINS LARGELY.

Wisconsin Central, Too, Reflects Northwest Prosperity.

The Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie earned in net operating revenue in the fiscal year ended on June 30 $9,165,545, an increase of $1,131,289. The surplus left after paying taxes and meeting fixed charges was $5,527,415, a gain of $1,303,000, and the equivalent of 18.42 per cent. on the common stock when the preferred dividend had been deducted. Last year the common shares were entitled to 13.26 per cent. of the surplus.

President Pennington informed stockholders in the annual report that the substantial increase of income, while partially due to the unusual grain crop of 1912, reflected also the growth and general prosperity of the Northwest.

The Wisconsin Central, a subsidiary of the Soo, reported net corporate income amounting to $1,093,350, an increase of more than $500,000 over the previous year.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS AGAINST A STRIKE

IS REGARDED AS HOPELESS

Dr. Liebknecht Declares That a Political Strike at the Present Moment Would Be a Catastrophe.

JENA, Sept. 16.—The general strike as a political weapon, in the way in which it was employed last April in Belgium, and earlier in France and Russia, was the subject of a warm and extended debate by the Socialist Convention here to-day. The plan found comparatively few friends as a measure for immediate use, and the debate ended in the defeat of the Radicals' resolution in favor of a strike by 240 votes to 150.

The debate was due to the failure of the Socialists to gain substantially at the last elections for the Prussian Diet and the evident impossibility of their doing so under the existing conditions of the Prussian franchise.

The radical section of the Social Democratic Party demanded to-day that the Germans should start a fight on similar lines to those which, it was asserted, had been successful in Belgium.

A resolution introduced by the Central Committee, which approved in principle of such a step, but held that the time was not ripe for it, was adopted. It was supported by prominent leaders, such as Eduard Bernstein, Georg Ledebour, Philipp Scheidemann, Euard David, and Dr. Karl Liebknecht. The last named declared that a "political strike" at the present moment would be a catastrophe.

Herr Bernstein and others recalled the unsuccessful strike of the Swedish workmen in 1909, which cost the Social Democratic Party in Sweden half its members. Herr Bernstein said that, arguing from the number of Belgians who took part in the recent strike there, it would be necessary to call out 2,500,000 or 3,000,000 Germans to achieve the very moderate degree of sucess attained by the Belgians, and this was evidently impossible.

Herr David said he would approve of such a strike if by its means they could only succeed in amending the Prussian franchise, but this was impossible. He said the 4,500,000 Socialist voters would be confronted by the 8,000,000 non-Socialists, including 1,000,000 workmen, as well as the whole power of the police and troops, and the strike therefore would be surely and lamentably defeated.

Herr Ledebour and Dr. Liebknecht derpanded that the masses should be familiarized with the idea of the general strike, so that it could be launched later as a surprise bolt against the ruling classes.

Rosa Luxemburg, the well-known woman Socialist, led the radical forces in the convention, but confined herself chiefly to assailing her opponents.

BULGARS AGAIN GIVE WAY.

Kirk-Kilisseh to be Turkish and Northern Frontier of Thrace Moved.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 16.—The Bulgarian peace delegates to-day finally surrendered to Turkish pressure and formally consented that the town of Kirk-Kilisseh remain in Ottoman hands.

The Turks also succeeded in having the future frontier of the Province of Thrace moved considerably to the northward, as it was agreed that the Black Sea limit to Turkish territory should be between Inlada and Hagios-Stefano, to the northeast of Adrianople, instead of Midia, as originally proposed.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

TOULOUSE, Sept. 16.—Capt. D. von Winterfeldt, Military Attache of the German Embassy to France, while following the French Army manoeuvres near here to-day was thrown violently against a tree owing to an automobile accident and was seriously injured.

Merrilie has dreaming eyes beneath her fluffy hair.
She is in society,
Pretty witty Merrilie,
But she has a fighter's grit beneath her pensive air.

"Wall Street's in a panic, bears are smashing steel,
Waving hands and maddened shouting makes the senses reel.

SCIENTISTS DISCUSS THE ORIGIN OF LIFE

Sir Oliver Lodge Reiterates His Belief That It Does Not Arise in Matter.

NEW WORK FOR MME. CURIE

She Goes Back to Paris to Test a Theory Regarding Radio-Activity Suggested to Her in England.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 16.—The members of the British Association to-day pursued the question, discussed by Sir Edward Schäfer in his presidential address last year, of the origin of life. Many differences of opinion were revealed in the debate, but on one point there was complete agreement—that we are no nearer a solution of the problem than we were a thousand years ago.

Prof. Bernard Moore of Liverpool began the debate, announcing that he believed he had found the first step in organic evolution. The whole world of plants and animals, he said, depended for the continuance of the synthesis of organic compounds from inorganic on the green coloring matter of the plant, acting as a transformer of light and energy into chemical energy.

In considering the origin of life, said Prof. Moore, a start must be made in the purely inorganic world, possessing no trace of organic matter, either plant or animal. He detailed how, by taking colloids together with water and carbon dioxide in the presence of uranium salt, formaldehyde would be obtained. Formaldehyde he described as the simplest organic structure, and to it, he said, he had traced the first step in the evolution of life.

Sir Oliver Lodge was the first critic. He described Prof. Moore's formaldehyde as potential living matter, adding:

"When you have got potential living matter life makes use of it. What life is I do not know. I suppose, were it provided with parents and passed on, formaldehyde would not be the origin of life, but a physical and chemical vehicle which can be made use of by life."

Prof. H. E. Armstrong, the famous chemist, said he was not for one moment prepared to accept Prof. Schäfer's contention that it was probable, even possible, that they would ever arrive at the chemical production of life. The word "colloid," which was so often used in these discussions, was, like so many words, used only to wrap up ignorance.

Mme. Curie has hurried back to Paris to undertake a task which is a direct result of the Birmingham meeting. Prof. Soddy, describing the nature of this task to-day, said that there were about a hundred types of radio-active matter or elements so-called. Mme. Curie and others had discovered that these were not by any means stable or unsplittable. They gave off power, warmth, and electricity, for example, and this meant that they were inwardly changing or breaking down. Radium was the most famous and important of these radio-active substances because it was the only one that could be obtained in sufficient bulk and lived long enough.

The trouble, Prof. Soddy added, was that no one could find any chemical difference between the part that was energetic and the part that was idle, and so the two could not be separated. For instance, lead and radio-lead ought to be quite separable, in Prof. Soddy's opinion. Mme. Curie does not think so, and at Prof. Soddy's suggestion she is going to find out which is right.

Mme. Curie is the possessor of a whole gramm of radium, which is more than any one else possesses except the Austrian Government. She means to find out by methods chiefly spectroscopic that the two parts are chemically different.

Prof. Soddy, referring in an address to-day to the old alchemists' endeavor to transmute metals, declared that it was quite within the region of possibility to change, say, lead into gold. It had not yet been done by man because it had not yet been feasible to work with electricity at a sufficiently high potential. The limit at present was 100,000 volts.

Prof. Soddy maintained that a potential ten times as great would suffice.

BIRMINGHAM, Sept. 16.—At the joint meeting of several sections of the British Association to-day the debate on "The Origin of Life" attracted a great audience. The discussion was animated.

Sir Oliver Lodge, President of the association, refused to accept the title given to the debate, declaring that the meeting was not discussing the origin of life at all, but a laboratory synthesis of some material that might possibly become endowed with what is called life.

"I regard life itself," said Sir Oliver, "as something not of the same order as matter, but of a higher and different order. By having a molecule sufficiently complex, sufficiently unstable, and supplied with the energy of sunlight, you have apparently the physical and chemical substratum for the operations of life; you have potential living matter.

"I do not say that we have that potential living matter yet—that will be a great achievement—but I have little doubt that it may be done."

'ARMY' OF 100,000 READY IN ULSTER

Unionists Expect This Force Will Be Doubled When Recruiting Is Completed.

ANOTHER VISIT BY CARSON

He Will Inspect Volunteers—Final Arrangements for Provisional Government to be Discussed.

BELFAST, Sept. 16.—Sir Edward Carson, the leader of the Irish Unionists, landed in Ireland to-day with the object of inspecting the volunteer army which is being raised in Ulster to support the provisional Government which, it is said, is to be brought into existence if the Home Rule bill becomes law.

The Ulster army is said to be thoroughly organized and already to have attained a strength of about 100,000 men, which number, it is expected by the leaders, will be nearly doubled when recruiting has been completed.

The Irish Unionist leader intends to spend a week in Ulster in company with his lieutenants, with whom he will visit the various corps which have been formed by drilled men of the Unionist clubs and Orange lodges.

The climax of Sir Edward's visit is to be on Saturday, when he has arranged to inspect the Belfast Unionist Corps.

In the course of the week a number of private meetings of the Ulster Unionist Council will take place in order to complete the arrangements for the provisional government which it is purposed eventually to establish.

There seems to be little hope of a general conference between the various parties on the question of home rule, although the possibility of the holding of an open conference on the subject of Irish government as a whole is still canvassed.

SLAIN IN COURT OF HONOR.

German Chamberlain Shot by Heinrich Maass, Well-Known Painter.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Military and artistic circles were greatly shocked to-day by the news that a cavalry officer ad honorary Court ofifcial belonging to the reserve, Capt. Lothar von Westernhagen, had been shot dead in the Landwehr Officers' Club by a well-known portrait painter, Prof. Heinrich Maas.

Maas had just left a court of honor which had been inquiring into a quarrel between the two men, and when descending the club stairs was met by Capt. von Westernhagen, who was going up to be examined by the committee. Angry words were exchanged, referring, it is said, to a newspaper article which von Westernhagen believed that Maas instigated.

Finally von Westernhagen struck Maas in the face. The latter thereupon drew a small pocket pistol and fired the bullet entering the other's heart. The wound was immediately fatal.

Maas asserts that he acted in self-defence, and as this view was accepted by the police he was set at liberty. Maas further asserted that lately he had been obliged to carry a revolver, owing to threats leveled at him by von Westernhagen.

The article which caused the quarrel alleged that von Westernhagen acquired his title of Chamberlain of the principality of Lippe-Detmold by illicit methods. It also alleged that he prosecuted to the verge of ruin an impoverished nobleman who agreed for $500 and a promissory note of an amount which was not stated, to obtain for von Westernhagen the coveted honor. The Captain persecuted his would-be benefactor and his wife, who in the mean time had raised the money on a note. The painter said he had nothing to do with the article.

VOTES FOR DUTCH WOMEN.

New Cabinet Announces Bill Will Be Introduced Without Delay.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 16.—There is every indication that women will soon have the parliamentary franchise in Holland, as, in the speech from the throne delivered at the opening of the States General to-day, the new Cabinet announced its intention of granting the vote to women.

The speech from the throne says that a bill is to be introduced removing the Constitutional obstacles in the way of granting the suffrage to women. The same bill will revise the Constitution in such a way as to extend the parliamentary franchise to all male Dutch subjects on reaching a certain age, with exceptions to be determined later.

The bill is to be prepared without delay.

ROADS CONTROLLED BY TRUSTS, MEN SAY

Arbitrators Told That Only 17 of the 57 Eastern Lines Are Really Independent.

SIX SYSTEMS RULE THE REST

Can Operate Them at a Loss to Swell Profits of Controlling Lines, Dr. Warne Points Out.

F. J. Warne, the economist and statistician employed by the conductors and trainmen to prepare figures in support of the contention that their wages should be advanced, took up before the Arbitration Board yesterday the subject of the control of many of the roads in the eastern territory by others, resulting in their segregation into a few groups or systems.

"Stock ownership among the railroads," said Dr. Warne in commenting upon the facts shown in his tables and charts, "has the natural result of grouping into systems more than two-thirds of the fifty-seven roads in the eastern territory upon which the conductors and trainmen have made requests. As the result of intercorporate ownership of stock we have in the eastern territory six great systems, not including the Reading, which latter is practically subsidiary to two of the other systems. These six are the New York Central, the New Haven, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore & Ohio, the Erie, and the Chesapeake & Ohio.

How the Roads Are Welded.

"Of the fifty-seven roads the New York Central controls fourteen through majority ownership, joint ownership, or lease, not including its own line, the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad. Nor do these fourteen include its control, through the Lake Shore, of 21.7 per cent. of the Reading Company stock, which, with an equal amount owned by the Baltimore & Ohio system, virtually gives joint control of the Reading.

"The New Haven controls, through majority ownership, joint ownership, and lease, six of the fifty-seven roads, not including its own line—the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

"The Pennsylvania controls six of the fifty-seven, not including its own line—the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"The Baltimore & Ohio controls four of the fifty-seven, not including its own lines, nor what is virtually joint control over the Reading system, which the Baltimore & Ohio exercises with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern of the New York Central system through the two controlling together 43.4 per cent. of the stock of the Reading Company. The Reading Company itself controls two very important railroads—the Philadelphia & Reading and the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

"Exclusive of its own line, the Erie system controls one of the fifty-seven roads.

"Three others of the fifty-seven are controlled by the Chesapeake & Ohio, these including the Kanawha & Michigan, over which it exercises joint control with the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern through the ownership by each of 44.7 per cent. of its capital stock.

Only 17 of the 57 Independent.

"Only seventeen of the fifty-seven roads are independent of stock ownership by or in other roads of the fifty-seven; only fourteen are independent of any intercorporate relationship; and among the remaining companies there exists an extensive system of intercorporate ownership of stock.

"This intercorporate ownership of stock exists not only within the system but between the systems. This is important, because it furnishes the basis of an even more extensive scheme of interlocking Directors among these roads.

"The New York Central system owns directly into the stock of the New Haven system, and indirectly, through the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, into the stock of the Reading system; the Pennsylvania system owns directly into the stock of the New Haven and Baltimore & Ohio systems, (also indirectly into the Baltimore & Ohio system through ownership by the Pennsylvania Company of Baltimore & Ohio stock;) and the Baltimore & Ohio owns directly into the Reading system. The New York Central and New Haven systems jointly own a majority of the stock of the Rutland; the New York Central and Chesapeake & Ohio systems own jointly the Kanawha & Michigan; the New York Central system controls 45 per cent. of the stock of the Dayton & Union, a majority of whose stock the Baltimore & Ohio system controls; the New York Central system controls 21.7 per cent. and the Baltimore & Ohio system an equal proportion of the Reading system.

"This discussion of the intercorporate relations of the railroads is limited to those roads where there is ownership by another road of a clear majority of stock, although attention is called to instances where two or more roads or systems together own a majority of stock and thus exercise joint control.

Some Controlled by Minorities.

"While this discussion does not treat of the control of one railway corporation by another where the amount of stock owned is less than 50 per cent., there are not wanting instances where minority holdings in reality give control. Where this minority ownership is divided among two or more railroads, a practice which has become more or less extensive, mutual interest results in uniformity of action.

"In this way systems have been able to determine the policy of other systems, such as the case of the New York Central and the Pennsylvania in relation to the Reading system, and of the Pennsylvania in connection with the Pennsylvania Company in the relation of the Pennsylvania system to the Baltimore & Ohio system. In this way an understanding or alliance has been brought about among all the railway systems in the Eastern territory.

"This intercorporate relationship among the railroads in the Eastern territory is a very important factor affecting nearly all the issues involved in the requests of the conductors and trainmen for higher wages and improved conditions of employment. It dominates and determines nearly every important question affecting the railroads and the public. Its ramifications are so intricate and bewildering that it is not always possible to secure a clear perspective of its far-reaching effects. By it railway companies having a legal individuality are welded and held together in highly centralized systems.

Results in Traffic Control.

"One of the results is that although the requests of the conductors and trainmen are made upon fifty-seven separate and distinct railway companies, they are actually requests upon a very few great systems. Many railway corporations that legally are independent, economically are dependent and are mere parts of a larger whole.

"The effects of the systems of intercorporate stock ownership and interlocking directors are far-reaching. Not the least in importance is that of controlling traffic and in consequence determining the earnings of the roads. How significant this is can be seen by a study of the exhibit showing the amount of the total tonnage of the roads in the Eastern territory which originates on other roads.

Dr. Warne also presented statistics on the increased cost of living, as gathered by the Department of Labor. Prices of fifteen staple articles on Feb. 15, 1913, were compared with the average prices in the ten years 1890 to 1899.

"Sugar alone shows a decline," said Dr. Warne, "and that is 4 per cent. The other articles show advances ranging from 29 per cent. for potatoes to 112 per cent. for bacon. Eleven of the fifteen articles advanced in price more than 50 per cent."

Dr. Warne will continue the exposition of his charts to-day.

MAY BE A CONTEST OVER 'BIG TIM'S' WILL

His Adopted Daughter Is Not Named in the Document Filed for Probate.

FORTUNE PUT AT $2,000,000

Referred In Will to "Beloved Wife," from Whom He Lived Apart and Who Died a Year Ago.

The will of Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan was filed for probate in the Surrogates' Court yesterday afternoon, a few hours after its provisions had been read to the testator's relatives in the office of the estate's attorneys, Ellison & Ellison, at 165 Broadway. The document was drawn up on Oct. 6, 1907, more than five years before "Big Tim" was adjudged an incompetent. It was witnessed by Henry J. Goldsmith and Timothy P. Sullivan, and names Patrick H. Sullivan and Lawrence Mulligan as executors.

This is the will in full:

In the name of God, amen.

I, Timothy D. Sullivan of the City, County, and State of New York, Borough of Manhattan, being of sound and disposing mind, memory, and understanding, and being conscious of the uncertainty of life, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be my last will and testament, in the manner following, that is to say:

(1.) I direct my executors, hereinafter named, to pay and discharge all my just debts and funeral expenses so soon after my decease as may conveniently be done.

(2.) I give, devise, and bequeath all the rest, residue, and remainder of my estate, real and personal and mixed, of every kind, name, and nature and description, and wheresoever situate, unto my sisters, Margaret Hickey and Mary Ann Sommers, and my brothers, Patrick H. Sullivan and Lawrence Mulligan, to have and to hold unto them forever.

(3.) If either of my said sisters or brothers shall have become deceased prior to my death, I give the share to which either of them might have been entitled to under this, my last will and testament, to the children of such as may have become deceased. If, however, they or either of them shall have become deceased, leaving no issue, I direct and hereby give, devise, and bequeath such share to the survivor or survivors of my aforesaid devisees.

(4.) In making no provision in this, my will, for my beloved wife, Helen Sullivan, I am mindful of the fact that such dower right as my said wife may be entitled to in the real estate of which I may die seized will be amply sufficient to provide for her for the remainder of her life.

(5.) I hereby nominate, constitute, and appoint my brothers, Patrick H. Sullivan and Lawrence Mulligan, the executors of this, my last will and testament.

(6.) I hereby revoke any and all former wills by me at any time heretofore made.

In witness whereof, I, Timothy D. Sullivan, the testator, have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my seal this 6th day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seven.

TIMOTHY D. SULLIVAN.

Mrs. Mary Ann Sommers died in 1912, leaving an estate estimated by the Transfer Tax Appraiser at $4,610. Under the provision of her brother's will covering this contingency her four children, Mrs. Olive Ryan, Irene, Charles S., and Timothy Sommers will each receive 1-10th of the estate.

Mrs. Helen Sullivan, formerly Helen Fitzgerald, whom "Big Tim" married twenty-five years ago but from whom he had been separated for a long time, died about a year ago.

A possible contest over the will is foreshadowed in the fact that Aida V. Sullivan, often described as Congressman Sullivan's adopted daughter, was not mentioned in the document. At the time Congressman Sullivan was adjudged an incompetent it was reported that Aida V. Sullivan threatened to bring suit to have her name included among those legally entitled to an interest in his estate. Although she has so far not submitted any proof of her adoption she is said to have been taken by "Big Tim" from the New York Foundling Hospital in 1892. She is now on a theatrical tour in the West.

Until the filing of the report of the Transfer Tax Appraiser upon the estate no definite estimate of the late Congressman's assets can be made. At the time of the incompetency proceedings each member of the committee of his person and estate was required to furnish a personal bond of $200,000. The general rule in such cases is that the bond shall be one-half of the value of the estate. This would place the property at $400,000, which is generally believed to be far below its actual value.

As owner of interests in many theatrical enterprises and much of New York realty "Big Tim" was supposed to possess a fortune close to $2,000,000. William B. Ellison of the committee of his estate estimated the Congressman's wealth at that figure only a week ago.

FORTUNES GO FOR CLOTHES.

A Few Chicago Women, It's Said, Spend $75,000 a Year.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—There are a few women in Chicago who spend $75,000 a year in personal adornment, according to an estimate submitted at the semi-annual convention of the Chicago Dressmakers' Club to-day. The dressmakers figured that the average factory girl spent $8.84 a week for clothing.

These figures were arrived at by averaging the estimates made by the various delegates. The table reads:

A few, $75,000.
One hundred social leaders, $50,000.
Ten thousand others, $5,000.
Well-dressed clubwomen, $1,500.
The suffragists, $500.
The church workers, $500.
The social workers, $300.
The stenographers, $275.
The shop girls, $250.
The factory girls, $200.

Mme. C. H. Phair, President of the club, asserted that many working girls lost money because they did not know how to make their own clothing.

B. R. T. TO DO WORK FOR THE CITY AT COST

Agrees to Build Brooklyn Subway Connection and Complete Loop Line Without Profit.

18 MONTHS FOR TWO JOBS

Interborough Company Wanted 10 Per Cent. Profit for Work of Similar Character.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company has agreed with the Public Service Commission to undertake certain work in connection with the construction of the new subway system and to charge against the city only the actual cost of the work. This, it was pointed out yesterday, was in marked contrast with the offer made by the Interborough in like circumstances. The Interborough proposed to do certain work of much the same character and asked the commission to permit it to charge as profit whatever percentage of the net cost the commission might hold to be fair. It was understood that the company considered that from 10 to 15 per cent. would be a reasonable charge.

The first piece of work which the Brooklyn Rapid Transit proposes now to undertake is the Thirty-eighth Street connection with the Fourth Avenue Subway. It is necessary to construct this in order to link up with the Fourth Avenue Subway the proposed elevated Coney Island lines by way of New Utrecht Avenue and Gravesend Avenue, which are known as the West End and the Culver Line routes. It will probably take eighteen months before this connection is complete, and it is unlikely that until it is finished the company will be able to provide such a service as to justify a 5-cent fare to Coney Island.

The connecting link will cover the part of the route in Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth Streets, Brooklyn, between Fourth and Tenth Avenues, and will have three tracks which will connect with the four tracks of the Fourth Avenue line. At Ninth Avenue there will be a large junction station, and three tracks will diverge into the West End line along Ninth Avenue. The connecting link will then continue to Tenth Avenue, where it will turn down to make the three-tracked Culver line. Near Fourth Avenue this connecting line will be a subway, and the rest of it will be partly open cut, partly elevated.

The other work, which the B. R. T. wishes to do itself, is the completion of the equipment of the loop line between the Williamsburg and Brooklyn Bridges under Centre Street. This work is similar in many respects to the third tracking and extensions of the Manhattan elevated lines which the Interborough suggested should be undertaken by John F. Stevens at a profit calculated on the amount actually expended on the work. The B. R. T., however, is willing to complete the loop line without any profit.

At the present time only two of the four tracks for which the Centre Street loop was constructed have been equipped. It is now proposed to lay the other two tracks, to connect the loop with the Brooklyn Bridge, to put in certain crossovers and to reconstruct the Williamsburg Bridge station. It will also be necessary to remodel to some extent the station in the basement of the Municipal Building at Chambers Street in order to make provision for the Brooklyn Bridge connection. The whole job will cost about $500,000, and the B. R. T. promises to complete it within eighteen months.

To authorize this arrangement with the B. R. T. a modification of Contract No. 4 will be necessary. The Public Service Commission yesterday authorized the making of this change, and in a few days instruments will be executed making it legal.

SIX ARKANSAS GIRLS SEE THE BIG CITY

In Dances "You Have Nothing on Little Rock," Says Miss Gann.

BUT MEN ARE SO FEW

Genuine Fear That It Will Be Worse In Boston, Where They Go to Study.

Six young women from Arkansas, under the guidance of a chaperone, finished yesterday a sightseeing tour of New York that had continued for five days, and sailed away for Boston on a Sound boat to study music there. Miss Helen Dunaway, who had charge of the party, although she didn't look any older than the others, said that they had seen almost everything that it was proper in New York to see, and that all were sorry to leave. Except herself, none had seen this town before. All in the party, she said, with the exception of herself and one other, are the daughters of wealthy parents, but all were "broke," she said, when they started off yesterday afternoon.

Miss Dunaway's charges are the Misses Beulah Casey, Iri Gann, Mary Watlington, Louise Boone, Lola Doster, and Helen Compton. The impressions of all are not the same. For instance, there is Miss Gann, who was so near being a Missourian that, in her own language, she wanted "to be shown everything." Even then she was not convinced.

"Deah me!" yawned Miss Gann, dropping an "r," as might have been expected, "I thought everything was so much worse than I have found it! Why, of course, I have seen the modern dances here, but then in that you have nothing on Little Rock. Why, there we do the tango and the one-step and the hesitation. And there seems such a dearth of men hereabouts."

"It will be far worse when we get to Boston," warned Miss Dunaway. "There the female population far exceeds the males."

"Heavens!" cried Miss Compton, in mock alarm, "didn't you tell us that going to Boston with you was a sure way of getting a husband?"

Miss Dunaway denied the charge.

"New York lives upstairs," went on Miss Casey. "But I don't mind confessing that I have grown terribly fond of it."

"Nor do I," admitted the cynical Miss Gann. "I'm going to write mamma that she need never expect me to come home again. After I've finished my music in Boston I'm going to locate in New York."

"It's all right getting about without a man," said Miss Watlington, who is said to have a rare fund of negro stories, "except when it comes to carrying a suitcase. So often you can't find a porter."

"We shipped all our trunks by express from Little Rock to Boston, and I was careful to tell the girls to bring along in their bags nothing that was not imperatively necessary; but would you believe it, that girl there," indicating Miss Watlington, "has an extension suitcase, and it has been extended all the time. Serves her right to have to carry it!"

"We are glad we came to New York," broke in Miss Compton. "Now we are afraid that we shall not like Boston. But, of course, we shall come back."

"You can just bet!" was the gist of the remarks that followed this assertion.

FOUR CARS A DAY

There are but two logical methods of building motor cars.

One method is to produce cars in enormous quantities so as to bring the price down as low as possible.

The other method is to produce cars in limited quantities so that each car will be of the highest quality.

Each system has but one real exponent. In a middle Western city, "mass production" enables a good small car to be made and sold at a low figure. In a New England city, "The Best Built Car in America" is produced practically car by car, by the finest mechanics in the world.

One car carries out one ideal, the other a totally different ideal. Both are right. Both are built, not assembled. One company makes 1,000 cars a day, the other company Four Cars a Day. The idea back of one car is to give the most for the money; the idea back of the other is to give the best regardless of price.

The smaller car is turned out like the well-known and worth while "dollar watch." The greater car is built like a Chronometer. Any other car—is a compromise.

The Locomobile now occupies a peculiar position. It is the only high grade car whose sales have increased during the past two years.

This success of the Locomobile is due to the policy of building not more than four cars a day. All of the power and the experience of the Locomobile organization has been concentrated on a limited production.

Years ago we concluded that just so surely as the best cheap car could only be produced in very large number, just so surely could the car of highest quality be produced only in limited quantities.

Our policy from the very start was to build cars in small lots so that each car could have the most intimate attention. When others were increasing their plants and building more cars, we were increasing our quality, striving to make the Locomobile "The Best Built Car in America."

Every Locomobile has been built like every other Locomobile. Every Locomobile has been built with the utmost care. Every Locomobile has been built to carry out the ideal of quality, not a commonplace, commercial ideal.

The Locomobile will be made as it always has been made, in limited quantity—and with unlimited care. (Despite the present demand for the Locomobile and despite any rumor to the contrary, we will not increase our production and make more cars.)

There will always be a demand for the limited number of cars we make. Because we have been building for the future, our plant will always run at capacity, without reducing the quality of our product or price.

PROOF OF MURDER IN HASTINGS WOOD

Bludgeon Used on Victim Was a Silk Sleeve Filled with Rocks —A Blackjack Near.

DEAD FOR SOME MONTHS

Woman in Black Who Visited the Spot Recently Had Been There Before—Police Seek Her.

Special to The New York Times.

HASTINGS-ON-HUDSON, Sept. 16.—The local police authorities announced this afternoon that following an investigation by Coroner Dunn, they were abel to say that the man whose body was found in the undergrowth in the woods at the foot of a cliff above the Hudson, about two miles south of this place, yesterday, was murdered. The autopsy, which was performed this afternoon, showed that his head had been crushed in with a bludgeon of some sort, all the evidence at hand indicating that the weapon was the rock-filled silk shirt sleeve that was found near the body.

Coroner Dunn said that death was caused by a terrific blow on the left side of the head, and this fact leads many to believe that the strange woman in black who visited the body, and by so doing attracted the attention of two little boys, who followed her trail and found the murdered man, did not herself commit the murder, as was at first believed. Only a powerful man, these persons point out, could have delivered such a blow as that which killed this man.

Near the body was found a haf in which was the trade name of Samuel Cassell, 89 Rivington Street, New York. The hat was made by W. Lytton of London, England. Not only do the police incline to the view that the murdered man was probably a New Yorker but they also think that the strange woman in black was also from New York, and that when she boarded a Yonkers bound trolley car yesterday afternoon she did so for the purpose of catching a train for New York. The police have a fairly good description of her, and it was rumored this afternoon that they had found a third person who had seen her and had talked with her during one of her visits to the river side, where the body was found.

The murder was committed at least a month, perhaps months ago, Coroner Dunn says, and it seems almost incredible that the body could have lain so long there. The Amackassin Inn is near by, and less than fifty yards away hundreds of men are at work rebuilding the trolley line between Yonkers and this place. Yet such was the case until the curiosity of the little boys led them to the scene yesterday afternoon. Not a suggestion of foul play or a missing man had come to one of the hundreds of men who were daily near the spot.

The two boys in question, James Frost and James De Carlo, were questioned at length by Coroner Dunnn and the police this afternoon. They reiterated their story of yesterday that the woman was greatly excited when they saw her, and that she was so weak in her agitation that she asked them to assist her in climbing the embankment at the foot of which was the body. She was dressed in deep mourning, and carried a small suitcase. The boys said she was rather pretty and appeared to be an Italian, although she spoke English without a foreign accent. She had a scar about an inch long on the left side of her neck, they said. This scar was very noticeable.

Every effort is now being made to find this woman, for she alone, in the opinion of Sheriff Doyle and the police, can clear up the mystery that now surrounds the murder. Sheriff Doyle advanced the theory that the woman may have been the man's wife, and that she had been visiting the body at intervals for a long time and had failed to report the case to the police through fear of drawing down upon herself the vengeance of the actual murderer or murderers.

There is a fairly worn path from Warburton Avenue, a short distance north of Ammackassin Inn, to the spot where the body was found.

At daylight this morning the police began a search of the woods and bushes. Beyond the finding of the hat and improvised bludgeon no evidence, it was said, was forthcoming. In the bushes and not far from the body was found a blackjack, which may have figured in the murder, although the authorities believe that it was the rock filled sleeve that was used in the assault.

The body was brought here in such a bad state that identification may be made only by means of the clothing. These were a blue serge coat and vest, gray trousers, a tan leather belt, a white negligee shirt with black stripes and black lace shoes. In the pocket of the coat was a red and white silk handkerchief. The victim was of light build and about five feet seven inches tall. The shoes had been resoled a short time before the murder.

The Yonkers police, it was said, had found a motorman of the Warburton Avenue line who thought he had seen the woman in the case several times in the past few weeks. Coroner Dunn also thinks he saw the woman once on a Warburton Avenue car, and that only a few days ago.

Her description has been sent to the New York police, as well as a description of the clothes found on the body of the murder victim.

Sheriff's "Millionaire Jury" Gives Her This Sum for Husband's Death.

Mrs. Mary McDowell, widow of James McDowell, who was run over and killed by an ice wagon at Old Broadway and 130th Street, on July 17, 1911, received an award of $10,000 damages yesterday from Sheriff Harburger's "millionaire jury" for her husband's death. The Sheriff's jury was called to hold an inquest in the case for the assessment of damages, after Timothy J. Sullivan, head of the company operating the ice wagon, had failed to place a defense to the plaintiff's action in the Supreme Court.

Testimony was produced before the jury to show that the negligence of the driver of the ice wagon was responsible for the accident. The jury was composed of C. H. Stout, J. W. Edmonds, N. H. Heyman, E. J. Farrell, George T. Montgomery, J. A. Maguire, David Falk, C. M. Eaton, Charles D. Dickey, T. B. Bisset, M. W. Rayens, and Dexter Blagden.

NEW COLUMBIA CHAIRS.

University to Exchange Professors with Austria and Holland.

Two new exchange professorships have been established between Columbia University and seats of learning abroad, one with Austria and one with Holland, and for the first time the chair in the University of Paris will be filled this year.

G. S. Fullerton, Professor of Philosophy at Columbia, is to lecture at Vienna six weeks in the Fall and six weeks in the Spring, and he will lecture also at Graz, Innsbruck, and other cities. The exchange professor has not yet been appointed.

The Queen Wilhelmina Professorship at Columbia will be filled by Leonard Charles Van Noppen, who will lecture on Dutch literature. No exchange professor for Holland will be appointed this year.

IMPERATOR COMING WITH 4,981 ABOARD

This Includes Crew and Officers, Numbering 1,332—Never So Many Passengers on a Ship.

FOOD SUPPLY TONS AND TONS

59,000 Pounds of Fresh Meat, Venison and Poultry and 48,000 Eggs a Few of Hundreds of Items.

The Hamburg-American liner Imperator will arrive in port this afternoon from Hamburg, via Southampton and Plymouth, with 3,649 passengers on board, the largest number ever carried on any single steamship in any part of the world. Combining this number with her crew of officers and men, numbering 1,332, gives a total of 4,981 souls.

Usually the crew of the liner numbers only 1,180, but, owing to the large number of passengers, she carries 220 extra hands in the stewards' department. There are 859 first, 647 second, 648 third, and 1,495 steerage passengers aboard. Arrangements have been made at the Custom House to have the entire force of Acting Deputy Collectors, Acting Deputy Surveyors, and Inspectors, 250 in all, at Hoboken to-night when the Imperator docks, about 5 o'clock, and there also will be forty Appraisers on duty. At a conservative estimate, passengers in the first and second cabins will average three trunks each, which will give a total of 4,518, with 3,000 pieces of small baggage.

The inclosed square in front of the Hamburg-American Line pier in Hoboken will be filled with 400 automobiles and taxicabs, and outside in the roadway there will be a long line of hacks to carry away the passengers and their baggage.

The office in the Custom House where the dock passes are issued has been jammed since Monday morning with applicants who wish to meet their relatives and friends on the Imperator at the pier. A new regulation made by Collector Mitchel provides that applications for pier passes must be made in writing, giving the name of the passenger, relation to the applicant, and the latter's name and address. The figures given out by the agents of the line yesterday shows that the Imperator on her present voyage carries for the tables on the ship 50,000 pounds of fresh meat, 9,000 pounds of vension and poultry, 9,000 pounds of fresh fish, 6,000 pounds of bread, 1,000 pounds of yeast, 48,000 eggs, 28,000 pounds of fresh vegetables, 13,000 pounds of fresh fruits, 150 cases of lemons and oranges, 1,500 boxes of ice cream, all for this trip to New York only. In addition she carries these stores for the out and home voyages, that is from Hamburg to New York and return: 100,00 pounds of potatoes, 4,400 pounds of onions, 350 barrels of flour of 200 pounds each, 330 gallons of concentrated vinegar, 60 barrels of salt, 550 pounds of mustard, 165 pounds of pepper, 1,500 bottles of fruit, 350 pounds of spices, 27,000 pounds of salt meat, 9,000 pounds of ham and sausages, corned tongues, and bacon; 25 barrels of herrings, 2,000 tins and 100 barrels of preserved fish, 800 pounds of smoked fish, 6,000 pounds of cheese, 1,400 gallons of sterilized milk and cream, 5,200 tins of condensed milk, 5,500 pounds of butter, 6,000 pounds of margarine, 6,000 tins of vegetables, 800 tins of mushrooms, 2,600 pounds of cucumbers, beetroot, pickles, &c.; 1,800 pounds of dried vegetables, 5,500 pounds of sauerkraut and salt haricots, 600 pounds of tinned fruit, 2,200 pounds of orange and plum marmalade, 250 bottles of fruit juices, 11,000 pounds of sugar, syrup, and honey; 5,600 pounds of coffee, 380 pounds of tea, 440 pounds of chocolate and cocoa, 4,400 pounds of rice, sago, somolina, vermicelli, maccaroni, oatmeal, &c., for cabin use; 20,000 pounds of rice, dried peas, and beans, &c., for ship's crew and steerage passengers; 1,600 pounds of biscuits, waffles, &c.

The cellars are stocked with 700 bottles dessert wines, 5,000 bottles hocks and Moselles, 4,500 bottles Burgundy and claret, 3,000 bottles French champagne, 2,100 bottles German sparkling wines, 2,200 bottles brandy, whiskey and other liqueurs, besides 6,000 gallons and 3,000 bottles of beer, 15,000 bottles mineral water, 600 gallons of crew wine and spirits.

About 100,000 cubic feet of storage and refrigerated space is required for the storing of provisions.

Capt. Ruser in his wireless messages said that the Imperator had shown wonderful steadiness in the heavy seas she encountered, and had made good time, although frequently having to slow down for fog. Her runs were 524, 536, 531, and 522 nautical miles daily.

Among the prominent passengers arriving on her to-night are Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Judge Elbert H. and Mrs. Gary, Louis C. Tiffany, Mrs. C. A. Spreckels, William F. Warburton, Mr. and Mrs. Summer Gerard, Mr. and Mrs. George M. Landers, Col. and Mrs. Frank Harvey, and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Cowles.

YOUNG ROWDIES PUT AWAY.

Six Who "Rough Housed" a Dance Sent to the Workhouse.

Charged with rowdyism in a Westchester Avenue amusement park on Monday night, six youths, all under 20, were arraigned in the Morrisania Court yesterday, where Magistrate Levy punished each with a five-day sentence to the workhouse.

"I am going to teach you boys a lesson that you will not forget soon," said the Magistrate. "You went in that park for the purpose of 'rough housing' it, and you had a fine time, no doubt, destroying property and interfering. You threw stones and jeered at the policemen and acted in general much as all loafers do."

A party of young women had possession of the park when the invasion occurred, and they fled when the young men smashed their way in, put out the lights, and hurled pots and pans on the floor of the dancing pavillion. One who appeared to be a ringleader was arrested immediately, and the other five were gathered from the crowd that stoned the police on the way to the station.

The six prisoners said they were Thomas Mackenzie of 155 East 115th Street, Charles H. True of 100 East 119th Street, Arthur Van Weldi of 125 East 119th Street, Lester McLane of 124 East 118th Street, Frank Kantor of 1,364 Madison Avenue, and William Malloy of 806 West 178st Street.

SEEKS GRANT ESTATE TAXES

Controller Appeals from Appraiser's Decision of Exemption.

Thomas E. Rush, attorney for State Controller Sohmer, filed notice yesterday in the Surrogates' Court of an appeal from a decision by Transfer Tax Appraiser Percival E. Nagle that none of the property of Gen. Frederick D. Grant was taxable. Appraiser Nagle held that Gen. Grant was not a resident of New York State, and that property in the form of securities held in a safety deposit vault in this city was not taxable. These amounted to about $100,000.

There was testimony before the Appraiser to show that Gen. Grant, who had been in command of the Department of the East, with headquarters on Governors Island, had resigned shortly before his death, and was contemplating making his home in the District of Columbia. He died at the Hotel Buckingham in this city. His heirs were not acquainted with the legal effect of his intentions when they offered his will for probate in this county, Appraiser Nagle was informed.

Franklin, Vice President of the International Mercantile Marine, were at the pier to see Mr. Morgan away.

WOMAN ABLAZE IN STREET.

Started Fire with Kerosene and May Die of Her Injuries.

Mrs. Frances Burke, 24 years old, of 140 West Thirty-second Street, was fatally burned last evening when kerosene oil, which she was pouring on a wood fire in her home, flared up and ignited her clothing. Her husband is caretaker of the house, which is opposite the employes' entrance to Gimbel Brothers' department store.

Her light clothing ablaze, she ran through the basement door of the house into Thirty-second Street as hundreds of shop girls were leaving the department store. Screaming in terror, she fought her way through the throng and ran toward Seventh Avenue. Two men caught her and smothered the flames by wrapping their coats about her.

She was taken to the New York Hospital, where it was said that her chance of recovery was slight.

COMES FOR BERMUDA TRADE

Steamship Caribbean to Ply Regularly from This Port.

The Royal Mail Steam Packet Caribbean, Capt. R. L. Daniel, R. N. R., commander, arrived yesterday from Southampton, via Bermuda, with 145 first-cabin passengers. She is to remain on this side in the New York-Bermuda service, and leaves at 10 A. M. to-day for Bermuda with 325 cabin passengers.

The Caribbean is 435 feet long, 50 feet beam, of 10,000 gross tonnage, with 7,000 horse power engines, which give her a speed of fifteen knots. She has been equipped specially for the Bermuda trade, with spacious, well-ventilated cabins and rooms with baths, and has a dining saloon which will accommodate 333 passengers at one sitting.

YOU SHOULD VISIT THE NEW APOLLO HOME TO-DAY!

Are You Not Ready to Buy a Player Piano?

Prepare yourself to judge by investigating the Apollo.
Fix these Nine Vital Player Piano Improvements clearly in your mind before you buy.
And REMEMBER, EVERY ONE is patented and exclusive with the Apollo.

1—The Solo Accent, whereby the Melody is properly brought out above the Accompaniment.
2—The touch, "down on the keys," as a musician plays and as a piano should be played.
3—The Metronome motor, whereby the Tempo is separated from the expression and is under absolute control.
4—The Apollo motor rewinds the longest roll without pedaling.
5—The Melody can be played separately at will and the accompaniment omitted.
6—Any portion of a selection can be omitted without pedaling.
7—The Accompaniment only can be played at will and the melody omitted.
8—The Apollo pneumatics are all made of the finest leather and not of rubber cloth, such as others are made. (This is expensive but very important.)
9—The new electric Solo Apollo can be controlled completely by electricity, if you wish, and the pianist's rendition be absolutely reproduced in the roll, or the pedaling can be done electrically and the expression directed by yourself, or you may pedal and control it as with a regular player, or you can play it by hand as you would any other piano—the Marvel of the Player World!

NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1913.

GOLD OR "LAWFUL MONEY."

We have no wish to interfere in the controversy now raging between our neighbors The World and The Sun over the section of the Federal Reserve Bank bill which provides that the United States notes issued through the banks "shall be redeemed in gold or lawful money." It is a very pretty quarrel as it stands. The World, which at first contended that the words "lawful money" had been struck out of the bill, has been convinced to the contrary. The Sun is of the opinion that the words got into the bill by some process of "verbal jugglery," that they were "deliberately interpolated." For the enlightenment of both parties to the discussion we ask the privilege of pointing out that the provision making the notes redeemable in gold or lawful money is borrowed from the National Monetary Commission's bill. Section 52 of that ill-fated measure declares that:

> The circulating notes of the National Reserve Association shall constitute a first lien upon all its assets and shall be redeemable in lawful money on presentation at the head office of the said association or any of its branches.

That section further makes it the duty of the National Reserve Association to maintain the parity of all its circulating notes with the gold standard established by the act of March 14, 1900. When the Owen-Glass bill was introduced, as appears from the first printed draft dated June 26, redemption of the circulating notes was provided for in this wise:

> They shall be receivable for all taxes, customs, and other public dues, and shall be redeemed in gold on demand at the Treasury Department in the City of Washington, District of Columbia, or at any Federal bank.

In the next succeeding printed draft of the bill, issued in August with the actual day of issue left blank and marked "confidential," it was declared that the notes "shall be redeemed in gold or lawful money." The section stands in that form in the printed House draft dated Aug. 29, and in the Senate draft dated Sept. 9. As the bill now reads, therefore, it makes the Federal reserve notes, which are obligations of the United States, redeemable in gold or lawful money on demand at the Treasury Department or at any Federal reserve bank. The public generally may not have taken note of the fact that for redemption in gold has been substituted redemption in gold or lawful money, but the words "lawful money" can hardly be said to have got into the bill by jugglery, they were borrowed from the Aldrich bill.

The Monetary Commission in its report of Jan. 8, 1912, defends the use of lawful money, instead of gold exclusively, for the redemption of notes and the reserves of the banks by this reasoning:

> It has been insisted in some quarters that we should provide that all notes should be redeemed and all reserves held in gold, and gold alone. We believe that no good reason exists for the adoption of this suggestion. The Gold Standard act of 1900 settled finally the question of the standard of value in this country. Prior to that time we had made silver certificates available for the reserves of national banks. By the act of 1900 we made gold certificates available as reserve money. Standard silver dollars and United States notes are legal tender, and can properly be used in reserves. Every dollar of currency which the United States has issued, or for which it is responsible, is to-day of equal value with the gold dollar. We are certain that the American people will not consent to any change in this respect. Practically all the silver certificates are now in circulation in the form of notes of small denominations and therefore not likely to be held to any considerable extent either in the reserves of banks or of the reserve association. Gold certificates are certainly equal to gold.

The reasoning is unsound, and the assumption that the Gold Standard act of March, 1900, justifies the use of "lawful money" in the redemption of the proposed note issues is unsafe. The word "gold" has a definitely fixed meaning which cannot be changed by statute. The words "legal tender," or "lawful money," may at any time be changed in their import and scope by an act of Congress, and we may have so great a volume of lawful money that the suspension of gold payments will be forced upon us. Greenbacks were made a legal tender by the act of Feb. 25, 1862. The silver dollar was a legal tender, although no dollars were in circulation, until the act of 1873 dropped the silver dollar from our list of coins. The act of Feb. 28, 1878, authorized the coining of silver dollars and made them legal tender for all debts public and private, except where otherwise stipulated in the contract. The act of March 14, 1900, made gold certificates available in bank reserves, to which, of course, there could be no objection. The use of silver certificates in reserves had already been authorized. We cite these enactments to show that the words legal tender and lawful money have by no means a fixed significance; their meaning may be varied at the pleasure and the will of Congress.

But it will be said that in future time the money of redemption and reserve, for the Owen-Glass bill provides that the bank reserves also may be kept in gold or lawful money, will be money that was lawful, that was legal tender, at the time of the enactment of the bill, that no future law can have a retroactive effect. That argument will not convince the minds of men old enough to recall the strife that raged in the 70's for the payment of the Government bonds in greenbacks or in silver. Secretary CHASE in 1863 informed Congress that to protect the credit of the Government he had paid some maturing bonds in coin, that is in gold. Ten years later the friends of silver insisted that coin meant silver as well as gold. The construction put upon statutes depends very much upon the men who construe them, and the risk that at some future time changes in the law may add other forms of money to those now made lawful, and that these laws may be construed and applied by men holding views now entertained by the radicals of the House and Senate, is much too serious to be incurred in a matter so vital as the currency. The danger would be very great even if the new notes were made redeemable in gold alone, for being obligations of the Government the Treasury stock of gold would be subject to exhausting drains whenever serious financial troubles arose. The whole stock of these new notes, issued in the discretion of the Federal reserve board without limit as to amount, would be obligations, not of 7,000 member banks, or of 12 reserve banks, exclusively, but of the United States Government. It ought to be as clear as noonday to the men engaged in preparing this bill that the provision for redemption must be made so sure and sound and ample that no doubt can ever arise in the minds of note holders as to the possibility of exchanging them for gold. It is not enough for the Government to pay one debt by another. There is but one satisfactory money of redemption.

MRS. PANKHURST.

We have felt from the first that Mrs. PANKHURST would not be molested by the immigration officers on her arrival in this country next month. The phrase "moral turpitude" covers a great deal, to be sure; smashing windows, destroying the public's mails, knocking the hats of Cabinet Ministers over their eyes, inciting street disturbances, savor of "moral turpitude," nor are all the offenses of this troublesome woman and her silly or vicious followers justly to be regarded as "political." Property of private citizens who have no views whatever in regard to woman suffrage has been burned by the incendiary militants; while Mrs. PANKHURST has publicly proclaimed her responsibility for all crimes of violence committed in the name of the Cause.

Nevertheless, we are inclined to believe that the Federal Government will find a way to avoid needless advertisement of Mrs. PANKHURST'S arrival. It is best to ignore her, unless she commits some crime, when she can be locked up and left to "hunger strike" to her heart's content. There is no militant suffragism here, and the sensible women in the suffrage party deplore Mrs. PANKHURST'S tactics. Any attempt to put her in the light of a martyr for her Cause would be mistaken. She is, after all, an elderly woman, and she can do no harm without a riotous following. As for her talk, it is no wilder or sillier than we hear in this country every day or so, frequently from personages in high places. It does not hurt.

GEN. HUERTA'S MESSAGE.

There is no alarming note in the first message of Provisional President HUERTA to the Mexican Congress. On the contrary, he expressly says that negotiations with the United States Government "have not been "broken off," and that the Mexican Government "hopes, with good "grounds, to see quickly solved the "differences which day by day keep "in suspense that good friendship "which of old united, and for an in-"definite future should unite, us to "our powerful civilized neighbor." He also says, however, that "the strain "of our diplomatic relations with the "Government of the United States, "although luckily not with that peo-"ple," has "retarded the complete pacification of the republic." Considering the signs that have been noted that HUERTA'S following has increased in numbers and strength because of Washington's treatment of him, we must infer that Gen. HUERTA is of a constitutionally gloomy temperament. His intimation that foreign warships will not be expected to remain in Mexican waters after the term of authorization expires, Oct. 25, cannot be construed into a warlike utterance. If it is necessary for the United States to have ships on hand to protect Americans, undoubtedly the Mexican Government will renew its authorization.

The message reveals no new trait of HUERTA'S political character, throws no new light on the internal situation. The idea in the City of Mexico is that only Sonora and Durango are completely in rebel control, but the money recently borrowed through the Mexican banks is to be expended for the enlistment of more troops and the equipment of the army, and all the soldiers and rurales HUERTA can command are needed to suppress the hordes of bandits in many States. A general peace is not visible in Mexico by any means, nor are our international relations less perplexing; but there is encouragement in Gen. HUERTA'S statement that "negotiations have not yet been broken off," which is exactly in accordance with the Washington idea.

POPULAR OPERA.

The beginning of the experimental season of grand opera at popular prices in the Century Opera House has been most encouraging to the promoters of the most promising and best capitalized scheme of its kind ever set afoot in this town. In numbers and in appreciation the first and second audiences have justified the brightest anticipations of the musical enthusiasts who originated this plan to place competent representations of the master works of the lyric stage within the reach of people who feel that opera hitherto has been made either a diversion of the rich or a crude entertainment for the undiscriminating, noisy, ill-balanced and inadequate.

Not a single harsh word has been uttered in criticism of the performance of "Aïda," but, on the contrary, there is general agreement that, both vocally and histrionically, the representation of VERDI'S opera has force and charm, while the stage pictures are appropriate and satisfying. To expect paying audiences a whole week for a work of this kind, appreciation of which demands musical comprehension and some sort of mental concentration as well, is to expect much, but the promoters have not been disappointed in their expectations yet; they have begun with triumph, which is to win half the battle, and they are assuredly justified in their hopeful anticipations.

The season of indoor entertainment is young yet, and competition later on will be harder to contend with, but, in the purely commercial view of theatricals, it is a fact that "attractions" which draw well in September often last profitably through the year. New York, therefore, has cheap opera of a good quality at last, well-appointed and well-housed, with singers equal to their tasks, though there may be no Sembrichs, Carusos or de Reszkes among them. Of this we cannot be sure; some of the young singers of the Century may rank with great stars in the future. That, however, does not signify. The opera is at hand, in good form; the only undecided question is whether a large number of New Yorkers will support, as a permanent attraction, that which they support so eagerly as a novelty.

IRISH HOME RULE.

It is certainly a sign of a grave situation in regard to Irish home rule when Earl LOREBURN, a veteran Liberal, high in the confidence and in the councils of his party, proposes a conference of the leaders of each party to try to solve the problem. From a Unionist such a proposal would have been utterly ignored. From the former High Chancellor and stanch home-ruler it is a frank confession of possible national peril to meet which all party lines should be ignored. The gist of the difficulty is in Ulster. There is no doubt of the power of the Asquith Ministry to enact the Home Rule act. The question Earl LOREBURN really raises is: Can that act be carried into effect without resistance which must be overcome by force, with the practical certainty of civil war and bloodshed in the north? And he summons the leaders of both parties to try to avoid this very terrible issue. The obstacles in the way of the proposed conference are very great. On the one hand, if the Ministry consented to it, they would be obliged in effect to admit that their home-rule scheme, for which they have fought so long and by which alone they have secured their majority in Parliament, is practically a failure. On the other hand, the Unionists, who have steadily fought the very principle of home rule, could not enter a conference without in effect conceding that principle, and this they could hardly do without yielding everything they have contended for for the past score of years.

There are, however, two possible lines on which some sort of working agreement might be reached. One is the consideration by the Government of the amendment of the act so as to permit the "men of Ulster" to remain in the union on the terms now existing. The other is the concession by the Government of an explicit referendum on the bill as it stands. Of these the former is the less feasible, but it is, perhaps, the only plan that would secure the assent of the North of Ireland. The referendum is logical and ought to be fairly practicable. The Unionists would readily be bound by it, for it is in principle what they have contended for for a long time. The Home Rule bill is suitable for the application of the referendum. It is in substance an amendment of the Constitution, as to which a definite and decisive vote of the whole electorate of the kingdom may properly be taken. In the present instance a simple "Yes" or "No" would be all that would be required. If the response were "Yes," the Government would have authority that could not be questioned to proceed to carry out the mandate of the people. If it were "No," the Government would be preserved from the serious error of trying by force to execute a change in the fundamental law which the popular will did not sustain.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Evidently Expect Too Much. A curious variance appears in the wording of the notarial attestations at the end of the reports made by the banks as showing condition "at the close of business on the 9th day of September, 1913." In each case the notary declares that the bank President appeared before him at the time of signing the statement, and, when asked to swear to its truth, answered in the affirmative. In some cases, however, the President's "I do," as recorded by the notary, is followed by the familiar "to the best of my knowledge and belief," while in others it stands alone, without any qualification.

The latter form is the one that excites surprise, for a report of this kind is the collected and condensed result of much work done by a considerable number of men, of whom the bank President himself is not, and in the very nature of the banking business cannot be, one. Obviously he signs, not out of the approach to absolute knowledge which he would have if he kept all of the bank's books himself, but as an expression of his confidence in the honesty and competence of his subordinates. In other words, he cannot reasonably be expected to do more than go on record as offering the report as true to the best of his knowledge and belief.

Yet somebody in the Banking Department evidently has expected more and is endeavoring to establish what is practically an impossible degree of responsibility. For of course the blanks as sent out must have been thus clipped of the old qualification, else would it have appeared in all of them. Certainly none of the Presidents crossed it out, and some of them apparently wrote it in. Those who didn't must have thought that a report with that addition is now held inadmissible by somebody in the department, and concluded that if the department wanted to make an innovation that really changed nothing, as the demand was harmless, it might as well be granted without discussion.

Now, while it is all right to make the responsibility of bank Presidents for what goes on in their institutions as definite and extensive as circumstances permit, it is not advisable to demand of them what they cannot give or to deprive a legal formula of the only significance it can have. That is what seems to have been done in this instance. Moreover, the whole system of notarial attestation would stand some revision. Except as the verification of a signature, it is of no particular value, and little if any good comes from attempts to make it serve other ends, though those same efforts have added a somewhat farcical element to the whole ceremony.

A Notable Figure Disappears. A funeral such as only the East Side can give made a characteristic close for the career of the newsboy who progressed—whether by rising or not is a matter of diverse opinion—to be a millionaire, a lawmaker, and an object of affection and admiration for wonderfully many people of wonderfully many kinds.

The significance of Monday's demonstration as the dead SULLIVAN was carried through the streets where he had so long passed for a man so great is not to be denied, even by those who are least inclined to join in any manifestation of respect for him or to admit the validity of his claim to one. There must have been something large and strong in him—some sincere sympathy with human ills and misfortunes—else would he have been unable to make an appeal so long and so effective to his enormous following.

Presumably he realized as little as did they who confidently sought his aid when in poverty, in sickness, or at odds with the law, that to him and men like him—to the politics and the economics of which such men are at once the cause and the effect—are due in no small measure the conditions out of which arose the cries for help. The recipients of his largesses did not look as deep or as far as that, nor did he. But of course his many charities were all, according to modern ideas, of the very worst sort, since there was nothing of the preventive in them and they merely alleviated misery in a way that on the whole tended to increase rather than to decrease its amount.

The individual beneficiaries knew that he had fed them when hungry, clothed them when cold, and did what he could to save them from the consequences of crimes which they dimly felt they could not help committing. The countenance he received from men of higher standing is not so easily or so creditably explained. They knew more of him than that in his way "he was good to the poor," and yet they were willing to figure at his funeral, and to have their names printed in the papers as sorrowing for his loss. Judges of high courts did this, Senators from Washington and Albany, and representatives of all the learned and honorable professions.

His ancient Church, one noticed, read over him its solemn service for the dead, but provided no eulogist to lengthen the ceremony.

Punishing Nature's Desecrators. GEORGE WINTHROP FOLSOM of Lenox has made public announcement to the merchants of the place that he will buy nothing from such of them as seek to promote trade by means of billboard advertising, and he expresses the hope that others will take the same means of showing that they resent the deliberate intrusion of ugliness into the Berkshire scenery.

As the manifestation of an individual purpose and desire, this is of course entirely legal and much more than defensible aesthetically. The offense which Mr. FOLSOM thus reprehends and endeavors to punish is of more than ordinary gravity in a region like the one where he lives, but it is bad enough anywhere to justify both indignation and action like his.

More and more people are coming to share his antagonism to advertisers who force their wares upon unwilling attention. To use the highways and adjoining fields for a private interest in this particular way is in all probability no longer even "good business," and no other claim has ever been made in its behalf. That a name can thus be made widely familiar is true, but that favor goes with the knowledge is more than doubtful.

OUR RUSSIAN CRITICS.

The Latest One Said to Represent an Anti-Semitic Newspaper.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

THE NEW YORK TIMES of yesterday published on the editorial page an interview with one Michael de Bernoff, a Russian journalist, who says that he is in this country representing the Kievlianine of Kiev. It may be of interest to readers of THE TIMES to know that the paper he claims to represent is known as the organ of the "Black Hundreds" in the south of Russia. Its editor was Pikhno, the notorious anti-Semite and reactionary member of the Council of the Empire, who died recently. The Kievlianine was the first newspaper to publish the infamous blood accusation inciting the Kiev mob against the Jews. It is of course natural for such a representative of the Russian press to say, in the interview published in your paper, that "the Czar is a very kind man," but it is laughable that such a man should criticise American laws and preach morality in this country. Uninformed people may take his views seriously.

From time to time agents of the Russian Government come to this country to tell stories of Russia's humane régime and of her "kind Czar." Thus the head of the Russian prison system came here several years ago and declared that Russian prisons are the best in the world. Then a certain woman, posing as the wife of a member of the Council of the Empire, aired her views on Russia—views which were as ludicrous as they were false. Now comes this "correspondent" of the "Black Hundred" organ Kievlianine, and finds fault with America!

RAILROADS UNDERPAID.

Carry Mail at a Loss, President Brown Told a Schoolboy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Recently letters from Mayors and Governors have been printed, in which, though addressed nominally to boys, the views of those dignitaries on various matters have been set forth. The President of the New York Central, speaking no doubt for himself and all the railroads, did not disdain to follow these excellent examples and reply, to a schoolboy who inquired of him by letter whether his teacher could possibly be correct in stating that the railroads were compelled or felt compelled to carry the mail for less than it cost them to perform the service, and that for half the present year, from Jan. 1 to July 1, the extra work necessitated by the parcel post had been done by the railroads, perforce, for no compensation whatever. It was no wonder, said the teacher, that the parcel post was a success, with the greatest element of cost cut out.

To Master Guberman of P. S. 5, therefore, the busy railroad President, glad to find elementary justice even toward railroads still lingering in youthful and uncorrupt breasts, declared that injury had been added to injury on Aug. 15, when the Postmaster General increased the weight allowed for parcel post matter from eleven pounds to twenty, "which increases the amount of matter we are forced to carry without any compensation whatever, although the Post Office collects postage and pays nothing for transportation." These are the exact words; and although President Brown expresses the hope that Congress may grant relief, he says the action they may take will not be retroactive, and that what is gone is gone for good.

So that the inquiring boy got his query fully answered to his shame and confusion; and with the answer came an eight-page booklet, some of whose contents are enough to wake up any vestiges of conscience remaining in any reader.

FEARS STAGE CENSORSHIP.

Denunciation of Present Sex Plays Called Inconsistent.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

If the frank discussion of matters of sex is hurtful to the youthful mind, the fact must be accepted not as requiring a reversion to the old policy of ignorance, but as demanding a complete recasting of whatever elements in our modern society and our modern education are responsible for the weak fibre and abnormal susceptibility which demand the artificial and unwholesome shelter of hothouse plants. With all our prudery we Anglo-Saxons cannot boast of a distinctly higher ethical status than that of other cultured peoples. What is the matter with our young people that their feeble eyes must be shielded from the light to an extent not elsewhere found needful?

Moreover, why is the attack directed solely at the serious treatment of vice as vice? Why is the palpable fact ignored that subtle and flippant suggestions penetrate far more deeply into the unsuspecting and susceptible mind than bald presentation of unpleasant details? Prof. Muensterberg as a psychologist knows this well enough. If we must have a police censorship why does it not begin with the subtle and penetrating poison of nine-tenths of the musical comedies, which lure the weak to the utter breakdown of moral fibre that spells decadence and a degrading sybaritism?

If a vivid picture of white slavery is supposed to entice to that which it exhibits as a horror to be fought to the death, why is not the same true of the picture of any other form of crime? The youthful mind is susceptible to suggestions of profitable dishonesty, romantic banditry, ferocious revenge. Why, then, is there no outcry against the exhibition of these things on the stage? Why was not the voice of the police raised against toleration of the vivid portrayal of burglary, counterfeiting, murder, and suicide as manifested in plays like "The Argyle Case" and "Within the Law"? The psychological argument is identical.

The argument may be carried much further, but enough has perhaps been said to show the illogicality of a censorship which deals with but a single aspect of life. There is no place to draw the line, and pretexts for the abuse of power are too easily found to make it safe for the community to allow the police to decide on what subject citizens shall converse, either in private or in public. The dangers of a censorship are palpable; its advantages are extremely problematical. When a precedent is once established for encroachment on the right of free expression its extension by slow and perhaps impalpable degrees is only a question of time. The public mind rapidly becomes habituated to the circumscription of individual rights, and the ensuing consequences become more undesirable for the community than any possible ill effects of that unpopular use of liberty which it is fashionable to call "license."

Old Man a Cripple.

Mr. Kelley, injured in childhood, has not only spent $600 of his meagre salary for six artificial legs during his lifetime, but he has provided for seven children. Only two of them now live to bless the old couple, but they are too poor to buy their father a new leg, his sixth, or present one, being worn out beyond repair.

Investigation has proved these facts to be true, and $75 will make life worth living for a good old father; mother, too, will be delighted.

Contributions may be sent and will be acknowledged by the Cripples' Welfare Society, 156 Fifth Avenue, New York; George W. Ryder, Treasurer.

TAKE UP FREE LIST TO-DAY.

Tariff Conferees Practically Complete Work on Sundries Schedule.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The tariff conference committee to-day completed the schedule of sundries, with the exception of a few paragraphs, and to-morrow will take up the free list. The committee this morning listened to Senators Stone of Missouri and Thomas of Colorado on the zinc and lead paragraphs and Senator Hughes of New Jersey on the silk schedule. All three are members of the Committee on Finance. When they had concluded their arguments the conferees decided that no more hearings should be granted.

The paragraph relating to hats and bonnets was passed over temporarily. A slight difference that is expected to be adjusted to-morrow prevented an agreement on human hair. Other paragraphs that were passed over related to oil paintings and moving-picture films.

The Senate phraseology imposing a duty of 60 per cent. on laces and articles made of lace was accepted by the conference. The Senate amendment reducing the duty on chamois skin, unless cut into shapes, from 15 to 10 per cent., was adopted. Slight reductions from the Senate's rates on men's and women's gloves were agreed to. The Senate provision putting harness and saddlery on the free list was accepted.

TRIBUTES TO MR. GAYNOR.

President Miller Recalls His Broad-Minded Tolerance.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The shocking news of Mayor Gaynor's death announces the passing of a figure prominent in the life of the City of New York for the last thirty years. He was a real man.

To try to describe his many sided and interesting personality would be futile at this time, but perhaps his fellow-members of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment had more chances than others had to see one of the best of his qualities. I refer to his tolerance of the opinions of others. A presiding officer more considerate of the ideas and wishes of his colleagues it would be hard to find. While he was decided in his own views and held to them with pertinacity, he always was ready to listen to others who disagreed with him and to give them time for debate. I feel the loss of a personal friend.

CYRUS C. MILLER,
President Borough of the Bronx.

Greensboro, Vt., Sept. 13, 1913.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

That our late Mayor was a big man in every sense of the word admits of no denial. His shadow will hang over the Mayor's office for many years. The wisdom and the humanity of the man, whose loss to the community can be likened to a calamity, will shine more resplendent as time rolls on, and it is possible that every act of his successors will be weighed in the balance of "What would Gaynor have done in a similar circumstance?" Just as the Sunday school teacher in trying to impress on his class a sure code of action, told them, whenever tempted, to ask themselves, "What would Christ do?"

In Gaynor's case, unless man's memory be short indeed, Shakespeare's lines, "The evil that men do lives after them, while the good is oft interred with their bones," stands a fair chance of being disproved.

As a force for the betterment of the city he loved we are not likely to find his superior, and lucky indeed will we be if we can only obtain his equal—the wisest and best Mayor the city has known.

"REPULSIVE" FORMS OF LIFE.

Reasons for Their Existence Are at Present a Mystery.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The present writer, whom you mistakenly called "another anthropocentrist, another old-school teleologist," did not endeavor to say in his letter in what way repulsive organisms might or might not be useful in their relation to man. If he had done so, I admit that he would by all means have deserved the name "anthropocentrist." As it happens, however, his views on the subject under discussion are identical with those expressed in your editorial. What the writer wished to be understood as stating was simply that we are unable to account for the existence of these organisms in any non-relative, absolute, and ultimate way; and not only is this statement literally true in the case of the lower forms of life, but it is equally applicable to the higher forms (not excluding man) as well.

All the meaning, then, that was intended to be conveyed was that, life itself being ultimately a mystery, we cannot expect to account ultimately for the presence of any living organism. As for the anthropocentric theory, the undersigned is aware that it has already long been overthrown. Its doom was sounded by Copernicus and Galileo some centuries ago, for when the geocentric theory fell the anthropocentric, its sister theory, could not long survive.

Work on a Farm.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Would some kind farmer give a few words of advice to one sorely in need of it? I am a young man, 22, and occupy a well-paying position as stenographer. For some time my eyes and nerves have troubled me, and I have resolved to abandon city life and prepare myself for the farming industry. I am wondering whether with the knowledge gained at some agricultural school and an investment of $1,000 one could manage to eke out a living on a farm. I am of an industrious nature and do not seek more than the barest kind of an existence. Is it advisable to consider a partnership?

THE UPLIFT TALK.

The erstwhile big topliners were disconsolate and sad
And vowed the vaudeville business had gone all to the bad,
For they had been confronted with the melancholy fact,
The managers had canned them for the "uplift" talking act.

The famous masked soprano who thus hid her facial charms
From vulgar gaze while sounding high her vocal fire alarms
Waxed wroth on information she'd be Number 1 at bat,
Because the programme centre fell to Bryan's talking act.

The lady with the past declared her dancing future blank
If she should work as Number 12 and lose her top-line rank;
So, gathering up her ropes of pearls, she donned her auto hat
And motored off, a victim of the "uplift" talking act.

The jugglers, acrobats and clowns, the sister acts and all,—
Each heard the ultimatum—that salaries would fall;
Such turns were in the discard, it was the dismal fact,
For audiences wanted the "uplift" talking act.

But all the tragic turmoil that raged behind the scene
Found no echo in the office, where the Manager serene—
With Mr. Bryan helping—just as quiet as a mouse,
Was busy stacking shekels and counting up the house.

N. A. M. DENIES LOBBYING.

Counsel Emery Sums Up Defense Before House Committee.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers and the National Council for Industrial Defense, made the concluding argument to-day before the House lobby investigation committee. He denied that his organization had been guilty of improper political activities, and said that on the very day the charges were printed in a New York newspaper the association offered to the Senate lobby committee more than 100,000 letters, books, records, and accounts, and waived every guarantee of privacy and every privilege of professional confidence.

The associations, he declared, engaged in political activity only to the extent of publicly opposing "the notorious effort of organized labor to obtain legislation to validate the boycott and to destroy the inherent right of the judiciary to protect person and property in labor disputes by undertaking to defeat Congressmen who opposed these demands."

"These associations," continued Mr. Emery, "never sought any legislation in their private interest, but the National Association, as a member of the Tariff Commission Association, participated in the campaign for a permanent tariff commission. These associations never contributed to the campaign fund of any party or person for any office, or requested or obtained any pledge from any candidate for or against legislation.

"Of the forty-one members of the House or Senate, whom these associations are charged by implication with having improperly influenced, the great majority are but casually mentioned in all the correspondence submitted, several are not mentioned at all, and, by the oral testimony of Mulhall himself, many are exonerated from the accusations of his journalistic allies.

"The ex-chief page of the House, McMichael, although in the continuous pay of the publication formulating these charges, not only denies the use of the pages of the House for the purpose of spying upon members, but declares the charge a lie.

"Of two alleged blacklists of Congressmen, whom it is alleged these associations 'opposed with all their influence,' one is admitted by Mulhall to be merely a list of Congressmen in the order of their arrival to attend the December session of 1907.

"Mulhall's statement that during ten years he expended $200,000 of the money of these associations in political service is destroyed by the testimony of the Senate expert, who, after an exhaustive examination of their books, testified that he expended an average of approximately only $4,500 a year for salary and all expenses."

'J. C. R.' WAS WITH SAMPSON

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The Navy Department is making another appeal for help to identify "J. C. R.", the man of mystery who, robbed of speech and largely of memory, is in the State Hospital for the Insane at Rochester, Minn. An operation was performed recently on the patient's brain and a large cyst was found on the left side. This was drained and the man has been improving steadily in phyysical condition since regaining to some extent the use of the right arm and leg, which were paralyzed. Mentally he seems brighter and happier.

When a picture of the late Rear Admiral Sampson was shown to him last week he became excited and made signs taken to mean that he served on the cruiser New York in the Spanish war, and was with Admiral Sampson. Out of a large number of pictures of battleships and cruisers he always has picked out the New York, and has indicated that he served on the bridge. In his efforts to tell his rank he indicated that he had two bars on his sleeve and two heavy bars on his collar. This is the insignia of a lieutenant in the Navy.

The man has worked out slowly a long story of himself to the effect that he was born in Baltimore, Nov. 24, 1864, that he attended a Presbyterian church; that his father and mother died when he was small and that he had a little sister; that he entered the navy when a boy and that he rose to a commissioned warrant rank and wore a sword. His narrative tells how he was sent from the Navy Department in Washington to San Francisco on duty. Returning on the Great Northern he stopped at Minneapolis and fell into bad company, and there, or some miles out of the city, was robbed of $500, his watch, diamond ring and a diamond stud. He has made known in some way that he was thrown from a railroad train near Waseca, where he was found in a paralyzed condition in June, 1907. He was cared for there until April 24, 1908, when he was sent to the State Asylum, where he is now.

BANANA IN PLACE OF DOVE.

Tropical Fruit the Real Peace Emblem, Says John Barrett.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Shooing the dove of peace from off its perch, John Barrett, Director General of the Pan-American Union, to-day installed the banana as the emblem of international tranquillity, at least so far as Latin-America is concerned. In a letter addressed to the Senate and House conferences on the Tariff bill protesting against the proposed duty on the fruit, he portrayed the humble banana as a powerful civilizing influence.

"The building up of the banana business," wrote Mr. Barrett, "has done more than any other individual influence, material or political, to bring about conditions of prosperity, sanitation, health and peace in those low-lying coast lines of the Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico, which, previous to the banana era, were largely given up to wild jungles, malaria, shiftless peoples, and haunts of incipient revolutions."

The dove of peace, it was said by one of the conferees after he had read Mr. Barrett's appeal, should hereafter carry a banana in its beak instead of the useless, if ornamental, twig of myrtle.

SAYS MONEY PINCH IS OVER.

Col. Pomeroy of Ohio Talks Optimistically of Business Outlook.

Col. George E. Pomeroy of Toledo, Ohio, who is actively interested in real estate in Ohio and in investments generally, talked optimistically of the outlook when seen at the Waldorf yesterday.

"I don't know a thing," said Col. Pomeroy, "that is not moving along now at what I should call a comfortable pace, and with ample banking facilities. We have eliminated the diseased spots, and we have pretty well cofferdammed anything that has been weak. The tendency is not to reach out and take on an overload.

"Out in Ohio we thought we were going to require a great deal of money to move the grain crop, but so far the demand for this money has not come. We have the biggest corn crop in Ohio we have ever had, and I think this will offset some of the complaint you now hear from 'bleeding Kansas.'

"Outside New York the main trouble over the financial situation is now past. The evidence is that there has been a loosening up of liquid money, and it is very plain that there is going to be no pinch this Fall. Pending such a condition, a great deal of money has been held tight. The disposition of the banks outside New York seems to be against encouraging the taking on of big contracts, but to furnish what money is necessary to carry on work.

"It is impossible to tell how long it will take for the country to adjust itself to the new tariff law. It is so difficult to tell when individual interest is at stake, and the howls that are apt to go up may be just because somebody's corns are being touched, and not that his business is being ruined by the lower tariff. To my mind, if a man cannot adjust his business to make money under the new tariff as well as under the old, it argues that a good deal of the business acumen that was supposed to be making him rich is lacking."

DANIELS HOLDS UP ARMOR PLATE BIDS

Tells Big Steel Companies He Will Reject Them Unless They Are Found Justified.

WANTS PRODUCTION FIGURES

Saving of Half-Million on One Battleship Only a Beginning—Expects Congress Backing.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—With more than $500,000 already saved to the Government through competition on contracts for materials for battleship No. 39, Secretary Daniels announced tonight that he had notified the Midvale, Carnegie, and Bethlehem Steel Companies that he would not accept either of their recently submitted identical bids for heavy armor plate for this vessel unless they could show him cost of production figures to justify their prices.

"I feel sure that Congress will not fail to back up the department in whatever steps seem best to obtain armor at a just price," the Secretary added.

The three companies named have the only plants in this country capable of turning out the heaviest grade of armor plate. Mr. Daniels's solution of the problem is the establishment of a Government armor factory, and he has been urging this step upon Congress ever since he became head of the Navy Department and found that the practice had been to receive identical bids from the three companies and divide the contracts among them.

"It gives me considerable satisfaction," said Secretary Daniels in part in a statement issued to-night, "to be able to reply to the expression of doubt and incredulity that followed the announcement of some time ago that the navy would no longer submit to the exorbitant prices charged for shipbuilding materials by submitting as an answer a few figures which show that the department has saved over $500,000 in the last month on the materials entering into the construction of battleship No. 39 alone.

"This Administration found the navy was apparently, or so we were assured, hopelessly at the mercy of the three big steel corporations, who submitted practically identical bids for armor, forgings, and other materials, and then divided the work.

"Determined to bring about real competition, this department announced that in the future no endeavors would be spared to obtain bids that were really competitive. Bidders outside of the big three were encouraged to enter the field by assurances that no discrimination would be shown in the award of contracts. On Aug. 22 the results of these efforts appeared when the bids for the structural steel plates were opened. The old combination price had been set at about $284 a ton. The new bids included one from an outsider, the Carbon Steel Company, at $187.04 per ton, a saving on the 6,900 tons required of $373,261. This was 34 per cent. less than the previous prices.

"Bids on other material, with outside competition, resulted in a saving of $19,000 on medium steel plates and over $3,000 on angle irons and other similar small parts. Even this result failed to convince the skeptics entirely, as the materials bid on were such as could be manufactured by other than the three large steel companies, and only encouragement to bid was needed to secure a reduction by outside competition.

"When it came to the castings for the enormous turbines of battleship No. 39, however, a different proposition was encountered, as these forgings were too large to be made in this country by any firms except Carnegie, Midvale, or Bethlehem. Apparently feeling sure of their monopoly, two of these firms submitted bids for the work of $162,272 and $169,568. But the new policy of the department had attracted a great foreign firm, which instructed its New York agents to put in a really competitive bid. Their price was only one-third of that offered by the American firms. It was unpleasant and against the desire of the department to buy anything abroad that could be purchased at home, but the situation demanded heroic treatment and the bid of the English firm was accepted, at a saving of $102,000 on this item alone.

"On the heaviest grade of armor plate the situation is still unsatisfactory. My solution is the establishment of a Government plant. I now have before me the absolutely identical bids of the Midvale, Bethlehem and Carnegie companies, at the same old high prices. I have refused to accept them, however, unless the companies lay before me figures as to the cost of production that will justify these rates. Should it develop that they are unwilling, or unable, to prove that their price is a fair one, I feel sure that Congress will not fail to back up the department in whatever steps seem best to obtain armor at a just price. In the meanwhile, less than a month has elapsed since real competition has been secured and already our saving on one ship totals $509,467—and we have just begun to fight."

DIVIDE DESTROYER AWARDS.

Four Companies Share in Contracts for Six, Largest of Their Class.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The awards were made to-day for the building of the destroyers authorized by Congress last Winter. The Bath Iron Works of Bath, Me., got a contract to build one at $884,000; the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy, Mass., one at $861,000; the New York Shipbuilding Company of Camden, N. J., two at $825,000 each, and the William Cramp & Sons Ship and Engine Company of Philadelphia two at $881,000 each.

These destroyers are to be the largest of their class. They will be each 310 feet long and 29 feet 10 inches beam, with a draught of 9 feet 3 inches and a displacement of 1,090 tons. They will carry four rapid-fire guns and four twin torpedo tubes.

Recent experience with destroyers in storms on the Atlantic has convinced the Bureau of Construction and Repair and of Steam Engineering that a better type of destroyer is essential, and the new destroyers will be stronger in construction, with a stouter skin and better accommodation for officers and crews.

In some of the storms these little craft nearly have foundered from the force of the waves on their frail plates. In one case one of these boats was brought into Norfolk simply by the ingenuity of an ensign only a year out of Annapolis, who, when his oil supply failed, burned cabin furniture and furnishings to keep under headway.

The speed of the new destroyers is to be thirty knots an hour. They will have a greatly increased steaming radius, using steam turbines.

WILSON BACK AT CAPITAL.

President Returns to Washington After Brief Vacation in Cornish.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—President Wilson got back to Washington to-day from his brief holiday with his family at Cornish. Passed Assistant Surgeon Cary T. Grayson, U. S. N., the White House physician, returned with him.

Why the President should think it necessary to be in Washington just now is not understood here, as no pressing matter requires his attention. He found the weather in Washington warmer than the 20 degrees he experienced in New Hampshire, but chilly enough.

GRAND JURY DROPS INQUIRY INTO PLAYS

"The Lure" Will Be Rewritten, Says Shubert, and Objectionable Matter Dropped.

HE YIELDS TO CRITICISM

Says, However, That Play Had Support of Reform Workers—"The Fight" Now Passes Muster.

Following the receipt of a letter from Lee Shubert in which he agrees to have "The Lure" rewritten so that all objectionable parts will be eliminated, the Grand Jury, on the recommendation of Assistant District Attorney Bostwick, decided yesterday to drop its investigation which was to determine whether the play was a proper one to present to the public. The investigation of "The Fight," since the play appeared in its new form, also has been discontinued.

The decision to drop the inquiry into the morality of "The Lure" was reached after many conferences between Assistant District Attorney Bostwick, Lee Shubert, Samuel Untermyer, Mr. Shubert's counsel, and Max D. Steuer, counsel for the Harris estate. Mr. Steuer on Monday wrote to Mr. Bostwick to say that "The Fight" in its original form would not be presented again, either in New York or on the road.

Here is the letter from Mr. Shubert read to the Grand Jury yesterday:

Mr. Charles F. Bostwick, District Attorney's Office, Franklin Street, New York City.

Dear Sir: Referring to the inquiry from your office, which I understand emanated from the Grand Jury, as to whether I would be satisfied with its informal expression of opinion whether the production of "The Lure" should be continued in the form in which it has been produced, and whether I would abide by such an expression, I beg to say:

Before this play was first produced the manuscript was submitted to reform workers who were engaged in the suppression of the white slave traffic, and they, without exception, indorsed and urged its production as in the interest of the work in which they were engaged. Thus encouraged and in the belief that we were furthering a deserving cause, as we still believe, the play was produced.

It met with the immediate indorsement of high public officials and reform workers, among others such men as Stanley W. Finch, who is at the head of the branch of the Department of Justice at Washington having in charge the suppression of the white slave traffic, with hundreds of men under his charge; your chief, Hon. Charles S. Whitman, who witnessed the performance over four weeks ago; Judge Warren W. Foster, Magistrate Corrigan, ex-Police Commissioner Bingham, Mrs. Blatch, Mrs. Catt, Mrs. Israels, Julius Hopp, organizer of the Wage Earners' League; Norman Hapgood, George Sylvester Viereck, and a host of social and charity workers.

Since this controversy has arisen I have been urged by many public-spirited citizens not to abandon the struggle to continue the production of this play.

I have, however, concluded that since it has become apparent that there are substantial differences of opinion in the community concerning the wisdom in the public interest of producing the play in its present form, even though it admittedly preaches a useful sermon, not to continue the previous production, but to have the play rewritten to meet the objections that have been urged against it.

It is my earnest desire in the pursuit of my business not to offend the sensibilities of any section of the community, however small; and for that reason, while thanking the Grand Jury for its kind suggestion, I will relieve it from any informal expression of opinion on the subject, and will not resume the production of the play in the form in which it was performed for them, but will ask the author to rewrite it, so that there will be no substantial objection from any quarter.

Personally, I adhere as firmly as ever to the view that the play performs an important public purpose and that its withdrawal will be a distinct loss, but I refuse to be placed in the position of offending the sense of propriety of even a small minority of serious people who take a different view. Very truly yours,

LEE SHUBERT.

When the letter was read to the Grand Jury it was decided that the inquiry regarding the play should be dropped. The view taken was that in consequence of the offer to withdraw the play in its present form the alleged nuisance was abated, and further investigation was unnecessary.

The plan to present "The Fight" in its original form before the members of the Grand Jury has been abandoned because of Mr. Steuer's agreement that neither the New York production nor the road productions will contain hereafter any of the things concerning which complaints have been made.

"Aida" Again, with Change of Cast.

The Century Opera Company gave its second performance of "Aida" last night with a cast in which the principal singers were different from those who appeared at the opening Monday, and the company duplicated its success. Lois Ewell and Gustaf Bergman were the Aida and Rhadames respectively, and both won their audiences. Thomas Shields was the Amonasro, aMry Jordan the Amneris, and George Shields the King. With first-night tension removed, the performance moved more smoothly. The audience was large, and was liberal with its applause.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

James Bradbury has been engaged to play a German physician in the new De Mille comedy, "After Five," which Wagenhals & Kemper will produce.

The company appearing in "Shadowed" left New York yesterday for the opening performance of the play in Syracuse to-night. The New York engagement begins at the Fulton Sept. 24.

Felix Edwardes, an English stage director, leaves for New York to-day to superintend rehearsals of "General John Regan," which the Liebler company will produce shortly.

DEAD AT WINDOW SIX DAYS.

John C. Fay, Washington Lawyer, Found Lifeless in Chair in Office.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—John C. Fay, 67 years old, a prominent Washington lawyer, was found dead this evening in his office in the Corcoran Building. The Coroner said he had died probably six days ago.

Mr. Fay's body was seated in a chair at an open window of his office. The Corcoran Building is opposite the Treasury Department, and persons in the Department or passing along Fifteenth Street on the Department side could easily have seen the figure of the dead man. A woman client, who went to call on Mr. Fay late this afternoon was unable to open the door of his office, and her inquiries of employes of the building brought out that he had not been seen there for some time.

The Superintendent of the building forced the door and found the body. In the dead man's hand was a newspaper of Sept. 10, and on the floor were letters postmarked Sept. 9. The Coroner decided that death was due to heart disease.

Mr. Fay served in a New Jersey cavalry regiment in the civil war. He was formerly a law partner of the late Senator Joseph McDonald of Indiana, and Col. Richard J. Bright, formerly Sergeant at Arms of the United States Senate.

Mrs. Fay and her daughter have been at Atlantic City. They were notified.

MRS. J. E. OOTHOUT'S DEATH

Cousin of Herbert L. Satterlee Was Member of Old New York Family.

Mrs. Jane E. Oothout, who died in Lucerne, Switzerland, last Sunday, in her eighty-fourth year, was a cousin of Herbert L. Satterlee, son-in-law of the late J. Pierpont Morgan. She was the widow of William Oothout, one of the four well-known Oothout brothers in mercantile and banking affairs in New York more than a quarter of a century ago, the others being Henry, John, and Edward. Before her marriage Mrs. Oothout was a Morgan, and her early home was in New Orleans. She was not a relative of the J. Pierpont Morgan family, her relationship to Mr. Satterlee being through the Livingston side of the family.

For more than 100 years the name of Oothout has been a prominent one in the commercial life of the city. Early in the last century John Oothout was an Alderman from the Second Ward, and was a member of the Building Committee which formulated the plans in 1802 for the present City Hall. He was the grandfather of Mrs. Jane Oothout's husband. He took an active part in the formation of the Bank of New York when it was incorporated in 1784. His son, also John Oothout, was President of the bank from 1843 to 1858. The elder Oothout's country home was a farm in the section now bounded by Nineteenth and Twenty-first Streets, Fifth and Sixth Avenues.

The late Mrs. Oothout for many years spent the Summer in Switzerland and the Winter in her town house at 218 Madison Avenue. Her son, William Oothout, was with her in Lucerne, and her body will be brought to this city for interment. Besides the son, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Karrick Riggs, whose city home is at the Hotel Gotham.

G. W. HORTON, PILOT, DEAD.

Was Secretly Married a Year Ago to Mrs. Alice McCaslin.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 16.—George W. Horton, a resident of White Plains until a few weeks ago, died on Sunday in Chardon, Ohio. He is the father of Mrs. Joseph E. Dickie of South Broadway. His death recalls the recent petition of Mrs. Dickie to have her father declared an incompetent so that some one might be named a committee of his person and property.

His death also recalls his secret marriage in September of last year to Mrs. Alice Muzzy McCaslin of Painesville, Ohio, in Windsor, Canada. He made a will in 1902 in which he names his daughter as the sole executrix, and leaves her and his grandchildren all his property, which is said to be about $10,000. This will has been filed with Surrogate William A. Sawyer for probate here.

Mr. Horton formerly lived at City Island, and for sixty years was a Hell Gate pilot, during which time many thousands of vessels were taken through the dangerous channels. He said that he first met Mrs. McCaslin in Thomasville, Ga., eleven years ago, and asked her to marry him. She refused him, and he said he would wait until she changed her mind.

YANKEES LOSE TO TIGERS--VARDON BEST IN OPEN GOLF--TENNIS

With Runners Waiting to Score, They Again Fail to Make Hits Worth While.

Happenings at the Polo Grounds yesterday leads one to surmise that the only thing that can get the Yankees out of last place is an extra large sized steam derrick. The derrick might break under the load, at that.

These Yanks seem to be able to make hits and get on the bases often. They all know the way from first to second, but to them, the path from second to the home plate is an unbroken trail through a howling wilderness. They all get stranded on the way. A dozen Yankees were left glued to the bases yesterday and a dozen the day before. They get on the corners and stick there until the other team wins and darkness drives them back to the clubhouse. This Yankee troupe could never catch a train in a hurry, they would have to start for the station hours ahead of train time.

Detroit won yesterday's game by a score of 4 to 3, after the Yank's had passed up a bushel of golden opportunities. In the eighth and ninth innings, the Yanks had the bases crowded. Chance rushed in all his spare players, hoping that out of the bunch, there might be one or two who could hit the ball. But the only hits the Yanks could recall were on record in the batting averages weeks ago.

In these last two verses they had George Dauss on the run and the Tiger boxman was wobbly and had his passage all booked for the chute. The crowd of 1,200 patient fans got excited. Manager Chance got excited, and the players all got excited. Why shouldn't they? It looked as if they were going to win a game, and if they had, they would have vaulted out of last place.

Ray Caldwell pitched good ball, with the exception of two innings, and in these two weak moments the Tigers got enough runs to win. Detroit made the most of their few chances, while the Yanks passed up enough to win two or three games.

Detroit started hostilities in the second, when Cobb beat out an infield hit and died stealing. After Burns fanned, Gibson walked, and scored on Onslow's double, the first baseman going to third on the throw in. Louden banked a single through second base and Onslow scored.

The Yankees tied the score in the fourth inning. Whiteman beat out a tap to third and Williams was hit by a pitched ball. Knight bunted and beat out Gibson's throw, which was high and wild, and enabled Whiteman to score. Gilhooley hit into a double play, Williams scoring. In the fifth inning the Yanks gathered three hits, but they failed to squeeze a count out of the layout.

Detroit broke the tie and went to the front in the eighth. Dauss walked. Bush got an infield hit and went on to third on Bauman's double, while Dauss scored. Crawford was tossed out at first, but the runners were held on the corners. Caldwell walked Ty Cobb intentionally and crowded the bases. Veach, batting for Burns, lifted a sacrifice fly to left, scoring Bush.

The last two innings were glorious with promise for the Yankees. In the eighth, with one down, Williams walked and Knight was hit. Gilhooley planted a Texas Leaguer in right, scoring Williams. Hartzell, batting for Peckinpaugh, got an infield hit and filled the bases. Harry Wolter was called on to bat for Gossett, but he skied to Bush, while Caldwell did the very same thing.

Just glance at this ninth inning. After Maisel fanned, he told Umpire Ferguson that he did not agree with his judgment. Holden got an infield hit and went to third on Whiteman's crack to right. Williams walked and filled the bases.

What could you ask for better than that? Bases jammed and only one gone. Ed Sweeney was invited to bat for Jack Knight, and while everybody held his or her breath, Sweeney popped up to Louden. Gilhooley was the last chance and he rolled to Louden and was thrown out at first.

The White Sox gather here to-day for a double-header. The score:

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 16.—There is one thing the St. Louis ball fans may keep carefully in mind—it is that Ed Konetchy, considered by some critics the best first baseman in the National League, will be traded this Fall. "We hope to trade Koney," said President Britton to-day. "We feel that we can strengthen our club to a big extent by letting the big Bohemian go. Koney is a great ball player, a good trading asset, and we are going to profit thereby." The uniform Koney will be most apt to wear will be that of Cincinnati. Britton is in conference with Joe Tinker with the object of securing Bob Bescher, the big outfielder of the Reds. Koney will figure in this deal.

MAGEE'S BLUNDER GIVES REDS GAME

Phillies Lose Chance to Win Both Games of Double-Header in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16.—Philadelphia and Cincinnati broke even in a double-header to-day, the locals winning the first game, 4 to 3, and Philadelphia capturing the second, which went six innings, 4 to 0. The second game was begun in a drizzling rain which continued almost throughout the contest, and was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness.

In the opening struggle honors were even up to the eighth inning when Philadelphia, mainly through Johnson's wildness, managed to squeeze a run over the plate on two bases on balls and a single. This put the score at 3 to 2 in Philadelphia's favor. In the ninth, however, with a slippery ball to handle Seaton lost control. He walked three men and then Groh managed to connect with one of his curves and poked the ball into deep left which Magee misjudged, scoring Berghammer with the tieing run and Packard with the winning run.

In the second game Mayer was effective at all stages, while Roberston, a recruit from Savannah, Ga., had one bad inning, the third. At this stage Knabe walked, Becker singled, and Lobert popped to the outfield. Magee walked, filling the bases, and Cravath's double scored all three men. Luderus's single brought in Cravath. This ended the run-getting. The scores:

RAIN BREAKS UP GAME.

Giants and Cubs Play Four Fruitless Innings When Shower Ends Contest

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Rain prevented the Giants and Cubs from concluding the final game of their farewell series this afternoon by rendering the field unfit for play at the beginning of the fifth period. Neither team had scored up to this time. The chances of playing the contest were none too bright early to-day, but on account of the advance sale of tickets the local officials did all in their power to bring the teams together. Groundkeeper Kuhn and his assistants worked on the diamond for hours before the scheduled start of play, but a downpour about 2 o'clock caused an hour's postponement of the contest.

The athletes began hostilities at 3:10 with nearly 1,000 fans on hand. Demaree and Humphries, the clever young hurlers who are tied for the leadership of the National League pitchers, were pitted against each other, and had an easy time disposing of their opponents despite a slippery ball and miserable ground conditions. At the end of the fourth Demaree had yielded only one hit, a double by Evers in the opener, while Burns and Merkle had singled off Humphries. With Murray at bat in the fifth ran came down in torrents and Umpire Klem ordered a respite. The downpour lasted only a few minutes, but Klem then examined the grounds, found them unfit for play, and called the game off.

Cy Morgan Sale Set Aside.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 16.—The National Baseball Commission to-day set aside the sale of Pitcher Cy Morgan of the Kansas City Club to the Cincinnati Club and ordered that the latter club be reimbursed for any expense it had gone to in securing the player. Manager Carr of the Kansas City Club and Morgan himself testified that his arm was not in condition when ordered to report to Cincinnati.

SECOND SYNDICATE BOAT.

Herreshoff May Build Another Yacht to Defend America's Cup.

BRISTOL, R. I., Sept. 16.—Another New York Yacht Club syndicate, to include Frederick G. Bourne, George F. Baker, Jr., and probably C. Oliver Iselin, to back a second Herreshoff boat to compete in the trials for the America's Cup defender next year, is a strong probability, it was learned to-night. Plans for this syndicate were discussed to-day at a meeting of certain members of the New York Yacht Club near Newport. While "Nat" Herreshoff, the designer, had let it be understood some time ago that he would accept only one commission, that of the Vanderbilt syndicate, for a cup defender candidate, it is said that he is now in a more receptive mood. Another meeting of the New York Yacht Club members to plan for the new syndicate will be held early next week.

Mr. Baker and Mr. Bourne, who were mentioned to-night as being included in the prospective syndicate, are already members of the group headed by Cornelius Vanderbilt, which has placed an order for a seventy-five-foot sloop with Mr. Herreshoff. Mr. Iselin has been the manager of four winners in the big international contests.

Reports brought back from England by yachtsmen that the lines of Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger show her to be a dangerous competitor, are said to have impressed members of the New York Yacht Club with the necessity of taking every precaution to retain the America's cup in this country. These same reports, it is understood, have also made the designer of previous successful defenders willing to consider another commission for a sloop to enter next year's trial races.

Ball Player Stearns Dead.

WINNEBAGO, Minn., Sept. 16.—Clarence Stearns, formerly of the St. Paul team of the Northern League, but who finished the season with Sheridan, Wyo., died at his home here to-day of hemorrhage of the brain, caused, according to his physician, by being struck twice in the head by balls this Summer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—Jimmy Clabby, the Milwaukee middleweight, and Sailor Petroskey have been matched for a twenty-round fight here on the night of Oct. 3.

WILL HONOR J. E. SULLIVAN.

Athletic Clubs of District to Greet Leader on Friday.

In anticipation of a reception to James E. Sullivan, the American Commissioner to the Olympic games and a delegate to the session of the Athletic Federation, recently held in Berlin, arrangements were begun yesterday for a big demonstration to be held in the athletic leader's honor when he arrives home Friday aboard the steamship Cedric.

All of the local athletic organizations which are members of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, as well as representatives from Boston, Philadelphia, and other near-by sport centres, will be on hand to welcome home America's leader in track and field sport.

Among others who will take part in the demonstration will be the members of the German Olympic Commission: Carl Diem, Secretary of the German Olympic Committee; Lieut. von Riechman, Dr. Martin Berner, and Joseph Waltzer.

As the result of yesterday's session, which was convened in order to further ways and means for a function which would eclipse any given in honor of an athletic leader, all of the preliminary work was disposed of by a sub-committee composed of Fred W. Rubien, Vice President of the Metropolitan Association, as Chairman; Terence Farley and William L. Jones, Irish-American A. C.; George F. Mathews, Long Island A. C.; Hugh S. Quinn, Catholic Athletic League; John P. Boyle and John J. Walsh, Pastime A. C., and John T. Norton and Charles J. Harvey.

This committee drafted a list of the prominent men of the Metropolitan and other near-by districts, consisting of names of men who are well known in many walks of life who will become identified with the movement to honor Mr. Sullivan. The gathering will be centred in the vicinity of the pier at the foot of West Nineteenth Street at 6 P. M. on Friday.

Each of the participants in the homecoming celebration will be presented with badges on which will be the inscription "Welcome—United States Commissioner James E. Sullivan," aside from buttons which will be provided by William L. Jones. Uncle Sam will be impersonated by H. P. Odell of the Twenty-second Regiment.

BRITISH OFFICERS RUN FAST

Admiral Arbuthnot and Capt. Back Fulfill Bet Made 20 Years Ago.

PORTSMOUTH, England, Sept. 16.—A sprint of 100 yards was run this afternoon by Rear Admiral Sir Robert K. Arbuthnot and Capt. Eric Back of the British Navy in fulfillment of a bet made by them twenty years ago, and the Captain won by a yard in the excellent time of 12 seconds.

Both officers were serving in the Pacific Ocean on board the Warspite in 1893, when a challenge was given and accepted for a race to be run on the same date twenty years later.

Admiral Sir Hedworth Meux was commander of the Warspite at the time of the wager and was stakeholder to-day. Rear Admiral Arbuthnot is 49 years old and Capt. Back 48.

FORDHAM ON GRIDIRON.

Coach Tom Thorpe Begins Work with Twenty-five Candidates.

Twenty-five candidates for the Fordham eleven reported to Head Coach Tom Thorpe yesterday afternoon on Fordham Field. As it was the opening day of college, the large number of candidates, particularly the presence of eight veterans of last season's team, pleased the coaches. The veterans were Hayes and Riley, half backs; Dooling, full back; Mulvey, centre; McCarthy and Dunn, tackles; Carey and Jackson, ends. With the opening of the Medical and Law Schools next week the football squad is expected to be increased by at least fifty more candidates.

Trainer "Jake" Besas was gratified by the excellent physical condition of those who reported. Several very husky youngsters caught his eye immediately.

With the first game only ten days off, Coach Thorpe has his work cut out to put a good eleven on the gridiron. The first practice consisted merely of general preliminary work and instruction on receiving, holding, and running with the ball.

The revised schedule announced yesterday by Manager McLaughlin, '14, consists of the following games:

Sept. 27—St. Peter's, at Fordham; Oct. 4—Princeton, at Princeton; Oct. 11—Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, at Fordham; Oct. 18—St. Joseph's, at Fordham; Oct. 25—Vermont, at Fordham; Nov. 4—Villanova, at Fordham; Nov. 8—Boston College, at Fordham; Nov. 15—Holy Cross, at Worcester, Mass.

Tigers in Football Elementaries.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 16.—The Tigers returned to the rudiments of football this afternoon, and, excepting for a light signal drill at the end of the afternoon's work, indulged only in the elementaries. Two new coaches, "Dan" Kafer and "Sheff" Sheffield, arrived in town this morning. The former will help with the back-field coaching, while Sheffield will devote his time to the tackles, thus taking a great deal off the hands of Bluthenthal, who has been the only line coach here since practice began. Glie, Merritt, and Boland tried out their toes on the pigskin this afternoon with mediocre success. Their punts lacked consistency in both distance and direction, but for this time of the year their showing was satisfactory. It is evident that the Tigers will pay more attention than ever to this department of the game. Capt. Baker took a day off from his drop kicking and drilled a squad of back-field men in tossing the ball around and at the dummy.

Short Scrimmage at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 16.—Head Coach Howard Jones of the Yale football team, sent two elevens through half an hour's scrimmage on Yale Field this afternoon, during which the 'Varsity scored two touchdowns. Wilson, a sophomore, ran the 'Varsity at quarter and made a good impression. He got the first touchdown on a run around end. Knowles, a big half back, got the second touchdown after a thirty-yard run. Coach Jones made a number of changes in the line-ups of both elevens. Capt. Ketcham watched the greater part of the practice. Avery, Captain of the wrestling team, who held down right end last year, and who is looked upon as a fixture there this year, reported for practice to-day.

No Army-Navy Reservations Yet.

Many requests are being received by the New York Baseball Club regarding the purchase and reservation of tickets for the Army-Navy football game on the Polo Grounds on Nov. 29. As President Hempstead of the Giants contemplates a rearrangement of the field, especially adapting it for football, it will be some time before it can be properly charted. At the earliest possible date Secretary John B. Foster will make public explicit regulations regarding the sale of those tickets which are to be sold. Twenty-five thousand tickets will fall to the share of the competing academies.

Atlantic Garden Bouts.

Three ten-round bouts, all going the limit, last night furnished one of the best boxing cards the Atlantic Garden Athletic Club has had. In the opening bout Johnny Howard easily defeated Larry English, the ex-policeman of Brooklyn. The second contest, which brought Young Ahearn of Brooklyn and Bert Fagin of California together, was won by the local man. The final go, a rough-and-tumble affair between Bull Anderson and Tommy Bergen, was an even thing, as both slugged from end to end without advantage to either.

The Ahearn-Fagin was a well-contested bout and never once lagged in interest. It marked the Eastern debut of Fagin, who came East under the guardianship of Scotty Monteith, and although the Native Son showed himself to be a first-class 154-pounder, his strength availed little against the shiftiness and experience of Ahearn, with the result that after the first round he was on the losing end. Ahearn weighed 147½ pounds, and at the start the Western invader looked to have all the better of the argument.

Kearns vs. Levinsky at St. Nicholas

Soldier Kearns and Battling Levinsky will try conclusions to-night at the St. Nicholas A. C., when the former Canal Zone policeman will attempt to beat the Morgan "champion" in a bout scheduled to last over the ten-round route. Levinsky is reputed to be a comer, and one of the best of the "white hopes" now on the market. Other bouts will show Jim Savage and Jack Keating, the latter asserted to be one of the best in his division. The usual preliminaries are expected to help keep up the interest until the main bouts are shown.

Cross and Ritchie to Box Here.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, announced to-night that he had been engaged for a ten-round boxing bout with Leach Cross in New York. Ritchie said he thought the bout would take place early in October. He will leave to-morrow for the East.

VARDON LEADS IN NATIONAL OPEN GOLF

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 16.—First honors in the national open golf championship, begun to-day at the Country Club, Brookline, went to Harry Vardon of South Herts, England, the man who five times has won the British open championship and a golfer whose skill advancing age does not seem to affect. This wonderful player from "across the pond" played a morning round of 75, at which stage he was led one stroke by Francis Ouimet, the brilliant young Boston amateur, who recently made such a fine showing in the national amateur championship at Garden City.

In the afternoon play it seemed for the greater part of the rounds of these two rivals as if the amateur were going to come in ahead of a man who had a reputation as a grand golfer before Ouimet even knew what a golf club was. There were two occasions in the afternoon when Ouimet had a lead of three strokes over Vardon, with the Boston boy going along as if he were merely out for a little holiday, so serenely did he go along reeling off the holes, more often than otherwise in par figures.

It was at the fourteenth hole that Ouimet came to grief and practically missed the opportunity of a lifetime, of completing thirty-six holes of medal play in better figures than the world-famous Harry Vardon, not to mention the remainder of the field, including some of the finest professionals in the land. Playing his second shot to the fourteenth Ouimet had poor footing, and as he was swinging his brassey his left foot slipped on the turf, swaying his body just enough so that his shot was slicked into a trap on the right. He did not play it out of trouble well, getting into even more trouble, and in the end he took seven for the hole. Even then he had a lead of one stroke over Vardon to that point. This stroke he lost in the seventeenth, through missing a rather tricky putt of about seven feet. He and Vardon, therefore, were even going to the home hole. Ouimet had a par four at the home hole, 410 yards with an embankment to carry on the second shot, so that under ordinary circumstances he would at least have been in a tie for the lead in the first day's play.

But nothing "ordinary" goes in playing a game golfer like Vardon. The latter had been putting rather poorly all the afternoon. Putting is his worst fault, anyway. But at the home hole, after playing two, his ball was about 35 to 40 feet from the cup, with grade to go down and an agle to judge. Vardon tapped his ball very lightly, for the green was exceedingly fast. It was a good bet that he would get a five rather than a three. The ball started toward the hole, took a turn one way and then another, according to the roll of the green. It looked as if it surely would pass several inches to one side of the cup, but it at last turned, almost lazily, toward the little hole with the tin in it and finally dropped in for a three. It was such a putt as wins championships and it dashed the hopes of the young Boston amateur (though he did not know it at the time) and his host of well wishers and friends.

The first day's qualification did not speak any too well of the calibre of a field of professional and amateur golfers from all parts of the United States and Canada. It had been estimated by many that it would take a score of not higher than 162 or 163 to get in the first 32, that being the number to qualify. What actually happened was that scores of 170 qualified.

The golfers found a big difference in the course as played to-day in comparison with its difficulties as found in practice. The tees were set back to the extreme yesterday, which made one distinct difference, and the greens, after ebing twice rolled and cut close, were exceedingly fast. All along the visiting professionals had conceded that the course was one which had to be played well to yield good scores, in that it is so scientifically bunkered that getting off the line means to meet stiff penalties.

One of the outstanding features of the day was the failure of George O. Simpson of Omaha to qualify. He tied with J. J. McDermott and M. J. Brady in the national open two years ago, and was reckoned as a big factor for the title, especially after the manner of his play in practice. But in the morning yesterday Simpson found about every trap on the course, in addition to which he generally managed to get in the worst position lies in such hazards. In consequence he took 92 for the morning round, and was not equal to the task of overcoming this tremendous handicap in the afternoon.

Among those who formed the gallery at the home green during the afternoon was former President William H. Taft. The present Yale professor watched the play keenly and frequently applauded clever shots made by the finishing pairs. He said that he had come over from Manchester with his friend John Hays Hammond to see "just how the big professionals played the game," and that he regretted he could not remain for the entire tournament.

The following are those who qualified:

CHAMPIONS AT THE NETS.

West Side Singles Tennis Tournament Reaches Semi-Final Round.

Ranking players occupied the centre of attraction yesterday in the tennis tournament for the championship of the West Side Tennis Club, 227th Street and Broadway. The default of Theodore R. Pell and Raymond D. Little in no way lessened the interest in the matches. W. M. Washburn, the young Harvard expert, won two matches. In the first set he was opposed by Louis Graves, who has been playing an exceptionally strong game recently. The contest was carried to three sets before the Harvard player could claim a victory. Graves made a mistake in the first set in playing a back-court game, and lost 6—3. He met his opponent according to the latter's own style in the second set and succeeded in making the match 1-all. He failed to follow up his advantage in the third set.

Frederick C. Inman, a National Class B player, was extended to the limit to win from Dr. Ewing Taylor. The latter put up a strong game and carried the first set to deuce. Inman's experience helped him to pull out of several tight holes. Dionne, who won through the default of Roosevelt with Inman, Washburn and Walker Merrill Hall, are the survivors in the semi-final round. Hall did not find the opposition he expected in Arthur S. Cragin, and won in straight sets, although Cragin made a plucky effort to capture the first set.

The doubles championship will be started to-day with forty entries, and no singles matches will be played unless by special arrangement with the Tournament Committee. The summary:

West Side Men's Singles, Class A Championship.—First Round—W. M. Washburn defeated Louis Graves, 6—3, 3—6, 6—2; Joseph Condon defeated Raymond D. Little by default.

Second Round—G. A. L. Dionne defeated Theodore R. Pell by default; Frederick C. Inman defeated Dr. Ewing Taylor, 7—5, 6—4; W. M. Washburn defeated Joseph Condon, 6—2, 6—0; Walter Merrill Hall defeated Arthur S. Cragin, 6—4, 6—1.

Class B.—Second Round—Harold Swain defeated P. A. Valle, 1—6, 6—4, 6—3; W. L. Stewart defeated J. L. Larkin by default; Dr. H. H. Janeway defeated B. L. Pettigrew, 6—1, 7—5; Gordon Boyd defeated H. P. Stokes, 4—6, 6—3, 6—4; M. S. Hager defeated Dr. E. M. Alger, 7—5, 8—6; C. G. Heyiman defeated H. S. Mellick, 6—3, 10—8; W. D. Bourne defeated Austin Smith, 7—5, 6—2; George S. Groesbeck defeated Lincoln Barker, 6—2, 6—3; F. B. Washburn defeated Frank Rogers by default; Dr. J. W. Travel defeated Harry Parker, 6—4, 8—6.

Third Round—Dr. H. H. Janeway defeated W. L. Stewart, 6—4, 6—3; G. H. Bartholomew defeated Gordon Boyd, 6—4, 7—5; H. E. Colton defeated F. C. Fuller, 6—0, 6—1; C. G. Heyiman defeated W. D. Bourne, 6—3, 6—2; George I. Groesbeck defeated W. M. Washburn, 3—6, 6—2, 5—5, default.

Fourth Round—C. S. Fisher defeated H. E. Colton, 6—0, 6—1.

Class C.—First Round—Dwight McDonald defeated R. G. Cooke, 6—4, 3—6, 7—5; Warner Ovis defeated A. C. Bostwick, 6—2, 6—4; S. W. Merrihew defeated Dr. F. W. Stine, 6—3, 6—2.

Second Round—Roy L. Hoskins defeated Edward Ingraham, 6—2, 6—3; L. G. Morris defeated Theodore Hetzler by default; W. W. Heath defeated E. D. Hubbard, 6—0, 6—2; A. R. Dunham defeated W. A. Sands, 6—4, 6—0.

Third Round—L. G. Morris defeated Roy L. Hoskins, 8—6, 10—12, 11—9; J. A. Tompkins defeated W. W. Heath, 6—4, 6—1.

TENNIS RATING FOR WOMEN.

Committees Appointed to Select Players According to Season's Results.

Secretary George T. Adee of the Ranking Committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association announced yesterday that for the first time in the history of the organization women players would receive a ranking this year. The announcement is in line with the policy of the National Association, which at its annual meeting last February referred the matter to the Ranking Committee to investigate, with power to act.

A committee of three prominent players, consisting of Mrs. Barger-Wallach of New York, Miss Louise Helen Ades of New York, and Mrs. Thomas C. Bundy, née May Sutton, the national woman champion of San Francisco, was appointed to gather the necessary data and make the selection of ranking players. It is not expected that more than twenty-five will receive official ranking for 1913.

Women's tournaments will not close in the East before Oct. 5, and no blanks will be sent out before that date. The players will be requested to fill in the dates and results of their matches for 1913. These will be passed upon by the Women's Committee, and finally approved by the Ranking Committee, which consists of Miles O. Charlock, Chairman; George T. Adee, Secretary, and Charles M. Bull, Jr.

Haworth and Engineers' Golf.

Charles Lansing, handicapped at 13, won the President's Cup, donated by W. S. Cowie, at the Haworth Country Club yesterday, by defeating G. F. Weston with an allowance of 20 by 4 up and 2 to play. The second round of match play for the Vice President's Cup, offered by M. de Brabant, has also been completed as follows: R. R. Proctor, (28,) beat F. N. Downler, (26,) 3 up and 2 to play; F. J. Fitzgerald, (42,) beat Dr. H. J. Hall, (18,) 3 up; K. Tanaka, (15,) beat E. M. Biggs, (30,) 2 up and 1 to play; Ira N. Hedges, (17,) beat E. H. Craighill, (42,) 4 up and 2 to play.

The Golf Club of the Engineers' Club of New York held a one-day tournament yesterday over the links of the Greenwich Country Club. In the morning a foursomes competition was run off, E. N. Chilson and W. F. Zimmerman being the winners, with 202, 40—162. In Class A of the handicap Eads Johnson, with 87, 7—80, topped the list, while in Class B A. S. Pitt led the field with 99, 27—72, and in the third set C. I. Earll, with 99, 27—72, was the winner. In the evening dinner was served in the clubhouse, over which C. F. Quincy presided. J. R. Dunlop, a member of both clubs, was the guest of the day. The next tournament will be held at Oakland on Oct. 7.

Xavier A C. Road Run.

The Xavier A. C. held its first Fall meet last night, the principal event being a road run of a mile and three-quarters. Eddie Kelly won the event, his time being 7:22. O. Gribbins finished second and E. Summers third. Eddie Jordon started from scratch and won the time prize in 6:24. Ames of the Bronx Church House gave an exhibition standing high jump, with a performance of 4 feet 9 inches. He also covered 31 feet 6 inches in three standing jumps. The potato race was won by W. Smith, with A. Hyland second, and W. Dolly third.

Kilbane Wins from Walsh.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, the featherweight champion, won a decision over Jimmy Walsh of Boston in a twelve-round bout at catch weights before the Atlas Athletic Association to-night.

MISS WAGNER WINS FOUR TIMES AT NET

Indoor Champion Makes Clean Sweep in the Montclair Tennis Tourney.

Miss Marie Wagner, the national indoor tennis champion, won four matches yesterday in the women's singles and doubles invitation tournament of the Montclair Athletic Club at Montclair, N. J. Miss Wagner is the only player in the tournament to reach the semi-final round of the singles. Her play was irresistible, and at no time was her position assailed. She captured three matches in the singles and one in the doubles.

The champion opened with a victory over Miss Anne Hamilton in the second round of the singles, the Hamilton Grange player losing in straight sets, 6—2, 6—3. In the third round she was opposed by Miss Pauline Bottische, and again triumphed in two sets, 6—1, 6—3. In the fourth round Miss Eugenie Steiner of the Woodmere Country Club proved an easy victim for Miss Wagner with the score of 6—1, 6—4. The champion was paired with Mrs. C. N. Beard in the doubles, and defeated Miss Grace Frank and Miss Hazel Van Vleck in two love sets. In the four matches Miss Wagner scored 48 aces to 14 by her opponents.

Mrs. Marshall McLean and Miss Theresa R. Keiser of Trenton played the most interesting match of the day. Mrs. McLean swept her opponent off her feet in the first set, but the Trenton player found her stroke in the second, and three or four times came within a point for the set. Each time she seemed to loaf on the court, and Mrs. McLean won 9—7.

Several interesting matches were played in the doubles. Mrs. William H. Pouch, a former champion, and Miss E. Hardy were extended to the limit to win from Miss Dora Goodbody and Miss Jane Rowson in two out of three sets, while Miss Polly Sheldon and Miss Bessie Wright, after losing the first set to Miss Eugenie Steiner and Miss Anita Blair, rallied, and won the next two. The summary:

Women's Singles.—Second Round—Miss Jane Rowson defeated Miss Buda Stephens, 6—2, 6—2; Miss A. M. Doyle defeated Miss Amy Harper, 6—8, 6—4, 6—2; Miss Marie Wagner defeated Miss Anne Hamilton, 6—2, 6—3; Miss Clare Cassell defeated Miss Alita Hamilton, 6—0, 6—1; Miss Edna Wildey defeated Miss Mary Hamilton by default.

Third Round—Mrs. C. N. Beard defeated Miss A. M. Doyle, 7—5, 8—6; Miss Clare Cassell defeated Mrs. Henri Bloom, 6—3, 6—2; Miss Marie Wagner defeated Miss Pauline Bottische, 6—1, 6—3; Miss Edna Wildey defeated Miss Alberta Webber, 6—3, 8—6, 6—4; Mrs. Marshall McLean defeated Miss Teresa R. Keiser, 6—1, 9—7.

Fourth Round—Miss Marie Wagner defeated Miss Eugenie Steiner, 6—1, 6—4.

Women's Doubles.—First Round—Mrs. Marshall McLean and Miss Edna Wildey defeated Miss Hazel Sawyer and Miss Beryl Sawyer, 7—5, 6—2; Miss Pauline Bottische and Miss Kallmenger defeated Mrs. Lindley Z. Murray and Miss A. M. Doyle, 6—3, 6—1.

Second Round.—Mrs. William H. Pouch and Miss E. Hardy defeated Miss Dora Goodbody and Miss Jane Rowson, 6—4, 1—6, 6—4; Miss Seymour and Miss Lois Scharer defeated Miss Gertrude Della Torre and partner by default; Miss Alberta Webber and Miss Clare Cassell defeated Miss Leslie Hill and Miss Marjorie Pierson, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. C. N. Beard and Miss Marie Wagner defeated Miss Grace Frank and Miss Hazel Van Vleck, 6—0, 6—0; Miss Polly Sheldon and Miss Bessie Wright defeated Miss Eugenie Steiner and Miss Anita Blair, 4—6, 6—3, 6—3; Mrs. Robert Pope and Miss Smith defeated Miss Boynton and Mrs. Chase, 6—1, 6—1.

Women's Consolation Singles, First Round.—Miss Anita Blair defeated Miss Alita Hamilton, 6—2, 7—5; Miss Lois Scharer defeated Miss Mary Hamilton, 6—0, 6—0.

Capt. Emerson Wins Nevada Trophy

SEA GIRT, N. J., Sept. 16.—Capt. George H. Emerson of Ohio, with a total score of 148, won the Nevada Trophy match this afternoon; W. E. Reynolds of New York, unattached, was second, with 141, and Major William B. Martin, New Jersey, third, with 140. In the New Jersey State Rifle Association two-man team match, Capts. Eddy and Richard led with 192, and Major F. R. Wolf and Lieut. Robert Sears were second with 190.

Manhasset Cup Races Sept. 20-23.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—The races for the Manhasset Cup will be sailed Sept. 20, 22, and 23, it was decided to-day by the Chicago Yacht Club. They learned that the Eastern challenger, the Stranger, owned by R. F. Jencks of the Rhode Island Yacht Club, would arrive here Thursday.

A word from our practical philosopher:

Character applies to things as well as to persons—clothing for instance.

A friendly dealer in a distant city recently asked us to compare one of our garments with one of another maker's that seemed identical and cost less, but was intended to retail at the same price.

They did look alike to an unpracticed eye, but when ripped open and tested by actual tailoring standards one was found to have been sewed almost entirely by machine and pressed into shape, while the difference in price had been spent on the other in careful hand sewing that counts in the life and looks of a garment.

In other words it costs to produce character in clothing and the user should realize that whether he dresses both well and economically can best be determined after the clothes have been given an opportunity to prove their character.

Our clothing is required to make good to the end of a reasonable service or the wearer is expected to come back for satisfaction. And he gets it.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has approved the following:

Request of the President of Richmond for the certification of the list of coal passers from which to appoint one laborer at the rate of $900 a year for work at the crematory of the Bureau of Street Cleaning. It is said that the place has been offered to the regular laboring force, but no one could be obtained because of the excessive heat in which the work is done.

Request of the Deputy Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity for the transfer of Joseph J. Gorman from the grade of licensed fireman, Brooklyn, to laborer. There is a preferred list of persons suspended from the Park Department, Brooklyn.

Letter from the labor clerk saying that the eligible lists of bridge painter, dock builder, marine sounder, and ship carpenter will expire on Sept. 30 and recommending that a physical re-examination of the eligibles on these lists be held.

Letter from the labor clerk saying that the eligible lists of cable splicer and rigger will expire on Sept. 30, and it will be necessary to hold practical examinations in order to establish lists for these places. He recommends that John Schoene of 379 Herkimer Street, Brooklyn, be employed as expert examiner of cable splicers for a period of three days at the rate of $10 a day and that William Lanigan of 124 Payntar Avenue, Long Island City, be employed as an expert examiner of riggers for a period of three days at the rate of $10 a day.

Report of Mr. Ihlseng recommending that the request of the Fire Commissioner for the transfer of Morris M. Marx, a cable tester in the Bureau of Fire Alarm Telegraph, to Inspector be denied.

WHEN you purchase an article through a concern that has established a reputation for the quality of its merchandise, you do not hesitate to accept their statement as to its value. Why should you act differently in your investments? The principle is exactly the same. Assure yourself first as to the responsibility and integrity of your banker, and then be guided by his judgment and experience. FINANCIAL MARKETS

Advance and Reaction Leave General Level of Prices Little Changed.

After reacting further in the early trading yesterday, under much the same sort of selling as was responsible for the decline which occurred on Monday, the stock market resumed its advance with a considerable show of spirit. Prices did not hold however, as well as they had on other recent days when quotations rose. Although a few issues showed very substantial net gains, the general level of prices as measured by the average of fifty leading issues closed yesterday practically where they had the day before. On close examination in fact the market was less strong than it appeared to be from a casual survey of the stocks which attracted most attention in yesterday's operations. Amalgamated Copper among the industrials and Reading among the railroads were the stocks about which centered the forward movement in the early afternoon from which there was substantial reaction in the last hour.

It will not do at this season to ignore the effect which continued expansion in Stock Exchange operations would have upon the money market, but undoubtedly some offset to this influence is supplied in the present situation by the fact that we are moving closer and closer to the point at which we will be in a position to command a share of the London gold supply. Sterling exchange declined further yesterday, and a still further decline seemed not unlikely to bankers. Another half-cent recession would bring us to the level at which gold would probably be taken if any special need of it were felt here, and a little greater decline than that would probably make possible a free movement to the extent to which our demands could be filled from the weekly gold arrivals from South Africa. Of course, if there were competition for the gold from Germany or some other European market the decline in exchange rates would have to carry further before we could profitably obtain a share of it. But gold imports are distinctly within the range of probabilities, and very naturally this appears to the stock market as an anchor to leeward in case interest rates here should show a tendency to return to the figures from which they receded some weeks ago.

One of the most satisfactory phases of the betterment which has occurred in the securities markets is the improvement which has come about in the bond market, and there appears to be no abatement of that movement. So long as actual stringency in the money market this Fall seemed at all likely there were many would-be buyers of bonds who were holding off in the belief that under the stress of high money rates bonds would go even lower than the level, to which they fell early in the Summer. Many of these investors, including individuals as well as institutions are now buying in the belief that no money stringency likely to affect materially the price of bonds is now to be looked for.

While bankers are becoming increasingly confident that relatively comfortable conditions will be maintained in the money market, there are indications that among business men the country over many hold the belief that the passage of a currency bill is necessary if money troubles are to be avoided. It would be regrettable if this sentiment were effective in helping the passage of a currency bill containing any serious flaws. A new banking and currency law is much to be desired, but there is no such emergency as calls for hasty action if that haste is to be made at the expense of enacting a law faulty in any of its main features. There are no money needs present or in sight which can not be met out of the resources now available particularly in view of the availability of cash which the Treasury has promised to the banks and which is now being distributed, and in view of the possibility of gold imports.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2¾@3 per cent., with the last loan at 2¾ per cent. The renewal rate was 3 per cent.

Time money rates were 4¼@4¾ per cent. for sixty days, 4¾@5 per cent. for ninety days, 5@5¼ per cent. for four months, and 5 per cent. for five and six months.

Commercial paper was quoted at 5¾@6 per cent. for the best names.

Clearing House exchanges, $391,490,027; balances, $11,877,321; Sub-Treasury credit balance, $284,915.

The local banks have lost $1,163,000 on their Sub-Treasury operations since Friday.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 3⅝@3 11-16 per cent. for short bills, and 3¾@3 13-16 per cent. for three months' bills; Paris, 3⅝ per cent., and Berlin, 4½ per cent. Money was 4 per cent. in Berlin and 2¼@2½ per cent. in London.

The Berlin check rate on London was 20 marks 41½ pfennigs. The Paris check rate on London was 25f. 24½c.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows:

They are also secured by a first mortgage on the new double track belt line railway which furnishes the Lake Shore with two additional tracks on the main line through the City of Cleveland.

R. M. Grant & Co., New York, were the successful bidders for $150,000 Essex County, N. J., forty-year 4½ per cent. bonds issued for plank road improvement, dated Aug. 1, 1913, and in the denomination of $1,000 each, with interest payable semi-annually. According to the financial statement of the county the net bonded debt is less than 2 per cent. of the assessed valuation.

A dividend of 5 per cent. out of earnings of the past quarter was declared yesterday by the Directors of the Bankers' Trust Company.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Trade Secrets.

President Spreckels of the Federal Sugar Refining Company, in explaining the decision of his company to withdraw its stock from the New York Stock Exchange, said: "We do not care to make public and thus give to our competitors the benefit of the details of our manufacturing costs, purchases, sales, &c." The resolution adopted by the stockholders at their annual meeting recited that the "detailed reports" required by the rules of the New York Stock Exchange would divulge to the company's competitors more information concerning its business than was desirable. Some curiosity was expressed yesterday as to the extent of the detailed information which the rules of the Stock Exchange would require. Not many trade secrets are ordinarily revealed by the short form of income account, and manufacturing costs are not very clearly shown in a ten-line balance sheet.

The Federal Sugar Balance Sheet.

The balance sheet supplied by the Federal Sugar Refining Company in its application for admission of its stocks to quotation on the Stock Exchange was drawn up as of Feb. 26, 1910. This is what it showed:

ASSETS.

Plant, property, machinery, &c.	$10,600,420.61
Cash assets—
Sugar, raw, refined, and in process, including supplies, &c.	4,822,126.22
Book accounts and bills receivable	1,412,227.92
Cash	168,341.76

LIABILITIES.

Capital—
Preferred stock	$3,322,800
Common stock	6,677,200
Accounts and bills payable, including future payments for raw sugar to arrive		6,352,298.59
Surplus		651,386.92
Total		$17,003,685.51

It is understood that the Stock Exchange would have been satisfied with a balance sheet in this form for the past year in addition to a brief income account.

A Question.

First and last the Senate made 676 amendments to the Tariff bill as passed by the House. Wall Street is wondering how many changes the Senate will make in the Currency bill which is now near passage in the lower House.

Business in New England.

New England has not done so well this year as many other sections of the country. The First National Bank of Boston in its mid-September circular points out that New England clearings show a decline of more than eight points for the first eight months of the year, while the country as a whole, outside of New York City, shows a gain of a little more than 3 per cent. The country at large is very evidently not worrying about the change in the tariff, but some of New England's industries are giving more thought to the tariff than are most others. The bank thus summarizes the business situation: "In brief, it appears to be a fact generally that immediate needs are responsible for a good sized volume of small lot business, which in turn is gradually producing a better business sentiment. An actual improvement in business, however, such as should be accompanied by a disposition to anticipate needs freely, and stock up for the future, seems to be about as far off now as it has been at any time within recent months."

Western Pacific Improves.

Although the Western Pacific Railway Company was not able in the last fiscal year to get along without help from the Denver & Rio Grande, it made the best showing of its history in the way of earnings. Gross revenue increased more than 17 per cent. over the preceding year and economical management enabled the company to report an advance of nearly 72 per cent. in the amount saved after paying expenses. The balance available for interest on its first mortgage bonds, which is guaranteed by the Denver & Rio Grande, was $1,059,000, an advance of very nearly 90 per cent. above the record of 1912. As the year's interest aggregates $2,500,000, the Rio Grande was forced to make up the difference of $1,441,000, which it was in a position to do from its net income without drawing on its accumulated surplus.

Early Action on U. P. Funds.

The pleasurable suspense with which the stock trading element of Wall Street has in the past awaited expected developments in the way of melon cutting and other corporate activities likely to affect prices will probably not be enjoyed for any length of time over the Union Pacific's disposal of its funds from the Southern Pacific stock sale. A Director said yesterday that whatever action was to be taken would be taken soon, and, immediately after the Union Pacific board has decided what to do with the money the public will be fully informed. There was nothing in this statement from which the Street could obtain an inkling as to what the decision would be. The course of Union Pacific shares was in keeping with the general market, neither stronger when the list was strong nor heavier when the list sagged toward the close.

Low Record for New Haven.

The tone of the stock market in most of yesterday's dealings was decidedly strong, but not sufficiently strong to keep New Haven from reaching a new low record. The shares opened at 90 shortly after noon and receded on consecutive sales of 100 share lots to 89¼, the lowest price since 89½ was touched on Sept. 2. At about the time New Haven was reaching the depths Amalgamated Copper was being rapidly lifted to its best figure of the year, 80¼, a gain of nearly 19 points from the minimum quotation established for the year in June. Other issues to stand out prominently during the session were Pettibone-Mulliken, a stock seldom seen on the tape, with a 14-point rise; United States Express, with a gain of 4 points, and Central Railroad of New Jersey, up 7 points.

Copper Issues Display Steadiness, but Tobacco Shares Are Easy.

Copper issues on the Curb were steady yesterday in a fairly active trading. The remainder of the list was dull except toward the close, when profit-taking sales carried the tobacco stocks down slightly from the best prices of the day.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Sept. 17.—The Times in its City article this morning says:

"Rates for day-to-day loans and weekly fixtures were unaltered. There was no quotable change in discount quotations, but the tone of the market was hard. Foreign exchanges moved in favor of London. The sum of £275,000 left the Bank of England for Egypt; a larger amount is expected to be taken in the same quarter to-day.

"On the Stock Exchange pronounced weakness was apparent in home railway stocks, which was only natural, in view of the unsatisfactory news regarding the labor position. Rubber shares also had a further heavy decline, the fact that the price of the plantation product fell to the lowest level ever recorded having a very depressing effect.

"Business was on a distinctly smaller scale in Canadian and American railway securities, but those departments were nevertheless commendably steady. One of the brightest features of the day was the firmness of gilt-edged securities."

PARIS, Sept. 16.—Prices were easy on the Bourse to-day.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—Prices continued strong on the Boerse to-day.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

A resumption of the upward movement in the market was witnessed on the Consolidated Stock Exchange in the forenoon and early afternoon. For a time great strength was displayed, but stock in quantity was supplied on the advance, and the day ended with a general reaction. An incident of the Consolidated market was the recording of a low price of 89 for New Haven, which compared with a low of 89¼ touched on the New York Stock Exchange. The early advance was under the leadership of Reading, Amalgamated Copper, United States Steel, and Union Pacific. It was inaugurated with the opening of business at 9:30 o'clock, when general fractional gains were registered compared with Monday's closings. Pacific Mail sold at 22⅛, representing the only market for that stock in Wall Street during the day.

$3,000,000 Shoe Trust Suit Barred

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—A suit for $3,000,000 begun under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law by Charles A. Strout of Portland, Me., trustee for the Goddu Sons Metal Fastening Company, against the United Shoe Machinery Company, was dismissed by Judge Dodge in the United States District Court to-day on the ground that the action was barred by the Statute of Limitations. It was alleged the Shoe Machinery Corporation by purchase of the majority stock of the Goddu Company unlawfully restrained the trade of the latter concern by enforced disuse of its patents.

OUR GOLD OUTPUT DROPS.

Due to Nevada Slump—Production of Silver Shows a Gain.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Production of gold in the United States during 1912 amounted to $93,451,500, a decrease of $3,483,500 as compared with the previous year, and the lowest American production since 1907.

The output of silver was 63,766,800 fine ounces, valued at $39,197,500, an increase of 3,367,400 ounces over 1911, the greatest gain being in Utah.

These figures were made public to-day by the Mint Bureau and the Geological Survey. The gold decrease was caused because Nevada's output lost $4,521,200 as compared with 1911. George E. Roberts, Director of the Mint, said that, while the output of gold had decreased in the United States and Australia, there was sufficient increase in South Africa to make the world's production of gold for 1912 greater than in 1911. Statistics are not yet available on the world's production.

California led the States in gold production, putting out $20,008,000; Colorado came second with $18,741,200, and Alaska third with $17,198,600.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

The grain markets all closed with prices firm yesterday. Wheat scored a net advance of from ⅛ to ½, after being depressed in early trading. Corn rose in sharp fashion in the afternoon, gaining more than a cent a bushel from the bottom, and ending the day ½ to ⅝c a bushel higher than Monday's close. Oats improved with corn. Provisions were firm and cotton oil sagged.

WHEAT.

Up to midday the wheat market showed the effects of moderate commission house pressure and rather bearish news. Prices in that time declined about ⅝c under the previous night, but regained this in the afternoon and closed quite firm at ⅛ to ⅝c net advance. Owing to a comparatively light movement at Winter wheat points those markets were relatively firm for the soft grades. There was more rain in Winter wheat States, and the improved conditions for the new Winter wheat crop were emphasized by the weekly Government crop bulletin.

The export situation was again subject to a good deal of conflicting opinion, and particularly among local exporters the big figures recently put out by Chicago were not generally credited. An increase of 7,107,000 bushels was shown in Bradstreet's world's visible compared with an increase last year of 7,659,000 bushels.

All of the foreign markets were lower, Liverpool showing ⅜ to ½d net loss, Berlin ⅛ to ⅝c decline, Budapest ⅝c decline, and Antwerp a loss of 1¼c on La Plata. In the local market No. 2 red wheat was quoted at 96c, elevator, and 97½c, free on board, afloat; No. 1 Northern Duluth, 98¼c, free on board, afloat.

CORN.

On reports of further good rains over the belt, which will greatly aid the feeding situation, and on a decline of ⅜d to ½d at Liverpool, the corn market sold off ⅝c to ⅝c during the forenoon. Bull support was again in evidence at the decline, however, and later in the day, stimulated by the unfavorable weekly review by the Government Weather Bureau, there was a sharp advance, which carried prices up a cent a bushel and left them finally ½c to ⅝c net higher.

Sentiment appeared to be quite bullish in the afternoon, including strong advices from some of the prominent traders at Chicago. Export corn in the local market was quoted at 82¼c, free on board, afloat.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Heavy liquidation of October was again a feature of the oil market, induced by lower offerings of crude oil. There was also considerable stop loss selling in that position, but the late months were under less pressure and ruled quite steady during the day, with a fair trade. At the close near months were 2 to 12 points net lower and later positions 2 points higher to 3 lower.

COTTON.

The cotton market was not more than moderately active yesterday, and fluctuations were irregular enough to indicate rather a nervous and unsettled sentiment. The picking season is advancing, and the market is in the period of increasing available supplies, no matter whether the crop is a large or a small one. This accounts for much of the current hesitation; uncertainty regarding the outcome of Washington legislation is another restricting factor, and it is probable the recent tendency has been toward a reduction of speculative interest pending fresh crop news or Southern spot market developments. An early decline was more than recovered, but offerings again increased above 13 cents, and prices reacted 10 or 12 points from the best in the late trading, with the close steady, net 5 points lower to 1 point higher.

Cables were about as expected, but after opening steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 2 points the local market sold off to a net loss of 7 to 9 points under liquidation and scattering pressure. Prospects for clearing weather in the Southwest may have contributed to this decline, but the market soon firmed up on covering and bull support. The weekly report of the Weather Bureau was considered more bullish than otherwise, while there were further private reports of damage to open cotton from the recent Southern storm, and the market sold about 9 to 11 points net higher during the early afternoon.

The range of contract prices in the local market was as follows:

COFFEE.

Opened steady at an advance of 7 to 10 points in response to higher European cables, but turned easier and closed barely steady, net unchanged to 5 points lower. Sales reported, 71,250 bags.

Havre was 1⅛@1¾ francs early, and, while later cables showed reactions, prices there closed at a net advance of 1@1¼ francs. Hamburg was 1@1¼ pfennigs higher. Milreis prices in Brazil were unchanged on spot coffees at the close of Monday, while Santos futures were 50@100 reis higher. Fine weather was reported in all districts of Sao Paulo, with temperatures of from 50 to 91 degrees. Cost and freight offers from Brazil were 5 to 30 points higher.

Spot coffee steady; ⅛c higher on the basis of 9⅝c for Rio 7.

PROVISIONS.

The early market was a little easier under commission house selling, but improved in the afternoon with corn and on rather light receipts at the West. These amounted to 55,000 hogs, of which 11,000 were at Chicago, 7,000 at Kansas City, and 5,000 at Omaha. Chicago expected 26,000 hogs on Wednesday.

Authorized..........$20,000,000 Issued and Outstanding......$11,800,000
GUARANTY TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE
From a letter signed by W. C. Brown, President, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railway, copies of which are on file in our offices, we summarize as follows:
SECURITY
First mortgage on the new double-track belt line railway which furnishes the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern with two additional tracks to relieve the congestion on the main line through the City of Cleveland, Ohio. Cost of property to December 31, 1912, was $13,201,530.71.
GUARANTEE
Each bond is endorsed as follows:
"For value received, The Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railway Company hereby guarantees the payment of the principal and interest of the within bond, according to its tenor, to the legal holder thereof."
PROPERTY
Railway is 19.64 miles long and is of the heaviest and most modern type of construction. The line traverses an important industrial district not heretofore reached by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern and intersects every railroad entering the city. The road is operated by the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern under a 99-year lease, dated April 1, 1911.
Offering is made subject to all legal details in connection with the issue of these bonds being approved by counsel, Messrs. Spooner & Cotton.
Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

Wary About Pricing Dress Goods.

Rumors and reports concerning openings of dress goods for next Spring have been thicker than the proverbial hops in the Worth Street district for the last week or two. Inquiry among well-posted men in the market yesterday, however, revealed the fact that excepting in isolated cases on special lines none of the really big companies had named their prices. Practically all the mills have their Spring assortments ready, but it is said in most cases that no prices will be made on them until after the tariff is definitely settled. Several of the smaller mills, in endeavoring to "steal a march" on their larger competitors, have taken a chance on the tariff and made prices on the basis of free wool. These concerns, according to reports current in the trade, have made reductions in prices ranging from 5 to 17½ per cent. below Fall levels. Only a small business in sample pieces has been done by these concerns, the buyers appearing unwilling to commit themselves to any extent with the tariff in its present condition.

Vital Feature of Window Display.

Do elaborate window displays detract from the natural selling power of the merchandise shown in them? This question has been answered in the affirmative in one of the trade papers by a manufacturer of fixtures, apropos of the recent exhibition of one of the department stores. A prominent window dresser took the opposite side of the question yesterday. "What attracts attention to a window," he asked, "but the display set up in it? Doesn't it stand to reason that the more beautiful this display is made the more attention it will attract? American women are particularly interested in beautiful things. No window display, no matter how elaborate it may be made to get the shoppers looking at the goods, can after a moment or two prevent the feminine lookers-on from getting down to a study of details. Elaborate window trims surely attract more attention than mediocre displays, and their very beauty leads to results inside of the store that the average decoration cannot begin to produce."

Commerce Bureau's New Bulletin.

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce has just issued a series of consular reports dealing with the foreign markets for American railway supplies and equipment in fifty-four countries. The reports contain lists of railways, names and addresses of officials who purchase supplies, descriptions of repair shops, and rolling stock, methods of making purchases, the prospects for selling American products, and similar facts. The reports are published in bulletin form, and may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, care of the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., upon the payment of 25 cents.

Confirms Telegrams Accurately.

One of the larger New York Manufacturing concerns has introduced a method which insures immediate and accurate confirmation of telegraph messages sent to its customers and at the same time effects a considerable saving in time and labor. The stenographers now make two carbon copies of each telegram. The original is sent at once to the telegraph office. "Confirmation" is written on one copy, which is mailed immediately to the customer, and the second copy is retained in the company's files. The plan obviates the possibility of forgetting to confirm such messages and corrects any possible errors in transmitting the telegrams. It is said to be especially advantageous in avoiding mistakes where fractional prices are quoted.

Two Months' Silk Imports.

A decrease of more than a thousand bales from last year's total marked shipments of Japanese raw silk to this country in July and August. According to statistics of the Silk Association of America, 12,417 bales were brought over this year, against 13,653 a year ago. Receipts of European silks also showed a substantial decline, the comparative figures, in bales, being 517 and 941, respectively. Imports of Canton silk, however, nearly tripled this year, 1,803 bales having been brought over. China silks gained slightly more than 100 bales, while imports of tussah and doppioni silks together increased more than 1,200 bales.

Weather Helping Coal Trade.

In its review of conditions in the New York coal market, The Coal Trade Journal will say to-day:

"Cool weather during the last week has given a stimulus to the retail demand for anthracite that will be reflected in the wholesale demand before the month goes out. The trade had been looking forward to a few sharp nights to put some vim into the call for prepared sizes, for with forehanded consumers already taken care of, the situation has been waiting on the people who never buy coal until it is actually needed.

"The upward trend of soft coal prices, which was checked some three or four weeks ago, has not been resumed, but it can hardly be said that any serious weakness has developed. The highest grades are as firm as they have been and are being offered only in limited quantities. The situation with respect to the medium and poorer grades is easier. There is more tonnage available in the open market, but prices have declined only to the extent of five or ten cents."

DIVIDENDS.

INTERBORO-MET GETS LESS.

Falling Off in Income Despite Prosperity of Subsidiaries.

The Interborough-Metropolitan Company, whose earning are derived chiefly from ownership of stock in the Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company, reported yesterday that total receipts in the year ended on June 30 had amounted to $4,420,238, a decline from the previous year of $1,824,592. Interest and taxes required $3,640,724, leaving a net income of $888,514, a recession from 1912 of $1,336,793. Total surplus at the end of the year was $3,595,821.

The report showed that the earnings of the companies controlled by the Interborough-Metropolitan Company had improved, although the parent company had fallen behind.

"During the fiscal year just closed the operations of the principal subsidiary properties of the Interborough-Metropolitan Company, i. e., Interborough Rapid Transit Company and the New York Railways Company, have shown satisfactory progress," said President Shonts. "The surplus earnings of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company for the year ended June 30, 1913, aggregated 18.68 per cent. upon the capital stock of that company (of which your company owns 339,128 shares out of 350,000 shares outstanding) as against 16.07 per cent. for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1912.

"The net income of the New York Railways Company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913, after providing for the interest on the first real estate and refunding 4 per cent. bonds, was $1,811,647. After deducting from this sum the amount held in reserve (including that for depreciation in conformity with the requirements of the order of the Public Service Commission, now in litigation,) the remainder was equal to 3.886 per cent upon the $30,626,977 of adjustment bonds of that company outstanding."

At the annual meeting yesterday a resolution calling for the reduction in the number of Directors from 21 to 15 was unanimously adopted. J. A. Ritchie was elected a Director to fill a vacancy.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Regarding the Santos coffee crop Henry Nordlinger & Co. say: "The average percentage of receipts of Santos during the last five years up to Sept. 6, inclusive, was 30.17 per cent., and on this basis the present Santos crop would figure about 10,000,000 bags, without taking into consideration the early marketing of the present crop."

Jordan-Marsh Company, Boston, will today have seventy-five buyers in this market. This is believed to be the largest number of buyers from a single concern that has ever visited this city at one time.

Wheat exports from this port last week totaled 368,595 bushels, against 677,477 for the week before. Beef exports totaled 512 barrels and 394 tierces, against 185 and 175, respectively, during the previous week. Exports, exclusive of specie, from the Port of New York for the week ended Sept. 13 were valued at $15,393,386, against $14,866,148 last week and $16,643,824 for the corresponding week last year. The total valuation of the present year's exports to date is $632,698,295, against $582,827,072 for the corresponding period of 1912.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

In line with the prevailing designs in Fall dress fabrics, a local firm has brought out the "jungle" veil, a unique veiling novelty with irregularly shaped flat spots of sort color tones on a harmonizing ground. There are twelve color combinations in these veilings.

Every form of Fall neckwear seems able to join to itself a ruff idea, and many charming effects are the result of these additions to standard shapes and styles.

A new sport coat is shown in myrtle green blanket cloth, with a velvet collar to match. The coat is fastened with green metal buttons, and the buttonholes are bound with light-blue stitching. The edge of the coat is finished with stitching also.

DELAYING EXPRESS RATES.

Commissioner May Give Companies Time on New Schedule.

Walker D. Hines, attorney for the conference of express companies, will go to Washington to-day to apply to the Interstate Commerce Commission for an extension of time in which the companies may put into effect the reduction of rates recently ordered by the commission to be made by Oct. 12.

It is understood that a postponement of three months will be asked for. The companies have made it known that the physical labor of preparing the new schedules, involving thousands of rates could not possibly be performed within the allotted time.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, according to a dispatch received in the financial district yesterday, is aware of the request to be made, and is likely to allow the extension.

BEEF IMPORTS MOUNTING.

As Large in Last Three Months as in Entire Previous Year.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce announced to-day that the imports of foreign beef during June, July and August approximated three million pounds, mostly from Australia and Argentina. This nearly equals the amount brought in during the entire fiscal year ended with May 31 last.

The meat ranges in cost from seven to ten cents a pound in the country of origin. To this, of course, is added the transportation and other charges and the customs duty of one and one-half cents a pound.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—The Southwest disturbance has reached Southern Wisconsin with steadily decreasing intensity, but owing to the strong high pressure areas on either side the precipitation area has extended through the northern tiers of States, and during Thursday covered practically the entire country east of the Rocky Mountains except New England and the Middle Atlantic States.

Over this large area temperatures continue moderately low. West of the Rockies the weather was fair, with falling pressure and high temperatures, especially in California, and at San Francisco the temperature of 102 degrees was the highest ever recorded in that city.

Unsettled weather will continue Wednesday east of the mountains, with rains extending into the Atlantic States and probably continuing Thursday in the North Atlantic States.

There will also be local showers Wednesday in New Mexico and Western Texas, but elsewhere in the extreme West the weather will be fair Wednesday and Thursday, with somewhat lower temperature in the Coast States by Thursday.

Except in the Pacific States temperature changes will not be of great importance during the next two days.

Winds along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate southerly; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate southeast and south; South Atlantic Coast, moderate north and east.

FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND THURSDAY.

Eastern New York—Local rains Wednesday or Wednesday night and probably Thursday; warmer Wednesday, moderate south winds.

New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania—Unsettled and warmer Wednesday, probably rain; Thursday generally fair, moderate southeast and south winds.

New England—Rain Wednesday afternoon or night and probably warmer Wednesday, moderate south winds.

Western New York—Warmer Wednesday and Thursday; unsettled, moderate south and southeast winds.

	1912.	1913.		1912.	1913.
3 A. M.	72	55	4 P. M.	73	62
12 M.	72	63	11 P. M.	63	58

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 58; for the corresponding date last year it was 69; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 65.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 58; at 8 P. M. it was 58. Maximum temperature, 64 degrees at 1:40 P. M.; minimum, 52 degrees at 5:30 A. M. Humidity, 61 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 62 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.57 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.48 inches.

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

The export trade of Coburg, Germany, in porcelain and pottery as a whole did not improve over 1911, although some branches showed gains. The export trade to the United States seems to be declining, owing to American competition and import duty.

Manchester shippers to the South American ports give more cheerful reports of the demand for cotton goods for some of their principal markets. The stocks of goods bought at high prices are now somewhat depleted, and travelers have more confidence in offering season's goods at somewhat less prices.

One of the large automobile manufacturing companies in the Birmingham district has constructed, for use on the railroads over branch lines a gasoline coach not unlike in appearance the electric cars used on the interurban electric lines in the United States.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Ornamental Marbles Not Sculpture—Brown Fibre Duty Free.

The Board of United States General Appraisers decided yesterday that fonts, fountains, vases, table tops, and similar articles imported by Marshall Field & Co. were not sculptures under the Tariff act of 1909. Assessment was made by the Collectors at New York and Chicago, at 50 per cent. ad valorem under the provision for manufactures of marble. The importers asked a rate of 15 per cent. The board found the testimony for the protestants uncertain and speculative.

L. Blanc Walther and others won under the present law on sawed talc in pieces about 5 inches long, taxed by Collector Mitchel 1 cent a pound under Paragraph 13, as French chalk. Duty was claimed at 20 per cent. ad valorem on unenumerated manufactured articles.

Bass broom fibre imported by Thomas D. Dowling & Co. was declared duty free under Paragraph 630, as a crude vegetable substance not elsewhere provided for in the tariff. The Collector had returned the merchandise at 20 per cent. ad valorem as an unenumerated manufactured article.

EDUCATION NOTES.

It is unlikely that the Board of Education will take action at its meeting on Sept. 24 in the case of Mrs. Bridget C. Peixotto, former teacher, in charge of the Throgs Neck public school, whose dismissal from service was recommended some months ago by a majority of the Committee on Elementary Schools because she remained away from her duties in order to bear a child. The case was to have been acted upon by the Board of Education at its meeting on Sept. 10, but action was postponed owing to the absence of Abraham Stern, Chairman of the Committee on Elementary Schools. Mr. Stern sailed for Europe at the beginning of the Summer. It was then his intention to be in New York again on Sept. 15. It is now said that he will not be back until Sept. 30. He is to sail from Cherbourg on the George Washington of the North German Lloyd Line, which is due here on the date mentioned. It is probable therefore that Mrs. Peixotto's case will be adjourned again until the meeting of the Board of Education on Oct. 8.

The two physicians appointed by the Board of Education to examine mentally defective children in the public schools began their work on Monday. Miss Elizabeth E. Farrell, who is Inspector of Ungraded Classes, is planning for the reorganization of the classes.

District Supt. Albert Shiels, who is in charge of the evening schools, said yesterday that the registration in the evening high schools, which were reopened for the season on Monday, largely exceeds the registration of last season.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Investor Buys Twenty-four Lots in Elmhurst Section of Queens—West Side Apartment Rumor—Sale in Dyckman Tract—Business Lease in 52d Street.

The realty market furnished little of importance in Manhattan yesterday, but a revival of buying activity was shown in Queens in the sale of twenty-four lots in the Elmhurst district to one buyer, being the largest sale of property in that locality which has taken place in some time.

In Manhattan it was rumored that the new six-story apartment house at 419 and 421 West 119th Street, covering a plot of 50 feet front, between Morningside Drive and Amsterdam Avenue, had been sold. The building was recently erected by the Jacobs Construction Company, but the owners denied the sale.

The Queens transaction, which was made by the Queensboro Corporation, involved the sale to William H. Bilyeu of the entire block front on Polk Avenue, from Fifteenth to Sixteenth Street, comprising ten lots; six lots on Thirty-third Street, between Polk Avenue and Roosevelt Avenue, and eight lots on Twenty-fourth Street, between Roosevelt and Fairbanks Avenues. All of these lots are within the Barclay-Dugro tract in the Elmhurst section of the dual rapid transit zone of Queens Borough. The consideration was $50,000.

The main or central route of the dual subway system to Corona extends along Roosevelt Avenue, the entire length of the Queensboro Corporation's extensive holdings in that section.

Investor Buys Dyckman Flat.

Maria Clara Ott has purchased for investment the recently completed five-story triple flat at 17 Arder Street in the Dyckman section.

The building, which was erected and sold by the Hensle Construction Company through Arnold, Byrne & Baumann, is located 161 feet north of Nagle Avenue, on a lot 27 by 110 feet.

A Manhattan-Bronx Trade.

The six-story tenement 519 East Thirteenth Street, on a lot 25 by 100 feet, is reported to have been sold by the Van Hoesea estate to Mrs. M. Young. In exchange the buyer gives a five-story apartment house, occupying a plot 32 by 90 feet, on the southwest corner of 188th Street and Bathgate Avenue.

Recent Buyers.

Mrs. Mary Meade is the buyer of Historic Hall, a six-story apartment house at 928 and 930 St. Nicholas Avenue, sold recently by the Queen Mab Realty Company.

The Hotel Woodward took title yesterday to the property, 25.5 by 100 feet, on the southwest corner of Seventh Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, from Thomas D. Green. It is subject to a mortgage of $95,000, and an additional mortgage of $35,000 was given by the hotel company to Edward Wren of Springfield, Ohio.

Maurice Levy of Manhattan is the buyer of the Austin F. Greer mansion on Prospect Avenue, Larchmont, N. Y.

Brooklyn.

Wood, Harmon & Co. have sold at Hyde Park one lot on Clarendon Road, near East Fifty-second Street, to S. C. Ogden; one lot on Utica Avenue, near Foster Avenue, to W. S. Charles; one lot on East Fifty-fourth Street, near Clarendon Road, to E. W. Miller; one lot on Utica Avenue, near Foster Avenue, to Mrs. A. E. Stark; one lot on Clarendon Road, near East Fifty-third Street, to Henry D. Elliott; one lot on Utica Avenue, near Foster Avenue, to Ed. Kershner; two lots on Avenue D, near East Forty-sixth Street, to J. L. Patterson; one lot on Utica Avenue, near Foster Avenue, to Bolivar Stark; one lot on East Fifty-third Street, near Avenue D, to Mrs. M. E. Seeley; one lot on Avenue D, near East Forty-sixth Street, to Daniel Westfall; one lot on Kings Highway, near Avenue D, to J. H. Stuhr, and one lot on East Forty-sixth Street, near Avenue D, to E. M. Pettit.

The two-story and basement brick two-family dwelling 629 Fifty-third Street, on a plot 20 by 100 feet, has been sold for Rudolph Mittenberger by Tutine & Cerny to a client for occupancy.

Long Island.

At Somerville Park, Arverne, the Somerville Realty Company has sold to L. Saloma, 40 by 100 feet, northwest corner of Wavecrest and Bannister Avenues; for Annie Young to A. Cappiello house on Gaston Avenue, north of Morris Avenue; for S. Engelsberg to Samuel I. Ferguson house on Amstel Boulevard, west of Remington Avenue, and for H. Roniker house on Clarence Avenue to Isaac Mayril.

Buys 180-Acre Farm.

E. E. Slocum has sold through E. L. Peabody the Charles S. Phelps arm of 180 acres at Lakeville, Conn., to J. C. Howell. About fifty acres of this tract are owned by Yale University, and are under a 999 year lease, having over 800 years yet to run. The university receives a nominal rental of about 20 cents per acre per year, and the land is exempt from all town, county and State taxes. Even though costly buildings be erected on it, there would still be no taxes to pay. It is the intention of the buyer to sell about half of the land with the present buildings, and improve the balance next Spring for his own occupancy.

Another Business Invasion.

Douglas L. Elliman & Co. have leased for Mrs. J. Newton Perkins, 61 East Fifty-second Street, a three-story brick dwelling on a lot 18.10 by 100, to Miss M. Bannon, who will use the premises for a millinery business.

This is the second house leased for business in this heretofore strictly private house block, the first being the lease of the adjoining house, 59, for Mrs. Perkins, by the same brokers last Spring.

Commercial Leases.

The Kroywen Realty Company has leased to the Sixty-seventh Street Amusement Company for a term of three years, at an aggregate rental of $8,400, the concert hall in the Central Opera House, at 205 to 217 East Sixty-seventh Street.

J. B. English has leased the building at 167 West Forty-ninth Street to the Gas and Electric Sign Company, the building at 158 West Forty-sixth Street to Maxim Paquier, and for F. Brueck to Deborah Gilmann the store at 168 West Forty-eighth Street.

Dwellings Leased.

J. B. English has leased for Felix A. Donnelly to J. M. Laird the three-story dwelling at 269 West Fifty-second Street; for J. S. Kesseler, the three-story building at 238 West Forty-ninth Street to S. Garbi.

H. E. Zittel has rented to a Mr. Brown the three-story dwelling at 210 West 137th Street, and to a Mr. Little a similar house at 227 West 137th Street. This completes the renting of thirteen houses in that block since July 1.

H. C. Senior & Co. have leased for Mrs. Henry Hurlbut the four-story dwelling at 112 West Sixty-fourth Street to Mme. Du Poy for a term of years.

Real Estate Convention To-day.

The annual real estate convention of the Real Estate Association of the State of New York will be held in Rochester to-day and to-morrow. Among the speakers will be Allan Robinson, President of the Allied Real Estate Interests, who will talk on "The Real Estate Owner as a Citizen," and Joseph P. Day, the real estate auctioneer, whose subject will be "Real Estate as a Quick Asset."

Realty Notes.

Plans were filed yesterday for alterations to the Hotel San Remo, occupying the block front on Central Park West, between Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth Streets. The changes comprise the removal of the present dining-room and kitchen from the tenth floor to the ground floor, and the remodeling of the upper floor into apartments. The cost of the changes is estimated at $20,000.

Grant Campbell, formerly manager of the renting department of the Bush Terminal Company, has joined the staff of Ewing, Bacon & Henry.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

The Daily Consular and Trade Report notes the following foreign trade opportunities. Further information regarding them may be obtained by addressing the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, care of the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., giving the number of the item referred to:

11,654. AUTOMATIC PIANOS AND PLAYER PIANOS.—An American consular officer in a European country reports that an importer of and dealer in musical instruments with branch stores, and already representing an American firm, desires catalogues and quotations for automatic pianos and player pianos, particularly anything new in this line which would be of great interest. This firm desires correspondence only direct with the manufacturers. It would facilitate the placing of orders if terms of payment of from one to three months could be granted. This is said to be an old established firm, enjoying a good reputation.

11,655. GROCERIES, PROVISIONS, HARDWARE, GLASSWARE, NOVELTIES, &C.—A report from an American consular officer in South Africa states that a business man in his district who has been connected with a local firm for twenty-one years is about to engage in business on his own account as South African representative of English, American, and Continental manufacturing houses. He desires to be put in communication with any American house desirous of introducing its lines into South Africa. He is open to consider representation of the following classes of goods: Grocers' appliances, household hardware, china, glassware, silver and electroplated goods, fancy goods, and novelties. He furnishes references.

11,656. COPPER WIRE, TUBES, AND SHEETS.—A German distributor of metal wire, tubes, and sheets informs an American consular officer that he is desirous of forming connections with American manufacturers of copper wire, tubes, and copper sheets.

11,657. ENAMELED WARE, IRON SUNDRIES, CAMP EQUIPMENTS, &C.—A firm of army agents, contractors, and general merchants, with branch offices and stores in various parts of India, has written an American Consul that it would be glad to stock with American goods in such lines as enameled ware, hardware, iron sundries, tinned food products, cheap electroplated ware, camp furniture and equipment, &c., provided it could be informed through catalogues, price lists, &c., as to the possibility of advantageously introducing the same. Correspondence may be in English.

11,658. PILE BENT AND TIMBER DECKING WHARF.—The American consulate general at Ottawa, Canada, reports that the Department of Public Works has advertised for tenders, to be received until Oct. 7, for constructing a pile bent and timber decking wharf at Kaslo, District of Kootenai, British Columbia. Plans, specifications, and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

11,659. COTTON GOODS.—A firm in East Africa would like to hear from American cotton goods manufacturers with a view to forming permanent connections for the sale of their products in the territory in which it is located. One of the commercial agents of the Department of Commerce reports that the firm enjoys a splendid reputation and has ample facilities for introducing a good line of American cotton goods. The particular fabrics that are in demand are heavily finished prints 27 inches wide, cheap printed and woven colored handkerchiefs, sizes 28 by 28 inches to 34 by 34 inches; bleached shirtings, white drills, and gray goods weighing 5 yards to 3.5 yards per pound and 36 inches wide. Goods will be purchased outright for cash, if the prices are right, and this is a good opportunity for American manufacturers to get into a large market which they have hitherto not exploited. Correspondence may be in English.

Bankruptcy Sales

SALE BY TRUSTEES IN BANKRUPTCY.

United States District Court, Southern District of New York.—In the matter of Milliken Brothers, Inc., Bankrupt.—In Bankruptcy.—No. 17,751.

Pursuant to a decree made by the Honorable Stanley W. Dexter, Referee in Bankruptcy, dated September 5, 1913, the undersigned, Trustees in Bankruptcy of Milliken Brothers, Inc., by Charles Shongood, Auctioneer, will on October 10, 1913, commencing at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, sell at public sale, at the Court House of Richmond County, New York, in the Borough of Richmond, City of New York, in accordance with the provisions of said decree and the terms of sale, all of the properties of the bankrupt, wheresoever located, including real and personal property, choses in action, franchises, patents, contracts, good-will, and in general all assets of every kind, nature, and description, together with all property acquired by or in the possession of said Trustees on said date of sale and being the property of said bankrupt, except (a) cash on hand; (b) all accounts and bills receivable, and (c) completed contracts and payments due thereon and to become due.

For the terms and conditions of sale reference is made to the Decree of Sale and to the Terms of Sale, copies of which may be obtained after September 27, 1913, at the office of the Referee, No. 71 Broadway, or at the office of the Auctioneer, Charles Shongood, 533 Broadway, or at the office of the undersigned, Attorneys for the Trustees. The official report of Appraisers may be examined at the office of the Referee.

The following is a description of the real property to be sold:

All those certain lots, pieces, or parcels of land, together with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being at Mariner's Harbor, Howland's Hook, Staten Island, in the Third Ward of the Borough and County of Richmond, (formerly Town of Northfield,) City and State of New York, which taken together, in three separate parcels, are bounded and described as follows, viz.:

FIRST PARCEL.

ARKANSAS GUNNERS SET WORLD RECORD

Two 12-Inch Guns Hit Target Five Miles Away Six Times in Fifty-seven Seconds.

NEW COALING RECORD, TOO

Atlantic Fleet First Division Back from Southern Drill Grounds —Here Until Oct. 2.

The superdreadnought Arkansas, flagship of Rear Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow, commanding the First Division of the Atlantic Fleet, arrived at the Navy Yard yesterday afternoon with a new world's record in target practice to her credit. The new record, one of the most remarkable in the history of any navy, was made on Thursday, when the Arkansas and the other four superdreadnoughts of the First Division, as well as the fleet flagship Wyoming, were at divisional target practice on the Southern Drill Grounds off the Virginia Capes.

The Arkansas won her record with her No. 4 twelve-inch turret, both of the twelve-inch guns figuring in the splendid performance that lasted less than a minute. In that space of time—fifty-seven seconds, to be exact—each of the guns was fired three times at a target five miles away which was being towed at a speed of about five miles an hour. Each time the projectile went straight and true to the mark, making a world's record for twelve-inch turrets. The fifty-seven seconds also takes in the time necessary to unload and reload after each shot.

Lieut. J. Howard Ingram was the commander of the turret, and had under his command a firing crew of eighty-one men. The gun pointers were Chief Gunners D. J. Reilly, L. I. Ebbitt, Emil Tautot, and F. H. Hackett.

Trailing the Arkansas yesterday and arriving soon after she passed into the harbor were the Wyoming, flagship of Rear Admiral Charles J. Badger, Commander in Chief of the Atlantic fleet, and the superdreadnoughts Florida, Utah, North Dakota, and Delaware, the other ships of the first division. All will remain in New York until Oct. 2, when the division again sails for the Southern drill grounds, where it will engage in divisional target practice, one of the witnesses of which will be President Wilson. President Wilson, who will be on the Mayflower, will be accompanied by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Secretary of War Garrison, and Secretary of State Bryan.

After the practice none of the superdreadnoughts will return to New York until the Christmas holidays, when the first division will arrive here from its European cruise, which starts on Oct. 25 next from Hampton Roads. It may be of interest to note that the Arkansas was commissioned one year ago to-day, a fact which makes her remarkable target record even more remarkable.

Incidentally it was announced yesterday that the Arkansas also made a new world's record in coaling while away this time. The new record she made is 570 tons in one hour, and 2,400 tons in a forenoon.

ST. PAUL'S BIG REVENUE.

Western Railroad Makes Gain of Nearly $15,000,000 in the Year.

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 16.—The annual report of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad for the last fiscal year, made public here to-day by Secretary E. H. Adams, shows the gross revenue of the company, including the Puget Sound extension, was $94,000,000, a gain of nearly $15,000,000 for the year. The net revenue was $31,000,000, a gain of about $9,000,000.

After the payment of interest on the funded debt, the hire of equipment and rents there remained approximately $18,000,000 clear.

During the year the company added 199 locomotives and nearly 7,000 cars to its equipment. Fifty-nine locomotives and 1,367 cars went out of commission because of wrecks or small capacity.

The largest property investment for the year was the purchase of the Puget Sound extension for $176,000,000. Other improvements and expenditures were $12,000,000 for equipment, $5,000,000 for new branch lines and extensions, and $12,000,000 for double tracking.

About $2,000,000 is being spent in Chicago on elevation of tracks and $2,000,000 in Milwaukee, the latter to eliminate fourteen grade crossings. This work will extend over two years. The company on June 30 had 1,952 locomotives, 7 gas motor cars, 665 passenger cars, 217 sleeping cars, 28 parlor cars, 45 dining cars, and about 64,000 freight cars.

SMITH MAY INVOLVE OTHERS

Grand Jury Takes Up Case of the Wrecked Roseville Trust Co.

Chief Justice William S. Gummere in the Supreme Court Circuit in Newark yesterday charged the Grand Jury on the wrecking of the Roseville Trust Company and told the jurors they must not only consider the defalcations of Raymond E. Smith, the Secretary and Treasurer, but whether other officials or employes or Directors were criminally involved with him. In his charge the Chief Justice said in part:

"The findings of the State authorities tend to show that Smith was largely responsible—not solely responsible, perhaps, for to what extent he used the funds of the trust company for his own benefit is not at present known. Whether anybody besides himself—officials of the company, employes, or Directors—is criminally responsible with him for the wreck, has not as yet been disclosed.

"The investigation thus far made seems to have concerned the extent of the defalcation rather than the persons actually responsible for it, and I am not prepared to say anything at the present time as to the possible implication of others. It may be that before your term of service shall have expired I shall be called upon to give you further instructions in this matter.

"So far as Smith is concerned, the fact appears that he is guilty of embezzlement—and there may be various acts of embezzlement—and that he is guilty of forgery, alteration of books, and also of making false entries. Each one of these acts is recognized by the statutes as a criminal offense. If you find that he has done all of these things and has done any of them more than once, you will find as many indictments as in your judgment the law requires."

Smith spent most of yesterday and last night going over the muddled books of the trust company with Special Deputy Banking Commissioner L. R. Vredenburgh. The latter said that Smith had given much valuable information about the trust company's business. Smith, it was learned yesterday, was the largest stockholder in the company. Several months ago he purchased the holdings of Clinton F. McCord at $170 a share.

NEW YORK TOO QUIET ON CURRENCY BILL

TALBERT WRITES TO OWEN

Corrects a Report That He Had Refused to Appear Before the Senate Committee.

The feeling appears to be growing among New York bankers that they have not made great enough efforts in urging their opinions in regard to the Glass-Owen Currency bill. It is known that the Western correspondents of several important institutions of this city have expressed regret that New York bankers did not make themselves sufficiently prominent when the conference of bankers from many cities was held recently in Chicago. They have informed officers of banks here that they believe a serious mistake was made by the New York institutions in keeping too far in the background when the Glass bill was being discussed, and that for this reason the lawmakers at Washington had not received the completely rounded ideas of bankers in the leading financial centre of the country.

In this connection the attention of the financial district was directed yesterday to a dispatch from Washington, which quoted Senator Owen as saying that Joseph T. Talbert, Vice President of the National City Bank, had refused to appear before the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency to discuss the Currency bill. When Mr. Talbert was asked about this he denied it, and sent this telegram to Senator Owen:

New York, Sept. 16, 1913.

Hon. Robert L. Owen, Chairman Committee on Banking and Currency, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

A morning paper here prints a statement purporting to have been made by you officially to the effect that I have declined the committee's invitation to appear before it on pending currency legislation. I fear that my letter of Sept. 12 has been misconstrued, and that I did not make sufficiently clear my entire willingness to appear before the committee if my presence be desired. I would appreciate your reference to that letter and correction of the unfortunate and misleading impression which has been created.

JOSEPH T. TALBERT.

Mr. Talbert said that he had received a letter from J. W. Beller, Secretary of the Currency Committee, last Friday, when he returned from his vacation. The letter was dated Aug. 30 and announced that hearings on the Currency bill would begin on Sept. 2 and would be "continued from day to day during the balance of the week."

Mr. Talbert said that the wording of the letter led him to believe that the hearings would end with the week, and as the time had already passed for his appearance, as he supposed, he wrote as follows to Senator Owen:

New York, Sept. 12, 1913.

The Hon. Robert L. Owen, Chairman Committee on Banking and Currency, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

Dear Senator Owen: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a letter from Mr. Beller under date of Aug. 30 extending an invitation on behalf of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency to attend a hearing on the pending currency measure which began on Sept. 2. I regret to inform you that because of my absence from the bank on vacation your letter was received too late for me to attend the hearing. I thank you sincerely for the proffered courtesy.

The correspondence I have had with you sets forth very fully the views I hold in respect of the bill and of banking legislation in general. I could not hope in general discussion to do more than to elaborate the ideas and views already expressed, and this would appear to be an unnecessary waste of the committee's time. If, however, there are any questions that you or other members of the committee desire to ask, or if you would like to have additional light on any particular phases of the discussion we have had, I should be very happy to appear before the committee at any time my presence may be desired. Very respectfully yours,

JOSEPH T. TALBERT, Vice President.

Senator Owen was quoted as saying that of a list of men who had been asked to give their views to the committee Mr. Talbert was the only one who refused to appear.

MONEY BILL VOTE SOON.

Half the Measure Completed and Important Amendments Adopted.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—An important committee amendment to the Glass Banking and Currency bill was adopted by the House of Representatives this evening, after a brief debate. It provided, in effect, that national banks should not be limited in their rediscount operations to the amount of their capital stock. The amendment takes the limit off the amount of rediscount paper. Under the bill as amended the limit will be the amount of commercial paper accepted for rediscount. The changed clause reads:

No association shall at any time be indebted or in any way liable to an amount exceeding the amount of its capital stock at such time actually paid in and remaining undiminished by losses or otherwise, except on account of demands of the nature following: First, notes of circulation; second, moneys deposited with or collected by the association; third, bills of exchange or drafts drawn against money actually on deposit to the credit of the association or due thereto; fourth, liabilities to the stockholders of the association for dividends and reserve profits; fifth, liabilities incurred under the provision of Sections 2, 5, and 14 of the Federal reserve act.

At the end of to-day's session of the House the opinion was expressed by the leaders that the bill would come to a vote on Thursday.

The House also adopted a committee amendment to strike out the first paragraph of Section 14, and insert the following:

That any Federal reserve bank may receive from any member bank deposits of current funds in lawful money, national banknotes, Federal reserve notes or checks, and drafts upon solvent banks payable upon presentation, all solely for exchange purposes; may receive from other Federal reserve banks deposits of current funds, in lawful money, national banknotes or checks and drafts upon solvent banks payable upon presentation.

It was explained that the purpose of this amendment was merely to make clearer the phraseology.

Another committee amendment adopted this substitute for a somewhat similar paragraph in the bill under the caption "Rediscounts:"

The Federal Reserve Board to have the right to determine or define the character of paper thus eligible for discount, within the meaning of this act; nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit such notes and bills of exchange, secured by staple agricultural products or other goods, wares, or merchandise from being eligible for such discount; but such definition shall not include notes or bills issued or drawn for the purposes of carrying or trading in stocks, bonds, or other investment securities.

Representative Willis of Ohio, a Republican, asserted that the amendment was put in the bill "to permit gentlemen on the other side to crawl in under the tent." The amendment in its relations to the extension of the agricultural credits meant nothing, Mr. Willis said.

AIRBRAKE REPORT GOOD.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16.—The annual report of the Westinghouse Airbrake Company for the fiscal year ended July 31, 1913, shows for the parent company, collectively with the Westinghouse Traction Brake Company, the American Brake Company of St. Louis, and the National Brake and Electric Company of Milwaukee, a total net credit to profit and loss of $5,755,259.83. In addition to depreciation charges aggregating $309,518.65, the board has set up a reserve fund of $500,000 out of the earnings of the year to be known as "appropriated surplus to cover capital expenditures."

Balance July 31, 1912		$4,406,420
Less stock div. of 5% April 15, 1913	$922,700
Less stock issued to Pension Board	250,000	1,172,700
		$3,233,720
Net earnings all sources		$6,064,778
Less depreciation and patents purchased	$309,518
Less amount appropriated to cover capital expenditures	500,000	809,518
Net earnings from operations		$5,255,260
Less cash dividends paid		2,985,922
Balance July 31, 1913		$5,503,058

The outstanding capital stock of $18,323,266 was increased during the year to $19,625,966.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE; SIX ARE BADLY HURT

Host of Children on a Pleasure Spin Is Likely to Die.

STEERING GEAR BREAKS

Mishap Occurs on Torn-Up Roadway When Chauffeur Swerves Borrowed Car.

William King, a young chauffeur employed by an automobile company in Amsterdam Avenue, drove home early last evening in one of the company's little roadsters. When he drew up at 265 West 153d Street, where he lives, he found his wife and their little girl sitting on the doorsteps. He invited them to take a ride, and, because there was plenty of room in the back seat, three other little girls living in the same apartment house clambered in. All six were seriously injured when the machine overturned ten minutes later at Jerome and Shakespeare Avenues, in the Bronx. The surgeons at Lebanon Hospital last night held out little hope that King himself would live. These are the injured.

KING, WILLIAM, fractured skull and internal injuries.
KING, Mrs. MATILDA, fractured thigh and bruises.
KING, EDITH, 3 years old; broken arm and leg.
COLWELL, GRACE, 7 years old; possible fracture of the skull.
HUNT, ADELE, 18 years old; bruises.
HUNT, CLARA, 7 years old; fracture of the left leg.

The accident was witnesed by several men standing on the steps of the Mills Tavern. There is a bad turn in Jerome Avenue at that point, the lighting was imperfect, and the road was rough from uncompleted excavation work. Apparently King saw the stretch of torn-up pavement, and swerved to avoid it. In doing so he almost ran into a trolley pillar, and just as he was swerving again to avoid striking that something seemed to snap in his steering gear. The little auto turned turtle, tossing out Mrs. King and the four children, but leaving King in his seat. In capsizing, however, the car struck the curb with sufficient force to right it, and this time King himself was thrown out.

This all happened so swiftly that before the men on the tavern steps even had started across the street all six occupants of the auto lay unconscious on the ground. Dr. Schemasi and Dr. Epstein, coming from the Lebanon Hospital, knew that the condition of the man and woman was most critical, so the ambulance rushed them to the hospital, while another automobile was pressed into service to carry the injured children.
